

SEEKING CULPRIT

IN POLICE COURT

CITY HALL NEWS AUTO CARNIVAL

SESSION CLOSED

In the Murder and Kidnapping at Utica, N. Y.

Man in for Concealing Leased Property

Purchasing Agent is Being Criticized

Promoters Say it Was Great Success

Criminal Court Adjourned to Cambridge Today

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Aside from the death of Fred Infusino, the second victim of the unknown kidnapper and murderer, which occurred this morning, there were no new developments today. The police report that they have now no one under arrest or under suspicion, and a reward of $500 has been offered by the city for information that shall lead to the arrest of the murderer. Every clue is being followed to the end. It is regarded at the hospital that Fanny Infusino has somewhat recovered from the shock of her long night vigil, the pain from her wound and the operation which she underwent, and it is believed that later in the day it will be possible to secure from her a better description of the murderer than has yet been had. But the authorities place little hope on that for they are not of the belief that a girl of six can give such description as will aid them greatly in tracking the criminal. The physicians state that she has considerable fever, and that it may be necessary to postpone any questioning until later in the week.

Man in for Concealing Leased Property

Alek Deponnas, who has a very poor memory, was brought before the local police court this morning on a complaint charging him with concealing the property of Adolphe Lamontagne. It seems that Alek purchased the above mentioned articles on a lease and besides forgetting to make the weekly payments which he agreed to do he sold the articles. This morning the complainant and defendant met and arranged the matter to their mutual agreement and when the case was brought before the court the complainant stated to the court that he had been reimbursed and the case was dismissed.

Purchasing Agent is Being Criticized

The Lowell automobile carnival is over and it was certainly a grand success from a sporting standpoint and will undoubtedly prove to be a financial success. The bills against the Lowell automobile club are coming in rapidly, but the bookkeepers are of the opinion that after the books are balanced there will be a substantial balance on the right side of the books.

Promoters Say it Was Great Success

As a result of the small number of tickets sold prior to the race the question has been raised as to whether or not the girls who were selling the tickets in the Niagara Falls contest would be given their trip. Several stories, all of which were without foundation, have been circulated.

A representative of The Sun inquired into the matter this morning and William L. Robertson, president of the Robertson Co., who is one of the board of governors of the Lowell Automobile club, and who was one of the greatest hustlers for the success of the carnival, stated that the girls who were selling tickets and were entitled to the trip to Niagara would be sent there.

He said: "While the sale of tickets prior to the race was not so large as was anticipated the young ladies who entered the contest for the trip to Niagara, will either be given the trip or the money as arranged. In the course of a few days the winners of the contest will be announced and the young ladies who are entitled to the trip need have no fear as to the outcome. They can either have the trip or get the money."

Local Concern Should Have Been Given Fire Wagon Contract—Mayor's Secretary Has Gone West—Meeting of Appropriations Committee Postponed

Purchasing Agent Mackenzie is meeting with more or less criticism because of the fact that he gave an out-of-town concern the bid of a local concern was but a few dollars more. His critics maintain that the contract should have gone to the local concern. A man who talked about the matter at city hall this forenoon said: "I believe that the contract should have gone to the local concern. The difference in price wasn't much, and if the wagon had been made here the purchasing agent and fire chief would have been able to see to it that the proper material was used. That wagon will come here all painted up and how will anybody know that the proper steel and the proper wood have been used?"

Search for Health

The mayor's private secretary, Alfred M. Caddell, has resigned and has gone to Seattle. It was reported this forenoon that Winfred C. MacBryne would take up again the position of private secretary to the mayor, but that report was not given much credence at city hall.

Appropriations Committee

The meeting of the committee on appropriations has been postponed until one week from tonight. At that time the committee will hear from department heads who are looking for money for their needs for the year. A regular meeting of the council is scheduled for this evening.

SCULPTOR'S WIFE

To Become Wife of Will H. Lowe

PARIS, Sept. 14.—That artist Will H. Low is to marry the former wife of Frederick Macmonnies, the noted American sculptor, was confirmed yesterday by Mrs. Macmonnies herself. She said: "The announcement is true it premature," when seen at her quiet home on the Ile de la Cite in the Seine. "But no date for the wedding has been settled."

It seems the most natural thing to do, and it will be what the French call a marriage de raison. They are old friends. He was the godfather and Mrs. Low the godmother for my oldest girl, Berthe.

Six months ago Mrs. Low died. Since November last I have been living alone here with my children and with my mother, Mrs. Fairchild. Mr. Low and I have just back from Paris, and I did not see him for eight years, and a few days ago we decided to join our interests.

"We shall not be married before next summer or autumn out of respect for Mrs. Low, but just when the wedding is to be has not yet been decided. I have no definite plans. I love Paris, and Mr. Low cannot remain here; but things will arrange themselves in time."

Will H. Low was the professor in painting of Macmonnies at the National Academy, and has long been a dear friend of the family. It was at the Macmonnies home in Giverny that Macmonnies wrote his exquisite essay, "Summer in a Garden."

It was only in last April that it became known that Mrs. Macmonnies had obtained a divorce in France from her famous husband on the ground of desertion. The divorce had been granted eight months before that. The real trouble, it was said, was that Mrs. Macmonnies devoted too much time to her art to please her husband. But the divorce proceedings were conducted quietly and amicably. "A friendly separation by mutual agreement" was the way Mrs. Macmonnies characterized the result. "We remain the best of friends," he added.

Mrs. Macmonnies resumed her maiden name, Mary Fairchild, but was allowed to assume the responsibility of educating her two daughters, who are now 14 years old. She received $240 a month alimony from her husband, who is permitted to see the children at his pleasure.

After the divorce, Mrs. Macmonnies denied there was any jealousy on the part of her husband because of her success in painting. She said she had been most considerate during the "irretrievable proceedings" and that she still believed him the greatest American sculptor.

SEC. MEYER

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 14.—Secretary of the Navy George Von L. Meyer, who has been inspecting the Portsmouth navy yard with especial reference to the location of the new torpedo boat building, left today for Boston. He will visit the Charlestown navy yard later in the day.

NEW YORK STATE FAIR

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Greater New York today drew a big crowd to the state fair. The weather was perfect. Mrs. Kelly, who is the speaker of the day, he spoke for thirty minutes in pleasant and cheerful tones, and many many to live beyond their means.

The track is in perfect condition for the grand circuit races. The program for today includes the 2:15 race, 1:35 race and 2:00 race.

A PROHIBITION PICNIC

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—In accordance with the policy of the state the city fathers of Portland today held a picnic which was an absolute prohibition affair. The usual dinner game and sports were enjoyed on Long Island causeway.

RHEUMATISM

Don't suffer from Rheumatism. Write to box 18, Malden, Mass., for valuable information.

WE LIKE THE HARD JOBS.

Ever Examined. Glasses Furnished. Prescription Filled. Glasses Repaired. Best in Lowell.

Caswell Optical Co., 11 Bridge St.

FUNERALS

FAULKNER—The funeral of Mrs. Henry Faulkner took place yesterday from her home, 447 Adams street, with solemn funeral services at St. Jean Baptiste church. Rev. Frs. Barctio, Bernesche and Amyot, O. M. I., officiated. The bearers were John Racette, Henri Jacob, John Briere, V. Biopelle, Pierre Brassard and Henri Menard. The floral offerings were numerous. Including a cross, the husband and mother; basket, Miss Mamie Donnelly; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. John Racette; spray, friends; harp, employees of Dr. Sparker; spray, Adair Landry and Henry Keyes; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Ducharme; basket, friends and neighbors. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Bernesche officiated at the grave. Undertaker Albert had charge.

GAUTHIER—The funeral of Mrs. Anna Gauthier took place yesterday from her home, 18 Ward street, with solemn funeral services at St. Jean Baptiste church. The officiating clergyman were Rev. Frs. Graton, Magnan and Ouellette, O. M. I. The bearers were Octave Hardy, Eugene and Alexander Poulin, Alfred Matte, Arthur Gauthier, and Adolphe Desforges. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Rev. Fr. Bernesche, O. M. I., officiating at the grave. Undertaker Albert had charge.

DENAULT—The funeral of Miss Octavie Denault took place yesterday morning from her home, 51 Rock street, and was largely attended. Solemn religious services were held at St. Joseph's church. Rev. Frs. Lamotte, Baron and Brullard, O. M. I., officiating. At the offertory Mrs. Joseph A. Bernard sang "Pie Jesu," and at communion Miss Blanche Dextra sang "O Christe." The Third Order was represented by Misses Sophie Bourbeau, P. Marchessault, A. Pettigrew and Emma Graton. The Congregation de Notre Dame de Lourdes was represented by Misses C. Heroux, Laura Racicot, C. Belleville, M. L. Richard and C. Bruno. L'Association de Notre Dame de Bouscours was represented by Mrs. T. Deguire and Misses Ernestine Cluq Mars and Leonie Jodoin. The bearers were Molsse, Fred, Henri and Naraire Denault, Damase Allard and Alex. Graton. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, with Rev. Fr. Magnan, O. M. I., at the grave. Undertaker Archambault had charge.

SMITH—The funeral services of Mrs. Sarah E. Smith took place yesterday afternoon at 54 West Sixth street, Rev. J. T. Carbyn officiating. There was singing by Miss Mollie Johnson. The body will be sent to New Bedford for burial by Undertaker Young.

YAN TASSEL—The funeral of Miss Isabelle Inez Van Tassel took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, 132 Mt. Vernon street. Rev. A. St. John Chamber, rector of St. Anne's church, was the officiating clergyman. Burial was in the Edson cemetery, under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

RICHARDS—The funeral of Herbert J. Richards took place yesterday afternoon from his residence in Draught, and was largely attended. Rev. Frank G. Alger was the officiating clergyman. The bearers were Joseph Varum, Clarence Richardson, George Parker and Jesse Currier. The selections, "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee," were sung by Mrs. O. R. Parker. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, including: Pillow, inscribed "Husband" from wife; sprays, from the following: Mrs. Olie Jones, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Chaplain, G. B. Chaplain, Mrs. F. M. McNamara, Mrs. Foster, Miss Poff, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Currier and Mr. G. M. Parker. Burial was in the Oakland cemetery under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

BOYLE—The funeral of the late Mrs. Bridget Boyle took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from her home, 507 Fayette street. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock. Rev. John J. McHugh was celebrant. Rev. Timothy Callahan, deacon and Rev. Fr. Curtin, sub deacon.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson, sang the Gregorian mass. The soloists, being sustained by Miss Alice E. Murphy and Andrew McCarthy. Mr. Johnson presided at the organ.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were a large cross inscribed "Mother" from daughter; pillow inscribed "Good-Bye Mother," from sons; a large cross, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Crane; large wreath, Pitta Callahan; basket, Mrs. William Norris and family; standing wreath on base, F. J. Timmons; harp, Mrs. John Smith; broken column, Mr. and Mrs. William Banford; mound, H. E. Noyes family; standing wreath on base, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Walsh; large wreath, E. F. Simpson; plaque, Susan Thorpe; mound, Mr. and Mrs. Russell; broken lyre, Mr. and Mrs. McKenna; basket, Jessie L. Frost; wreath, A. M. Montferand; mound, John Owens and family; basket, Fred Beshaw; palms and lilies, Harry Harding family; palms and roses, John Hanson family; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellis; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McCrae; palms and lilies, Rostler Bros. The bearers were Charles T. John A. Frank A. and Joseph H. Boyle, sons of deceased and Eugene Crane and James Boyle. At the grave Rev. John McHugh read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

BOSTON COPPER MARKET

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Although trading in local copper was somewhat listless at the opening today prices ruled strong and at noon the entire market showed an advance.

STRICKEN FROM LIST

KIEL, Sept. 14.—Eight armored coast defense vessels were today stricken from the lists of the German navy as obsolete. They are the Kaiser, the Edin, the Hagen, the Hildebrand, the Helmuth, the Frithof, the Brodwalt and the Siegfried.

MEMBERS PLATE HANDICAP

WARWICK, England, Sept. 14.—The members plate handicap of 290 sovereigns for three years and up, distance five furlongs, was run here today and won by Cill Dara. Portrait was second and Prospector third. Among the 14 starters was J. B. Keene's Helmut II.

LOWELL WOMAN

Died at Danvers --- Her Relatives Wanted

The officials of the Danvers insane asylum have written the local police, asking for the whereabouts of Mrs. Annie O. Geivrey, who formerly resided in Middlesex street. Her sister, Catherine Laurent, died at the asylum this morning and the authorities want to locate her relatives in order to learn what disposition to make of the body.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. James F. King and Miss May C. Bowman, both of this city, were united in marriage last evening at 6 o'clock by Rev. R. A. Greene, D. D., at his home, 255 Stevens street.

ANGLIN-DELANEY

Mr. Jeremiah F. Anglin and Miss Martha Delaney were united in marriage last Wednesday afternoon at the parochial residence of St. Michael's church. Rev. Denis F. Murphy officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss May Delaney and Mr. Daniel Callahan was best man. The bride was attired in white silk and carried a bouquet. The bridegroom was attired in a dress of white. Mr. and Mrs. Anglin left on an extended wedding tour and on their return will live in Kenwood.

DEATHS

ROSS—Mrs. Robert C. Ross, formerly of this city, died on Sunday in Cotati, Cal., where she went with her husband some years ago.

DUSSEAU—Mrs. Louise Dusseau, aged 63 years, died last evening at St. John's hospital. The remains were removed to the home of the deceased, 2 Farnson's court, by Undertaker Joseph Albert.

HARVARD DEFEATED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—The University of Pennsylvania today won the intercollegiate tennis championship in doubles on the courts of the Merion Cricket club, defeating Harvard in the final round in three straight sets.

"You Don't Know,"

Writes a Mother,

"How grateful I am for the bottle of An-sen, baby's own medicine. I had been using syrups. I am sorry I did not know about An-sen before. I will never be without it again. It has done my baby a world of good. It has saved me many a dollar and has been a Godsend to me." This mother is Mrs.
M. H. Regan, 367 Union St., Manchester, N. H.

An-
sen is a safe and pleasant remedy for stomach, liver and bowels. 25c.

To the Careful Buyer

DOES QUALITY mean anything to you?

DOES PRICE mean anything to you?

DOES ASSORTMENT mean anything to you?

Are not these things the very things you are looking for?

Our reputation as the largest jewelry store in Lowell guarantees these advantages to you. We buy in large quantities, enabling us to secure the very best discounts, which, of course, are turned in your favor.

No matter what you may want in Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry, Cut Glass, Silverware, Novelties, Optical Goods and Materials, we are able to show you the best line at the lowest prices.

THE HOME OF QUALITY

Frank Ricard

636-638 MERRIMACK ST.

Small Cost
Great Pleasure

The electric toaster is very inexpensive in price and cost of current to operate—so dainty and attractive at the table, making the bread into crisp, brown slices of delicious toast. Let us send you one and you can try it yourself.

The Lowell
Electric Light
Corp.

50 Central St.

STANDARD OIL MAN

Outwitted Police and Summons
Could Not be Served

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The mysterious methods employed at the Standard Oil company, No. 25 Broadway, for evading process servers were utilized yesterday for perhaps the first time in a domestic dispute. Officer Kelly, of the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth station, attested the efficiency of the methods, as he not only failed to apprehend Frederick Henry Nichols, for whom he had a summons, but was invited to leave the offices of the concern by a man who said he was the superintendent.

Officer Kelly says the difficulties that beset his pathway were akin to those experienced by process servers some years ago when they lay in wait day after day for John D. Archibald and John D. Rockefeller at 5 p. m. Kelly telephoned No. 25 Broadway and learned that Nichols, who has been employed by the Standard Oil company for several years, was at his desk.
Accompanied by Mrs. Nichols, who charges her husband with abandonment, the officer went to Nichols' office.

"Why, yes, Mr. Nichols is in," said the superintendent. "But, I asked him for Nichols," she called out to the wife for Nichols. Nichols did not appear. Fifteen minutes passed, twenty-five minutes, thirty minutes, and still there was no Nichols.

"I am going to wait here until he comes," announced the officer. "But Nichols, Nichols did not appear. Fifteen minutes passed, twenty-five minutes, thirty minutes, and still there was no Nichols."

But the superintendent of the company decided otherwise. He invited Officer Kelly to withdraw.

Mrs. Nichols and the officer stationed themselves in front of the huge office building and waited. The hour of 6 o'clock passed, the office of the Standard Oil company was closed up, but Nichols did not come. He had vanished and left no trace behind.

The fighting blood of Officer Kelly was aroused. He had heard of the efficiency of Standard Oil officials, but scarcely expected it to apply to his employees. That fellow must be thoroughly kerosene," he said to Mrs. Nichols.
"I will find him if it takes all night."

Attorneys Greenthal & Greenthal of
No. 51 Chambers street, counsel for Mrs.
Nichols, were notified. They placed themselves in touch with John Berg, counsel for Nichols, and it was agreed that he shall appear Wednesday morning in the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street court to answer the complaint of Mrs. Nichols. But Nichols was not found.

Nichols has filed an action for divorce in Albany, N. Y. The name of Mrs.
Nichols is alleged to be connected with that of a "baron." It is said that it was to forestall the filing of a complaint in the divorce case that Mrs. Nichols charged her husband with abandonment.
The couple were married Sept. 18, 1902, and have a child, Lloyd, six years old.
Nichols is said to be one of the house managers of the Republican club in One Hundred and Seventeenth street, near Manhattan avenue. He lives at No.
27 Manhattan avenue.

PERSONALS

Miss Elizabeth Scannell, a popular member of the Berkeley club, is spending her vacation at Kennebunkport, Me.

Joseph E. Lambert, representing Lawrenceville branch V. W. Deans, representing St. And's branch, and J.
A. Gauthier, representing St. Louis branch, have gone to Montreal to attend the celebration of the patronal feast of the Artisans society, which is being held this week.

Mrs. Mary Ryan of Auburn street has returned home after spending the summer with relatives in La Crosse, Wis. and Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Jesse Coburn, superintendent of streets of Braintree, and Mr. Fred Pollard, the popular builder and contractor of Braintree, spent Saturday night and Sunday with friends in Salem, fishing off Baker's island. Salem fishermen had had a very enjoyable time. Mr. Pollard taking first prize by landing the largest fish, a cod, weighing 351 pounds.

CUT HIS THROAT

Head of the Union Trust Com pany a Suicide

company of this city, capitalized at $1,000,000, a director in other well known corporations, and prominent in social and public life. He and the south coast is a threat in the Grand Union hotel yesterday afternoon and was found dead stretched across a bed in an adjacent room. His health for some time and his suicide is attributed solely to a nervous breakdown.

search through the hotels of the city. Arriving at the Grand Union, at 42nd street and Park avenue, he found that Mr. Castles registered there under his own name at 4.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon and went immediately to the second floor where he was well known in Texas.

ROBERT LAWSON FLED FROM FI

...courtesies of the Interborough. . . . business, try The Sun 22/11

NEWS FROM SPORTING AND THEATRICAL CIRCLES

By TOMMY CLARKE.

Now that the important lawn tennis tournaments, east, west, north and south, have been decided the widders of the racket are focusing their eyes on the coming Davis cup ties to be held on the Germantown cricket grounds, Philadelphia, Sept. 11 and 15. The matches are for the purpose of seeing which players are better fitted to go to Australia in an endeavor to bring back the international challenge cup.

When it was first announced that England would send A. W. Gore, the present champion; M. J. Ritchie, former holder of the title, and J. C. Parke, Ireland's premier tennis crack, it was figured that the Americans would have their hands full trying to defeat the trio. But the recent change in the makeup of the team has caused considerable disappointment in this country, the two men who appeared to lend strength to the visiting delegation, Gore and Ritchie, having announced their inability to make the trip. Americans were anxious to see Gore on the courts, for he has been the title holder in Great Britain during the past two years and is considered the best player in Europe today.

As at present constituted, the Britishers are represented by James C. Parke, the Irish champion, who played in this country last year; W. C. Crowley, and C. P. Dixon. The latter two are unknown on this side and, according to their records this year in English tournaments, do not appear to be dangerous. Both have suffered several defeats.

PITCHER CY YOUNG 2d.

Young Cy Young, the star pitcher of the Minneapolis team of the American association this season, is to have another trial in fast company. Young was formerly a member of the Boston and Pittsburgh teams of the National league, but owing to lack of control he was sent to the minors. The change seems to have done him a world of good. Since the start this season he has twirled grand ball for Minneapolis. President Comiskey of the Chicago Americans has signed him to pitch for the White Sox next season.

Parke, the Irish champion, proved a disappointment in America last year. He was dashing and erratic, but since then he has sobered down a lot. His service in particular shows increased certainty, while his speed in the court has also to be reckoned with. Parke was so anxious to play in America again that he replied to his invitation by return of post. He wants his revenge on the men who beat him. He is one of the finest rapid footballers in the British Isles and has played for Ireland against England, Scotland and Wales.

As the team now lines up, the United States should experience no trouble in winning the elimination tourney, in spite of the fact that tennis this year is in a rather chaotic state as to the ranking players. It is likely that William J. Clothier and William Larned will play the Englishmen in the singles and that Hackett and Alexander will again take care of the doubles.

It is hardly likely, however, that if the Americans win any of them will go to Australia from present indications excepting possibly Clothier. Larned, Hackett and Alexander have all said they cannot make the long journey owing to business engagements. It means at least three months of the winter season. With any other representatives this country would stand but little chance against the Australians.

In the negotiations made with England this country agreed to send a strong combination to Australia before securing the elimination struggle. It behooves the Davis cup committee, therefore, to get busy on there may be a howl from the Englishmen in case we win against them and do not send the top players.

Football Schedules For 1909.

Schedules always furnish interesting reading for the fans. The dates bring up the pictures of the coming sport, and so it is interesting to look over the fixtures for the football season of 1909. The year will start the second week in September. Carlisle, as usual, will be one of the contesting elevens in the opening game of the year. The red men are down to play the East End Athletic club of Steepleton, Sept. 15. The first real college games will not be played until the following Saturday. The big universities do not start play until October.

This season Yale visits Harvard and Princeton plays at New Haven. Of course the army and navy will meet in Philadelphia in the final game of the year, Thanksgiving day. Cornell and Pennsylvania will clash on Franklin field. Michigan will also play in Philadelphia this season, and Chicago will visit the east and meet Cornell in Ithaca. Illinois is another western eleven that will play in the east. The game will take place in Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 20.

The schedule for the year is as follows:

Saturday, Sept. 18—Carlisle Indians versus East End A. C. of Steepleton at Carlisle.

Wednesday, Sept. 22—Carlisle Indians versus Lebanon Valley college at Carlisle, Pa.

Saturday, Sept. 25—Carlisle Indians versus Villanova at Carlisle; Syracuse versus Hamilton at Syracuse; Brown versus New Hampshire at Providence; Pennsylvania versus Gettysburg at Philadelphia; Minnesota versus Lawrence at Minneapolis.

Wednesday, Sept. 29—Yale versus Wesleyan at New Haven; Harvard versus Bates at Cambridge.

Saturday, Oct. 2—Carlisle Indians versus Bucknell at Carlisle; Yale versus Syracuse at New Haven; Penn versus Dickinson at Philadelphia; Princeton versus Stevens at Princeton; Harvard versus Boston at Cambridge; Dartmouth versus Vermont at Hanover; Minnesota versus Iowa at Minneapolis; Chicago versus Purdue at Chicago; Cornell versus Rensselaer Institute at Ithaca; West Point versus Tufts at West Point; Indiana versus De Pauw at Bloomington.

Wednesday, Oct. 6—Yale versus Holy Cross at New Haven; Princeton versus Villanova at Princeton; Annapolis versus St. John's at Annapolis.

Saturday, Oct. 9—Yale versus Springfield at New Haven; Harvard versus Williams at Cambridge; Princeton versus Fordham at Princeton; Penn versus

West Virginia at Philadelphia; State versus West Virginia at Philadelphia; Carlisle Indians versus Oglethorpe at Ithaca; West Point versus Trinity at West Point; Annapolis versus Rutgers at Annapolis; Syracuse versus Rochester at Syracuse; Brown versus Amherst at Providence; Dartmouth versus Bowdoin at Hanover; Chicago versus Illinois at Chicago; Minnesota versus Nebraska at Omaha; Michigan versus Ohio State at Ann Arbor.

Saturday, Oct. 16—Yale versus Colgate at New Haven; Harvard versus Brown at Cambridge; Princeton versus Lafayette at Princeton; Penn versus Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; Carlisle Indians versus Pittsburg at Pittsburg; Cornell versus Vermont at Ithaca; West Point versus Lehigh at West Point; Annapolis versus Niagara at Annapolis; Syracuse versus Niagara at Syracuse; Dartmouth versus Amherst at Amherst; Michigan versus Marquette at Milwaukee; St. Louis versus Washburn at St. Louis; Iowa versus Nebraska at Lincoln.

Wednesday, Oct. 27—Indiana versus Wisconsin at Madison; Swana versus Georgia Tech at Atlanta; Mississippi versus Alabama at Columbia.

Saturday, Oct. 30—Yale versus Amherst at New Haven; Harvard versus West Point at West Point; Princeton versus Annapolis at Annapolis; Penn versus Carlisle Indians at Philadelphia; Cornell versus Michigan at Ann Arbor; Brown versus Amherst at Providence; Dartmouth versus Holy Cross at Hanover.

West and South—Chicago versus Minnesota at Minneapolis; St. Louis versus Indiana at St. Louis; Iowa versus Missouri at Iowa City.

Saturday, Nov. 6—Yale versus Brown at New Haven; Harvard versus Cornell at Cambridge; Princeton versus Dartmouth at Princeton; Penn versus Lafayette at Philadelphia; Carlisle Indians versus Georgia Washington at Washington; West Point versus Springfield T. S. at West Point; Annapolis versus Washington and Jefferson at Annapolis; Syracuse versus Tufts at Syracuse; Pennsylvania State versus Bucknell at Lewisburg, Pa.; Chicago versus Northwestern at Chicago; Michigan versus Notre Dame at Ann Ar-

Reports are current in yachting circles abroad that King Alfonso of Spain is a possible challenger for the America's cup. This rumor apparently is based on the fact that the king, during the construction of his yacht Hispania, which was built in Spain from the designs by Fife, evinced curiosity regarding the conditions governing the contest for this trophy. Yachts belonging to Almeric Paget were very successful in many races abroad this season. The picture shows his yacht Ma'ona leading in the fifteen meter class for the Commodore International Challenge cup at Cowes.

"A Broken Idol" and Other Plays of the New Season

(From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.)

"A BROKEN IDOL," at the Herald Square theater, an immigrant into the metropolis from Chicago, is a fairly attractive production. The play, a musical comedy, is by Hal Stephens, Harry Williams and Egbert Van Alstyne. Several of the songs were well received, particularly one entitled "Love Makes the World Go Round." One Haslam, as Doc Whatt, shared with Alice Yorkie, as Marion Pugsley, the chief favor of the audience.

The scene of the play is California, the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica. The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

Everybody was well pleased when the first act representing the Chinatown of Los Angeles and the second act the home of Silas Pugsley in Santa Monica.

The plot is the familiar one of the Englishman with a bogus title who tries to marry the daughter of a wealthy American, and the characters are drawn with the exaggeration to be expected in musical comedy. The players seemed successful in making their hearers laugh.

stive musician by injecting into the score of "The Gay Hussars," a comic song, called "My Friend Lebel," which has proved the laughing song success of the season on Broadway.

A New Minstrel Show.

The Cohan & Hurler minstrels have opened the New York theater with a new and breezy production. George Evans, the "Honey Boy," appeared in a characteristic "black face" role and received hearty applause.

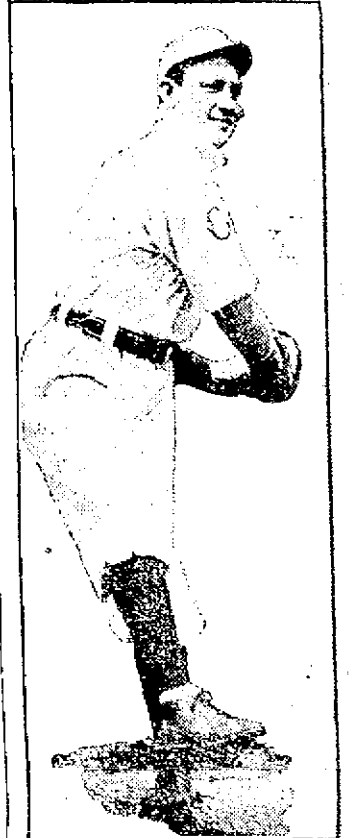

There was dancing without end in every conceivable degree of eccentricity. "Manila," a marching piece, which burned enough gunpowder to effect half a dozen revolutions in the

"The Hat My Father Wore," by Earl Bohman, and "The Wedding Bells," by John Comfort.

The performance closed with "The Firemen's Picnic," a George M. Cohan sketch, which provoked an immense amount of laughter at some immensely broad humor.

"Dollar Mark" Pleases.

A large audience witnessed and frequently applauded the first performance of George Broadhurst's play, "The Dollar Mark," at Wallack's theater very recently. The cast includes Robert Warwick, Cuyler Hastings, Clay Clement, Hassard Short, George Backus, Pauline Frederick, Selena Johnson, Diva Marolda and Brinsley

BILL CAMPBELL, ONE OF THE CINCINNATI NATIONALS' PROMISING YOUNG PITCHERS.

Clarke Griffith, manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, is under the impression that in another season Bill Campbell, one of the Reds' young twirlers, will class with the best in the country. Campbell has a good control and a splendid assortment of twisters.

loc; St. Louis versus Swanaes at St. Louis; Iowa versus Drake at Des Moines; Indiana versus Illinois at Champaign.

Saturday, Nov. 13—Yale versus Princeton at New Haven; Harvard versus Amherst at Amherst; Penn versus Michigan at Philadelphia; Carlisle Indians versus Gettysburg at Carlisle; Cornell versus Villanova at West Point; Annapolis versus Western Reserves at Annapolis; Syracuse versus Colgate at Syracuse; Brown versus Vermont at Providence.

Saturday, Nov. 20—Yale versus Harvard at Cambridge; Carlisle Indians versus Brown at Polo grounds, New York; Cornell versus Niagara at Ithaca; West Point versus Washington and Jefferson at West Point; Annapolis versus Davidson college at Annapolis; Syracuse versus Illinois at Syracuse.

West and South—Chicago versus Wisconsin at Chicago; Minnesota versus Michigan at Minneapolis; Iowa versus Kansas at Lawrence; Indiana versus Purdue at Bloomington.

Thursday, Nov. 25 (Thanksgiving day)—Pennsylvania versus Cornell at Philadelphia; Carlisle Indians versus St. Louis at St. Louis; Syracuse versus Fordham at Polo grounds, New York.

Saturday, Nov. 27—West Point versus Annapolis at Philadelphia; Pennsylvania State versus Pittsburg at Pittsburg baseball grounds.

CALLED GAME TO GET TOBACCO.

Umpire Cleary of the Kansas State league, who called the game at McPherson, Kan., recently in the eighteenth inning of a twenty-one inning game in order that he might send for some more chewing tobacco, is one of the most popular indicator handlers in the Sunflower State.

The McPherson incident is merely one of the numerous acts that have gone to convince the Kansas leaguers that Cleary is "cock of the walk" when it comes to the psychological moment of a game.

"No position is so trying," said Cleary recently, "as the duties of an umpire in a small league. Although I have never handled an indicator in what the sporting writers would term 'fast company,' I believe it would be dead end to the game I am up against down here."

NEEDS NO LEGISLATION.

"Legislate the spitball out?" asked Manager Fred Lake of the Boston Americans. "What's the use?" The spitballers are putting it out of business themselves. Where there were thirty spitball pitchers a year ago there are scarcely ten today. A lot of them bluff about it, but the real 'spitters' they throw are few and far between.

"Cy Morgan would be with us today if he had only consented to pass up the spitball. He refused, though, and became so wild that we finally traded him to Philadelphia. Now, I understand, he has professedly stopped using the spitball and depends upon his curve ball, and I want to tell you that no pitcher in the league has a better curve ball than Morgan. A few years from now few pitchers will bother with the spitball at all."

Frederick Triggles

THE LEADING PLAYERS IN "THE GAY HUSSARS."

does not perform as Sakana, she dresses the part to a large extent and sings some verses which supply what the dance lacks.

"The Gay Hussars," at the Knicker-bock theater, has settled down for a long run. The attractive songs and dances and the color ensemble give it a resemblance to "The Merry Widow," which its managers claim it equals. Bobby North, who has established himself as a comedian of the first rank by his portrayal of Sub-lieutenant Wallerstein, the barber soldier in "The Gay Hussars," has been blessed near east, included a sweet play dance to national airs, which found great favor in the eyes of the audience. There was a new woman with an irreproachable figure, Arthur Alexander by name, who made a great deal of fun by sweeping off her hat, and all to bow thanks to a curtain call. Joe Bogany, in a huge baker's suit of white duck, led a company of acrobats, who were well received.

Among the songs which met with especial favor were "Any Old Port in a Storm," an old fashioned song about the sea for a man with a big voice, which was sung by John F. Rogers;

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was 15,956

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

TO ELIMINATE SCHOOL FADS.

With the opening of the schools it may be well to remember that a great movement has set in for the elimination of fads and the waste of time on non essentials. Not all have a clear idea as to what constitutes a fad in school work. A teacher may make a fad of an important subject such as writing or arithmetic by devoting more time to it than it is worth at the sacrifice or neglect of equally important branches. But this is not the general understanding of "fad" in the school curriculum. Fads as usually understood comprise the less important branches that are put into the curriculum by the school board or superintendent and by which much time is wasted that should be given to more important branches.

The state board of education is now entrusted with the work of introducing industrial education, and although the change will be made slowly, the idea is to establish industrial schools wherever possible, so that eventually the boy who does not want to go to the high school can enter an industrial school for any period he pleases in order to master the fundamental principles of some trade. Hence it devolves upon school boards, school superintendents and the state board of education to cooperate in driving out the authorized fads in order to prepare the way for the new order of things in which boys who do not intend to go to college will not be imposed upon by taking a course that will fit them for college rather than for the work of every-day life. The course best adapted to the ordinary school is one that can be dropped with advantage at any time, not the course that must be finished to be of any real use to the student. We have had too many curriculums of this kind. They cause pupils to waste years upon branches that will never be of any practical use to them in the activities of life. Of course they have a certain cultural value, resulting from the mental development they produce, but beyond that they are valueless.

We are moving towards the elimination of fads, more thoroughness and more practical courses of study, courses calculated to aid the student in the work of making a living, rather than in preparing for a college course he may never be able to pursue. The needs of the boy who goes to college must be provided for as well as the needs of the boy who will not go to college.

THE POLE AND POLAR EXPLORATION.

Judging from the bitterness of the controversy between Peary and Dr. Cook on their rival claims in regard to the discovery of the North pole, it is quite probable that the claims of both will be discounted by scientists and that more authentic and complete data will be awaited.

It will be quite easy to reach the pole if, on the next expedition fitted out for Arctic exploration, the flying machine and wireless telegraphy are utilized. By these new agencies communication can be kept up with the base stations on land, and when a point is reached within a hundred or even two hundred miles of the pole, this distance can be covered in a few hours by the perfected flying machine, assuming that it will work as well in cold as in hot weather.

It is very plain, judging from the progress already made, that the world has little to gain by the complete exploration of the pole. There may be some difficulty in locating the precise northerly point by our instruments that measure latitude and longitude with so much accuracy in other parts of the earth. The polar star is not the celestial pole and, therefore, not quite vertical over the terrestrial pole, varying about one and a half degrees to one side. There is a telescopic star, however, of low magnitude that is so nearly vertical over the pole that for all practical purposes it may be taken as the celestial pole.

The exploration of the Arctic regions will open up new territory, will benefit neither commerce nor industry, while the scientific and geographical benefits to be derived therefrom are exceedingly trifling when compared with the magnificent result accruing to mankind from the discovery of America by Columbus and the work of subsequent explorers of the western hemisphere, or even the work of Stanley in Central Africa. Yet it is astonishing to find what a sacrifice of human life has resulted from futile attempts to reach the North pole.

Originally there was a double purpose in the efforts to discover the pole. One was to find the northwest passage, supposed to be the short cut to India. Only four years ago this was found by Amundsen, but as might be expected was so blocked by perpetual ice as to be useless.

Thirty-seven relief expeditions were sent out to find Sir John Franklin at an expense of about $5,000,000, but the Franklin expedition lost every life, 128 officers and men.

For half a century past nearly every year has had its polar expedition and nearly every single one paid its tribute of human life to the quest for the pole.

Yet for what purpose? It is true that a few whaling fields have been discovered and made available, while some mineral deposits that may prove of value have been found, but it would cost countless lives to develop mines in the extreme north.

What then is the incentive or the object of the polar research? It is man's unwillingness to stand idle in face of the unknown. Man is inspired with a spirit of adventure, with a desire to travel the unknown in land and sea and even to go farther and explore the planets and to establish communication with the inhabitants of the planet Mars.

In this light the victory will be a moral one more than one from which we may expect tangible material results. The farther man goes, the farther he wants to go. When the North pole shall have been fully explored or even before, then we may expect similar results in regard to the South pole, as this is the age when such movements may be expected to move quickly, on account of the new agencies of travel and communication placed at the command of those who need them.

SEEN AND HEARD

If you want to be popular, before giving advice when you are asked for it, always talk around and find out the kind of advice the applicant wants to get.

When the man who weighs three hundred pounds buys only a single share of stock in any corporation, he can count himself among the heavy stockholders.

A woman with young children seldom has much time to play wifely, because she is kept so constantly busy saying it.

If it were absolutely sure that there is gold at the south pole, no doubt that, too, would be its level right away.

Modern humorists have good reason to feel unpleasant toward Joe Miller. It was certainly contemptible of him to use all their jokes.

Not infrequently the widow who insists on having the widest border of black on her stationery is the one who gets married first.

The books on business etiquette don't say whether when the lightning calculator makes a mistake in simple addition it is proper for him to say "Thunder!"

It is better to be a comfort than a cleat at weddings, if it is necessary to be foolish. In the first place, it costs less, and in the second place it doesn't spoil the pudding.

Once in a while a fish is bold enough to declare at home that in his opinion baiting out fishes is just as good for practical use as the food article, and that considering the difference in cost he prefers placed out buttons to real ones, but if a woman looks at his family always looking at him in such a pitying way that he promptly changes the subject without trying to support his views by argument.

When a woman has a shoe that fits her she always thinks the number must be wrong.

Theoretically, a married man doesn't have any leisure. Practically, his wife doesn't have any.

When Dolly telephoned to Cholly that she must have an automobile ride, Cholly hung up the receiver and then went out to the nearest pawnbroker's and hung up his watch.

Some men feel that they have settled an account when they have given a six months' note for the amount.

At least one visitor to Tyngsboro fared very well last Monday. Labor day. He came to Tyngsboro in a big automobile and accompanied by five or six other men. Evidently the man in question or some of his companions had heard of "Dave" Kimball and his estimable wife and their hospitality. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kimball own and occupy a fine cottage at what is known as Kimball's corner. They have several acres of land and keep a great many hens. Their chicken dinners and chicken suppers are known for miles around and that is just what the visitor and when they had finished one of them discovered that he had lost his roll amounting to $2300. Between times Mrs. Kimball had taken a stroll out toward the barn where the automobile was temporarily parked and on the ground near the back door to the barn she found a little book containing a number of bills. She went back to the house and to her own room. There she counted the money and found that it amounted to $2300. When she made her appearance again in the dining-room the visitor was departing his loss. He felt very badly about it and allowed that some of the slick fingers of the city had grabbed it. After Mrs. Kimball had inquired as to the amount she told the visitor that he hadn't lost his money, at least not for keeps, and she handed it to him. He made her a present of $50 and went away feeling almost too good for utterance.

JUST DON'T.

Do you feel you'd like to quit? Don't. Get to feeling you don't fit? Don't. Do you want to quit? Don't. "Cause your world's little thin. And you think you'll never win? Don't.

There's a kick you want to make? Don't. There's a head you want to break? Don't.

Do you feel you want to whine like a genuine canine, And send blue streaks down the line? Well, don't.

When you see a chance to duck, don't. When you want to chuck your buck, don't.

Keep right on without a stop. And you'll sure show up on top. If when you want to flop, You don't.

RATS

The New York Sun has the following able discussion of "rats": It quibbles the pulse to see the dear, familiar name of Clinton Hart Merriam, chief of the biological survey and our singular good friend. For

50 Pieces For 75c

In response to inquiries about our new department—flannels, stockings, handkerchiefs, towels, bed and table linen are listed in first class shape; but skirts, wrappers, night gowns, drawers, chemises and such articles are only roughly treated. The rate is very low and the results are very satisfactory. Telephone 2168, or 678.

Lowell Laundry

McNabb Brothers, 130 Cambridge St., 107 Church St. We also do family wet washing 50c per basket.

Fresh Clams Every Day

At the Lowell Inn. Fresh fish direct from the Boston wharves. Lobsters fresh from the traps. Meats fresh from the country. Call and see us. LOWELL INN, busiest place in Central street.

AUTOMOBILE BATTERIES

Storage batteries of all kinds or recharged. Dry Cells. Ignition Supplies. DERBY & MORSE, Middle St. Tel. 408.

Furniture Moving

You may be thinking about moving. If so, just call or telephone to the lowest and reliable WILLIAM H. HOBBS, at 10 Prescott St. All orders promptly attended to and handled with the greatest care. This is the cheapest and there are no more than 100¢ per piece. Our specialty is piano moving.

many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geonysias. With the loyal help of the Sun he has allied the world with the fame of the "Pocket Gopher," and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Uppsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 309, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gophers, Shrews and other lovers of science, literature and "cat."

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "nearly exterminated" its little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous" and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and eat up man in general, just as the mice devoured that monopolistic wicked bishop whose tower and end still instigate the traveler at Kingston. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

$2300 BAIL BOND

Forfeited by Son of Ex-Mayor Martin

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Everett F. Martin, 45, of 16 Trumbull street, Roxbury, son of the ex-mayor and police commissioner, who was to face the courts yesterday on two continued charges of larceny, defaulted, and has left for parts unknown, forfeiting bail bonds aggregating $2300.

Martin was arrested on Aug. 25 by Inspectors Conboy and Pierce on the charge of the larceny on August 7 from Edward R. Clark of 72 Lincoln street of an automobile valued at $8.50. He was taken into court and admitted to $1500 bail on a continuance to yesterday.

On Sept. 10 Inspectors Conboy, Pierce and Robinson arrested Martin on the charge of the larceny on Aug. 23 of $500 from George F. Newhall of 220 Milk street by means of an automobile deal. Frederick W. Rodgers, who claims to be an automobile dealer, was arrested at the same time. Martin was again taken into court, and when the judge learned that there was already one continued case he allowed Martin to again be admitted to bail in the sum of $300 for appearance yesterday.

Since then the police allege they have had another charge lodged against the man, and it is stated that several others may suddenly show up. Yesterday when Martin's name was called in the court he failed to show up, and after waiting a reasonable time the court informed the police of the default.

According to the police, Martin has a record and has been arrested several times on a charge of obtaining money by fraudulent means. A search will be made for the missing man, and if he is located within a reasonable time Deputy Watts will send circulars over the country calling for his arrest. Martin claims to be a booker.

JAPANESE PRINCE ARRIVES

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 11.—Prince and Princess Kuniyoshi of Japan with their suite arrived from Boston last evening to be the guests of Colonel Robert M. Thompson on board his house boat the Everglades.

Allan Line Royal Mail Steamers

Only Direct Service between Boston and Glasgow, Liverpool, London, and North of Ireland.

Only Direct Service from Glasgow. Splendid accommodations and food. Latest improvements for comfort and safety.

Second cabin, Glasgow, Derry or Galway 110; third class, $26.50, to Glasgow, Derry, Belfast and Liverpool. Prepaid steamer tickets, 12.50. Extra rooms reserved for married couples. Children 12 to 12 years, half fare.

DENIS MURPHY, 18 APPLETON ST. OR H. & A. ALLEN, 110 State St., Boston

Take a Course

And Then You Can

Take a Position

MONDAY IS OPENING DAY

and Tuesday is Opening Night

for a large number who have registered for the Fall Term.

Have You Registered?

Lowell Commercial College

7 Merrimack Sq.

JAMES E. O'DONNELL

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW

Hilth Building, Lowell, Mass.

ST. THOMAS' SALVE

—FOR—

Piles, Old Sores and Skin Diseases

—FOR SALE—

At All Up-to-Date Drug Stores

THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

JOHN J. O'CONNELL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Telephone Connection

1010 Central St. Davis Sq.

My-But It Looks Good

baked in a

Glenwood

"Makes Cooking Easy"

M. F. Gookin Company,
35 Market St., Lowell.

SEC. REYNOLDS DARING BURGLAR

May Not Accept the Tariff Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Friends in Washington of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Reynolds are urging him not to accept the appointment of President Taft to the new tariff board.

The appointment, it is said, is not entirely satisfactory to Mr. Reynolds, and it is thought at the treasury department that he may decline the place. If he accepts, it will be because he feels himself under obligation to serve the president in this capacity. Secretary Reynolds is now in New York. At a late hour yesterday afternoon he had not accepted the position, and was doubtful what his course would be.

Secretary Reynolds' friends are inclined to resent the fact that he was not named for the chairmanship of the tariff board. They say that the place would mean much hard work and very little recognition for him, while the uncertain character of the job is given as another objection to it.

Although the salary of the tariff board members is not high, Mr. Reynolds could not have had less than $7500 annually in the probable salary which would be received. Secretary Reynolds now receives as assistant secretary of the treasury $5000 a year, and his present position gives him greater official rank than would membership on the tariff board. Congress is jealous of tariff commissioners, and Mr. Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be completely abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not inclined to have a collection recently at a dinner party, but that which he now receives. He is said to have declined the position, preferring to remain in Washington as the ranking assistant secretary of the treasury department.

Mr. Reynolds has the reputation of the customs dividing and in the opinion of the recognized customs experts of the country.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Woman Accuses Doctor of Drinking

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—A. M. that day of Boston, New York and Chicago will be interested on learning that a woman living in this city has filed a bill for divorce against her husband, Dr. Henry D. Fanning, a former well known practitioner in this city and now for a year and a half connected with the staff of surgeons at Bellevue hospital, New York. She charges confirmed habits of intemperance.

The bill was filed in June, 1908, and the case is expected to be reached in the fall term.

Until recently Mrs. Fanning has been living in a small flat in the city, but has since moved to a more comfortable place. She has been distinguished by the inspectors of the city, that it would be best to send the unstamped one to South Lowell for the rendering works.

Having disposed of the pig, the board then turned its attention to the man who sold it, Mr. DeMunnich, and he was turned over to Agent Bates on the question of prosecution.

John J. Higgins was given leave to withdraw on his position to maintain a certain number of the payment of a fine, N. Y. Write for book.

Dr. Fanning is a well known physician from Harvard and is a graduate of the law in Chicago. He is a member of the college in Chicago, and he is a member of the law in Boston, and he is a member of the law in New York.

Two years ago the Fanning family moved to Boston and for a while the Fanning family lived in a small flat in the city, but has since moved to a more comfortable place. She has been distinguished by the inspectors of the city, that it would be best to send the unstamped one to South Lowell for the rendering works.

When you want DESIGN WORK or nice fresh flowers, also plants of all kinds, try The Sun's "Want" column. We grow our own stock. Visit our greenhouse and nursery and become convinced. McManis, 300 E. Prescott street.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun's "Want" column.

Threatened to Shoot Police Officers in Newton

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—With a revolver in each hand, James W. Cunningham, 17 years old, of 188 River street, Waltham, defied the Newton police to arrest him yesterday afternoon, when he was caught in the home of the late W. M. Bush, Temple street, West Newton, where a large amount of valuables and silverware had been packed up ready to be taken from the house.

Inspector Martin Neagle and Chief of Police Mitchell of the Newton force rushed at the young man from different directions, followed by two other officers. The young fellow decided not to shoot and submitted to arrest. He was locked up, and the police say he confessed to two other robberies in Newton within a week.

Mr. Bush died last week, and all of the members of his family are away. Officer Neagle was passing the house when he heard an unusual racket inside. It sounded as if some one was opening and shutting bureau drawers hurriedly. Knowing that the family was away, he telephoned Chief Mitchell, who arrived at the scene shortly afterward with two other officers. They entered the house through a side window and they found the dining room in confusion. On the table was a lot of valuable silverware and small things ready to be hurried out of the house. The police rushed to the second floor and in the bedroom found everything in disorder.

Chief Mitchell and Officer Neagle rushed into the room at the same time. Cunningham had the revolver leveled directly at them as they entered, but did not shoot. The revolver was found to be loaded, and around the young man's waist was a cartridge belt filled with ammunition.

Cunningham first gave his name as Benson and said he came from Albany, N. Y. He was recognized at the station house by an officer and later admitted his identity and confessed, as the police say, that he entered two houses in Auburndale last week, the home of W. K. Kirk, Corey, 1530 Commonwealth avenue, and Harry Green, 2292 Commonwealth avenue. At the Corey home he secured $55 in cash, and at the Greenleaf home he took $11 in cash.

Cunningham admitted to the police that he entered the Bush home at 10 o'clock and had been ransacking the house for valuables up to the time of his capture at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

DRACUT FARMER

Sold Pig Not Stamped According to Law

Octave DeMunnich of Dracut was before the board of health yesterday afternoon to explain why it was that he sold a pig to a Lowell dealer without the pig being passed upon by the local inspector. The Lowell inspectors found the pig in a Lowell street market and found it not stamped according to law.

Mr. DeMunnich admitted that he knew the law and that he should have had the pig passed upon by the Dracut inspector before selling it, but he said that the stamp of the inspector didn't make the pork any better.

The board took the matter under consideration and decided that in order not to get the pig mixed up with other members of the porking family that have been distinguished by the inspectors of the city, that it would be best to send the unstamped one to South Lowell for the rendering works.

Having disposed of the pig, the board then turned its attention to the man who sold it, Mr. DeMunnich, and he was turned over to Agent Bates on the question of prosecution.

John J. Higgins was given leave to withdraw on his position to maintain a certain number of the payment of a fine, N. Y. Write for book.

HORNE COAL CO.

THE FINEST SELECTION OF COAL

THEY HAVE HAD FOR SEVERAL YEARS. PRICES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

TEMPORARY QUARTERS

Nelson's 5c and 10c Store

Near Elevator

TRAINS TO AND FROM BOSTON

SOUTHERN DIV.		WESTERN DIV.
To Boston.	From Boston.	To Boston.	From Boston.
Low. Arr. 5:40	Low. Arr. 5:40	Low. Arr. 5:40	Low. Arr. 5:40
5:45	5:45	5:45	5:45
5:50	5:50	5:50	5:50
5:55	5:55	5:55	5:55
6:00	6:00	6:00	6:00
6:05	6:05	6:05	6:05
6:10	6:10	6:10	6:10
6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15
6:20	6:20	6:20	6:20
6:25	6:25	6:25	6:25
6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30
6:35	6:35	6:35	6:35
6:40	6:40	6:40	6:40
6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45
6:50	6:50	6:50	6:50
6:55	6:55	6:55	6:55
7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00
7:05	7:05	7:05	7:05
7:10	7:10	7:10	7:10
7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15
7:20	7:20	7:20	7:20
7:25	7:25	7:25	7:25
7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30
7:35	7:35	7:35	7:35
7:40	7:40	7:40	7:40
7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45
7:50	7:50	7:50	7:50
7:55	7:55	7:55	7:55
8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00
8:05	8:05	8:05	8:05
8:10	8:10	8:10	8:10
8:15	8:15	8:15	8:15
8:20	8:20	8:20	8:20
8:25	8:25	8:25	8:25
8:30	8:30	8:30	8:30
8:35	8:35	8:35	8:35
8:40	8:40	8:40	8:40
8:45	8:45	8:45	8:45
8:50	8:50	8:50	8:50
8:55	8:55	8:55	8:55
9:00	9:00	9:00	9:00

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

At the Opera House last night the ever popular Daniel Sullivan presented the comedy drama "The Matchmaker," to a fair sized audience. After the evening and the vacation amusements of last week the people had not recovered their normal state of mind to turn out to any show in large numbers. Sullivan appeared in his favorite role of a Catholic priest and his acting in that capacity could not well be improved upon. He was called upon to straighten out love affairs, to quell disturbances, to help the needy and restrain the wrongdoers, and in each particular case he displayed a benevolent spirit and an unobtrusive humor that was highly enjoyed by the audience. The supporting company is very good, but "Father Daily" is the principal part of the show, the tangles, misunderstandings, the loves and hates which he has to unravel, explain and harmonize are all framed to give the star an opportunity to display his talent. Towards the close of the play when "Father Daily," after a lot of strenuous work, had succeeded in making everybody good and everybody happy he remarked that next day was Sunday and he had still to find a text for his sermon. He had written it down but stuck it into some pocket and lost it. After some mental rumination on what he had accomplished in unting so many couples he struck upon the text—it was "Love one another," with which the curtain went down.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

In the lives of the saddest of us there are bright moments when we feel as if we could take the great world in our arms, and if you would experience such a moment go to Hathaway's. The bill this week is a sure cure for the blues. Every feature of the bill is good, and "School Boys and Girls" and "Nick Carter" are the two big features. "School Boys and Girls" is the funniest skit ever. Of course, the scene is a school room, and in that school room there are some of the worst "cut ups" that ever swallowed a lozenge. Gertrude Moulton is the monitor, and she is sure a little schoolmarm as ever wore a hood. The poor little woman has a variety of dispositions, to deal with. It is what might well be called a rollicking act, and something that makes one feel good all over. It includes good dancing and singing, and a little girl playing a game of "cat" with the audience. Lillian Gohn is the comedienne of the group, and she is particularly cute, especially in overalls. The boys and the girls and the characters which they represent are: "Maggie," "Daisy," "Mary," "Smith," "Freshy Bittinsky," "May Collins," "Jassey Little," Lillian Gohn, "Patrick Levy," "Abe Frank," "Tony Marquetti," "Frank Alvin," "Scottie Dugan," "Hank," "The Gordon brothers," and the monitor, Gertrude Moulton.

The musical numbers are: "Schoolmates," Carolyn Waide, "My Cousin Carlos," Frank Alvin; "Next to You I Love Me Maggie," Miss Gohn; "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," the Gordon brothers; "Come On, Play Ball With Me, Dearie," Miss Moulton, and "The Paper Hat Brigade," Miss Waide. "Tom Barry," the "Nick Carter," are responsible for a great deal of rich entertainment, in which a newsboy, whose hero is Nick Carter, cuts a wide swath. The characters in the travesty are: Nick Carter, a hero, Allen Reese, Jack Coward, a villain, "Thos. Faber," a villain, "Margaret Dow," a villain, "Mickey Flynn," a messenger boy. Mr. Barry.

The whole thing is a dream of Mickey Flynn's. Mickey has been sent out with a message to a place called Hell-and-gone, and it is certainly a lonesome place. Mickey waiting for a car, planks himself on a hydrant at a street corner, dives down into the depths of his big pocket and pulls out—not a gun—worse than that, a dime novel, telling all about Nick Carter, the boy detective. Mickey reads a while and falls asleep. All that he has read of the bravery and daring of the boy detective, "boy detective," comes flooding back, and Mickey has the time of his life. He listens to a man and woman plotting to destroy the life of his hero, Nick Carter. Then the same Nick Carter calls upon Mickey to assist him in getting certain papers that are in the possession of the man and woman who have planned to do murder. To have Nick Carter come right up face to face and ask him to take a hand in one of his wonderful deeds, ticks Mickey so that he laughed with his ears. The result is that before he gets through with his hero he discovers that he is the rankest kind of a coward. With his own hands Nick Carter handcuffed Mickey and footcuffed him, too, and left him at the mercy of the man and woman who had murdered at their hearts. Well, when Mickey woke up he just took that trashy novel, tore it into little pieces, threw it into the waste box on the corner and muttered "Never again." Mickey was good, as were all others connected with the troupe. Margaret Dow is not a stranger in this city, having played here before but not in vaudeville. Acting comes natural to Margaret Dow, and as the lady villain in "Nick Carter," she is all that the role calls for.

WHEN ARCTIC EXPLORERS DISAGREE WHO SHALL DECIDE?

All other numbers on the bill are good. Hilda Hawthorne as a ventriloquist is excellent. She is a very attractive woman and she sings well. The dummy figure she uses is made to say some very funny and very witty things. The dummy's name is Johnnie Green. Parsley, the versatile instrumentalist, is right there with the goods. His drum, his guitar, his violin, his mandolin, his soundings of the guitar, his especially good and he extracts good music from glasses partly filled with water. His greatest achievement, however, is with a mammoth xylophone. He closes his act with ragtime composition of his own. In this piece he uses four mallets.

Hathaway is booked as a novelty, a juggler and sensational water spinner on roller skates, and he is all that the bill calls for. His act is so good as to be entirely out of the ordinary. The Judges in their Aerobic-Risley-Act on the show, and they furnished an entertainment that is all to the good. "Talk and a Song or Two" are exceptionally clever. For singing, dancing and repartee, it would be hard to find

Breezy Point
TONIGHT
Thursday—Saturday

THEATRE VOYONS
FIRST AIRSHIPS CROSSING THE ENGLISH CHANNEL
Ten Cents—That's All.

STAR THEATRE
MERRIMACK STREET
Amateurs Tonight
2 to 5 SEATS 5c 7 to 10

Academy of Music
Tommy and Demara, Lessees.
HIGH CLASS VAUDEVILLE
Motion Pictures—Illustrated Songs
Show afternoon and evening.
Afternoon admission, 5c and 10c.
Evening, 10c and 20c. Few reserved seats at 15 cents.

HATHAWAY'S
Every Afternoon Week Sept. 13 Every Evening
GUS EDWARDS PRESENTS HIS SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS THREE ACTS PARSHLEY
ROCKWAY AND CONWAY
HILDA HAWTHORNE
MOVING PICTURES
HARSHMOTO
TOM BARRY & CO. IN "NICK CARTER"
Don't Forget the Ladies' Bargain Matinee—10c.

them and impossible to beat them. The moving pictures are good. Performances will be given every afternoon and evening for the remainder of the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
At the Academy of Music the bill this week is fully up to the high standard that has been maintained since the opening. An exceptionally expensive experiment tried by the management to make the Academy of Music the best popular priced theatre in Lowell has been successful beyond all expectation. The program which will be presented until Wednesday night inclusive includes Ritzey and Berkley, an exceptionally clever singing and dancing team, Mr. Berkley showing some of the most difficult eccentric stunts ever attempted. The absolute control Frank Carman has over the rolling hoops, and his clever manipulation of double "baton swinging," is marvelous. Miss Claudia Bessette renders that beautiful illustrated song, "Blue Feather," which easily stamps her as a favorite with the audience. The new "Travellette" views of the world, and three reels of the very latest and best moving pictures, complete a program that cannot be excelled for the small price charged, 5 and 10 cents, with a few reserved at 15 cents.

STAR THEATRE
"Hurray, My Wife's Gone. To the Star Theatre. It's amateur night up there, and I guess those would-be actors don't keep your sides bursting with laughter." "That's what they all say," dear public. The amateurs, no matter how good or how uncouth they are, entertain hundreds of people every Tuesday night. It is expected that there will be some new faces among the would-be Thespians when they pace the boards this evening. There are quartets, soloists, David Warfield, Gen. M. Colmans and Harry Landers galore.

Tomorrow there will be a complete change in the program. Five cents admission includes a good seat, and one feature in the big program is alone worth the money.

THEATRE VOYONS
The showing of the motion pictures of Berliet crossing the English channel at the Theatre Voyons today is only more evidence of the up-to-date and progressiveness of this theatre. It is noted for without a doubt this picture is the greatest news picture ever shown, picturing as it does a new era in transportation.

BREEZY POINT
So many people have requested it, the management of Breezy Point has decided to have a post season series of dancing at Breezy Point and the hall will be open tonight, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. The very best band and car service will be maintained on each night and everything that will add to the enjoyment of the patrons of Breezy Point will be done. Tonight, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings will be big nights at Breezy Point.

AT SPALDING PARK.
Of all the kicking, hitting, obstreperous members of the animal kingdom, Barney, the donkey, with Demarest's free animal show at Spalding Park this

ANNUAL FALL EXCURSION
TO NEW YORK CITY
Thursday, Sept. 23
DEERFIELD VALLEY ROUTE and the HUDSON RIVER, arriving in New York City in time to attend the official opening exercises of the

HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION
one of the greatest events in American history.
ROUND TRIP Special Train
Leaves at 8.55 A.M.
For details see HAND BILLS or apply to B. & M. Ticket Offices

ABOUT SHAVING
If you can't use an old fashioned razor and even if you can, you'll find one or our warranted or money back safety razors is what the doctor ordered. We say warranted and mean it, as we'll return your money if the razor is not entirely satisfactory. Gillette, Gen. Junior, Gen. Razor, Auto Shave and Ever Ready from $1.00 to $1.50. Samples of J. & J. Shaving Cream and Colgate's Rapid Shave Powder free for the asking. Howard, the Druggist, 107 Central street.

At SPALDING PARK
DEMAREST'S TERRIBLE BARNEY and the MIRACULOUS EQUINES

The most remarkable combination of a Wild West Show, Circus and Trained Horse exhibition ever seen.
SEE ABSOLUTELY FREE
Cupid, the educated high school horse; Major McKinley, record high jumper; Terrible Barney, the bucking donkey; Little Teddy, the smallest horse in the world; Clifton Boy, the thrilling bucking broncho; Cowboys and expert Equestrians; also a fine band concert.
FREE EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
NO ADMISSION WILL BE CHARGED

WALTER E. GUYETTE, Auctioneer
Office, Rooms 77-78 Central Block. Telephone 2415.

Saturday, Sept. 18, 1909, at 3 o'clock P. M.

AUCTION SALE OF A 2 1/2 STORY HOUSE AND 20,000 SQ. FT. OF LAND, SITUATED AT NO. 79 LLEWELLYN STREET.

On the date set apart I will offer for sale at public auction a two and one-half story house, situated within 3 minutes' walk of the first street line of Lowell, Mass. The house comprises eight large rooms, well lighted, bath, hot and cold water, set tubs, cemented cellar, house heated throughout by steam, hard wood floors in part. There are 20,000 square feet of land with a frontage of 116 feet; the lot is excellently graded, beautiful lawns and an abundance of fruit.

This property sits on a crest of Christian Hill and commands a magnificent view of the Merrimack valley. The house is in excellent condition inside and out, and no money has been spared in keeping up the same to its present perfect shape. If you are looking for a home complete in every particular, do not fail to attend this sale as someone will realize a great bargain. Terms: $300 to be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as struck off. Other terms at sale. Per order of JOHN KERR.

but when that bridle comes off and some one attempts to have a ride on Barney's little back, there is trouble galore. Any man, woman or child who is able to stay on Barney's back for a brief time receives $5.

The show is under direction of Mrs. Lillian Schaefer, considered the most expert equestrienne in the world. Mrs. Schaefer puts her horses through various stunts the climax of her work being when she jumps the hurdles with Major McKinley, a steed of much grace and beauty. The jump is said to be the highest taken by any horse. The bucking broncho is another feature. Clifton Boy doing the kicking and the show of the taming. Cupid, the dancing equine of the show, has a great ear for music, and under the guiding hand of Mrs. Schaefer keeps perfect time with the band.

The Demarest show is said to be one of the most expensive of its kind ever put on at a park, and the Boston & Northern has shown much enterprise in bringing it to Lowell. Every afternoon and evening free performances, with band concerts, will be given this week. The grounds are illuminated by arc lights at the evening performances.

CARD OF THANKS.
We, the undersigned, wishing to thank our many friends who helped to lighten our sorrow in the loss of our son and brother, Edward, by their kind words of sympathy and floral offerings, and especially those of the Lowell Court house we are grateful to them, and will ever be remembered.
Signed: Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly and family.

MIDDLESEX NORTH
AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY AND CHELMSFORD GRANGE

FAIR
CHELMSFORD CENTRE
Wednesday—Thursday
SEPTEMBER 15 and 16.

$600 IN PREMIUMS
WEDNESDAY:
Concert by Chelmsford Brass Band at 8 p. m.
Fair Open All Evening
THURSDAY:
2 p. m. Baby Show, 12 prizes. Ages 1 month to 2-2 years. 15 sport prizes valued at $50 now on exhibition in Brazer's window.
GRAND GRANGE EXHIBITS
All exhibits except cattle must be entered before 12 m. Wednesday. Cattle before 9 a. m. Thursday. No exhibit to be removed before 4 p. m. Thursday.
ADMISSION 25c.
If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

New Palace Theatre
WEEK SEPT. 13
Another banner bill. Miss Barry, soprano; Mark Cobden, Scotch comedian; Fostelle and Emmet, misfit Dutchmen; the Lawrence, "The Bell Boy," Grace Holcomb, musical artist; Delmar and O'Dell, barrel jumpers; Prof. Corey, magician. Three shows daily. Matinee, 2:30. Price 10c. Evening, 7:30 and 9:30. Price 10c and 20c.

THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST
A DRAMA OF CALIFORNIA IN THE DAYS OF '49
By David Belasco
As played for two consecutive years at the Helms Theatre, New York City.
Stupendous Production
Strong Company of Players
Prices: $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c
SEATS ON SALE

Friday and Saturday
Sept. 17 and 18
Matinee Saturday
A Remarkable Society Play of American Life.
"The World and the Woman"
BY JOSEPH BYRON TOTTEN
PRICES: Box, $1.75; 50c, 25c, 10c, 5c. Seats on sale.

A DAY OFF AT LAKE CHARLES
THURSDAY, Sept. 16, 1909
FROM LOWELL, MASS.
$2.00 ROUND TRIP $2.00
SPECIAL TRAIN LEAVES 8.45 A. M.
ONE OF THE DELIGHTFUL OUTINGS OF THE SEASON.
INCLUDING A GRAND AND INTERESTING STEAMER TRIP ON THE LAKE.
Viewing a Peerless Panorama
—OF—
Natural Scenic Grandeur.
You Can't Afford to Miss This Trip.
BOSTON AND MAINE RAILROAD

LOCAL NEWS

Best of work at Tobin's Printery. Undertaker Flinnegan, Davis Sq. Tel. F. Donohoe, Donovan building. Tel. Teeth extracted and all dental work done by the Orling system of painless dentistry. Dr. Gagnon, 456 Merrick st.

LATHERS' UNION MEETING.
BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Large gains in membership and finances of the wood, wire and metal lathers union were shown today by the reports of the officers at the second session of its international convention in this city. The delegates held two business sessions today. President William J. McSorley of Cleveland recommended his report that biennial meetings be held instead of the annual conventions which are now the rule.

FOREST FIRES ARE CAUSING GREAT DAMAGE
NEAR LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 14.—Every forest ranger in this district is busy with squads of volunteers fighting forest fires, threatening the San Gabriel watershed, and the oil region around Whittier. The worst fire is devastating the north slope of Mount Pacific, the highest point in the second tier of the Sierra Madre range. Reports from Mount Wilson say that the fire is the worst in that region in several years, and the watershed is in serious danger.

CURTIN & SPILLANE
Plumbers, Steam and Gas Fitters
Estimates Cheerfully Given
26 ANDOVER ST. TEL. 2429

Killpartrick
Peaches for Canning Now
Merrimack Square

THE WINCHESTER
America's Greatest Theater. Handled in Lowell Exclusively by WELCH BROS., 63-65 Middle Street
Steamfitters and Plumbers
Tel. 372 or 373. If one is busy call other.

Big Furniture Sale
At Keyes' Commission Rooms
OLD B. & M. DEPOT, GREEN STREET
ON NEXT THURSDAY, SEPT. 16th
COMMENCING AT 1:30 P. M.

D. E. HOGAN, Auctioneer
Office of Collins & Hogan, Mansur Block, Cor. Central and Market Sts.
TELEPHONE 2245.

Here is a chance for some business man to buy a home in the Highlands.
Tomorrow Afternoon at 3 O'Clock
AUCTION SALE OF RESIDENCE AND STABLE IN THE HIGHLANDS
AT 19 ROBINS STREET, CONTAINING ABOUT 7313 SQUARE FEET OF LAND.
I will sell at public auction, regardless of any condition of the weather, my home, and stable to the highest bidder. The house consists of a large hall, parlor, sitting room, kitchen, summer kitchen and store room down stairs and 5 large chambers upstairs, lot and cold water, furnace heat and cemented cellar. The stable has two stalls and large carriage shed; the lot contains about 7313 square feet and land with a number of fruit trees. This residence and stable is situated in the Highlands on Robins street, near the corner of Westford street. It is high and dry and the best location in the city for a desirable home for a business man.
Terms: $300 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer as soon as the premises are struck off. Other terms will be made known at the time of the sale.
ARTHUR H. HOSFORD.

OUR NEW WALL PAPER DEPT.
Opens Tomorrow
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16
25,000 Rolls All New Wall Papers
On Sale—Great Many at Half Price
NELSON'S COLONIAL DEPARTMENT STORE
Reliable Paper Hangers furnished when desired. See Windows
English and French salespeople.

NIGHT EDITION

WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Outlines His Views on the Tariff Schedule

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 14.—Denouncing as an embueller of power the man who would violate a party pledge ratified by the voters of his party, William Jennings Bryan today outlined his views on the tariff before a large audience in Bush Temple. Mr. Bryan came to Dallas at the solicitation of party leaders of the state to discuss political affairs.

"Cannonism" Mr. Bryan described as despotism and the speaker suggested an amendment to the rules of the house of representatives to correct what he considered faults.

While not denying a candidate the right to repudiate a part of his platform such repudiation he asserted should come before the election.

Mr. Bryan's subject was "Democracy and the tariff." He emphasized the necessity of senators and congressmen being bound by party platforms saying that he would later suggest a form for such a plan.

LOVETT SUCCEEDS HARRIMAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Judge Robert Lovett was elected chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific road today. Jacob Schiff and William Rockefeller were elected directors and also members of the executive committee.

No action was taken in the matter of electing a successor to E. H. Harriman as president.

SAFE BLOWN OPEN

MECHANICSVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Three men early today entered the postoffice building in this village, drilled the outer door of the safe and blew it into fragments. A bridge tender outside trying to reach the office was held up at the point of a revolver by one of the men while the other two attempted to blow open the inner door of the safe. They were unable to do so and fled in an automobile, having secured a small quantity of change and registered letters.

FINES ARE PAID

That Were Assessed on Chicago Players

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—John Heydler, president of the National League, is laying plans for his organization to have the double umpire system again next season, his first move in this direction being the engagement of William Brannan, recently of the Wisconsin league. Brannan will be delegated to umpire games in the west and if he makes a good showing will be regularly engaged. Harry Pulliam, the late president of the National League, saw Brannan work and was well pleased with his decisions. Mace of the Virginia State League and Steinberg of the Connecticut State League have excellent chances of becoming National League umpires next season.

President Heydler started for Chicago this afternoon, the probability being that there will be an important meeting in that city on Thursday of the national commission to arrange the details of the coming world's championship series. Arrangements will then be made about the distribution of the prize money, and a representative of the National League then will be selected to act for that organization in a business capacity. While Harry Pulliam was alive, his secretary, John Heydler, always was the National League's representative. Heydler, now president of this body and a member of the national commission, cannot act in his former capacity, and either Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati club, or Charles G. Williams, treasurer of the Chicago club, will get the position formerly held by Heydler.

The fines assessed against the Chicago players for protesting against decisions by Umpire Klein in the recent Chicago-Pittsburgh series have been received at National League headquarters as well as a complaint by Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago club, against Klein being allowed to umpire any more games in the National League in which his men play. Mr. Murphy's protest is so strong that perhaps it will be brought to the attention of the National commission.

CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS
HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 14.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' association was opened in this city today.

President Hobson in referring to the American tariff characterized the action of the American senate as a violation of the trust reposed in it by the people of the United States and barron of all desire to create closer trade relations with Canada. The action, he said, puts the farmer on the same level as the manufacturer, both of whom must look to the home market for their support.

"Our sales to the United States represent about $22,000,000 per year. United States sales to Canada represent $18,000,000," he called upon the Canadian government to take the American government at its word and bring into effect the provisions of the surplus act of 1908.

Regarding transportation, he declared Canada should deepen the St. Lawrence and Welland canals.

EAGLES MEETING
OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 14.—The grand aeris of the Fraternal Order of Eagles opened today at the Auditorium in this city with more than 100 delegates. Geo. West, president of the local aeris, presided at the open session which was public. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Welden and President Ryder by the state aeris which were responded to by Grand Worthy Monaghan and other grand officers.

BALL PLAYERS GONE

Only Two of the Lowell Team
Still in Town

But two of the Lowell team remain in this city, and those two, Joe Boyle and "Buck" Venable, depart tomorrow. They will proceed to Boston, where they will play their respects to Fred Lake and then they will take in New York for a few days, after which they will part, Boyle going to his home in Drifton, Pa., and Venable to Washington, D. C.

No ball player ever made more friends in a short time than did little Joe Boyle, and all the local fans will watch his future with deepest interest. Already Boston and Cincinnati want him, but Joe, in all probability, will be seen in a Lowell uniform next year, and then go to the big league, as he is young yet, and has plenty of time in which to go with the big fellows. Harry Huston, who made many friends by his steady and conscientious playing and genial manner, departed last week for his home in Cartridge, Miss. McIntyre went back to Hudson, N. Y. Wilkie hiked for Sharon, Pa., Howard is in Danvers, Mass., and on the bench at the Red Sox grounds, Duval has gone to Woonsocket, R. I. Uniac to Randolph, Mass., La-belle to Lynn, Vinsom to Chester, Pa., and Whitridge to Indianapolis. Danzig left this noon for Boston, where he will report to the Red Sox. After the season closes he will go to his home in Oswego, N. Y. Fluharty sails tomorrow from New York for Panama, accompanied by his younger brother. Fitzpatrick went back to Waterbury, Conn., yesterday. Bobbie Carr will take a sea trip to Norfolk to recuperate after a strenuous season. Walter Foye is home from Fall River, where he made good. He has been reserved for next season.

HAZARD COMMITTED SUICIDE

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14.—Henry B. Hazard, who had been in ill health for some time, committed suicide by shooting at his home here today. He was 60 years of age and unmarried. For some years he drove a sight-seeing omnibus during the summer seasons.

DUKE OF ABRUZZI FATALLY HURT

Awaits the Word From Miss Elkins

PARIS, Sept. 14.—A high personage, in touch with previous preliminary arrangements regarding the marriage of the Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins, said yesterday that, contrary to the king and the royal family, the duke had not yet received any objection to the part of the Italian royal family, but to the attitude of Miss Elkins herself. "If Miss Elkins would accept the duke," said the authority, "there would be no obstacle placed in the way of the marriage by his family. I know that the king and the royal family have offered to grant their consent, not to a morganatic union, but to a marriage which would include the privileges and rank for Miss Elkins to which the duke is entitled."

The queen mother perhaps was not pleased with the prospect of the duke contracting a union with an American, but her objections would have been withdrawn. The duke's fate rests with Miss Elkins herself. If she should say the word the duke would be at her side tomorrow and the marriage would not long be delayed.

Before leaving Marseilles today in an automobile for Italy, where he expects to join the royal family in Racconigi, the Duke of the Abruzzi, who has just returned from his trip to the Himalayas, made it clear that he was in no mood to communicate with the press on any subject, and especially on one concerning Miss Katherine Elkins.

When a reporter innocently asked if the Duke expected "to rejoin his fiancée and Mrs. Elkins in Paris," the Duke deliberately turned his back upon him. The Marquis di Negrotto held up his forefinger and looked shocked.

Later, asked if there had been any change in the attitude of the young people, the Marquis said:

"To my knowledge not one word has been exchanged on the subject between the Duke and any member of the expedition."

The Duke's behavior toward interviewers was most distant. To others he was unkind in the most affable way. He repeated to a correspondent yesterday, that he could not not discuss the Cook-Pearry quarrel, as he had not had time to investigate it. If he were compelled to declare himself offhand and on general principles, he added he would have to give his support to Commander Peary, as being, in his opinion, the more serious explorer.

SANTOS DUMONT MADE HIS REAPPEARANCE IN HIS AEROPLANE

PARIS, Sept. 14.—The reappearance in the world of aviation of Santos Dumont, with his remarkable performance when he flew in an aeroplane at a speed of about 55 miles an hour, has attracted much attention because of the diminutive size of the machine. The aeroplane of Santos Dumont weighs together with the pilot 253.8 pounds. It has nine square yards of surface against 22 yards in the Curtiss aeroplane, 25 in the Blériot and 33 in the Wright machine. A two-cylinder motor developed 50 horsepower and ran at the rate of 1500 revolutions a minute. The most striking feature in the appearance of this aeroplane is the short and broad wing, tilted at a high angle. It has no tail and its general appearance is that of a quail.

ACTRESS OPERATED UPON
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—An operation for appendicitis was performed on Charlotte Walker, the actress, today, at the private hospital of Dr. John F. Erdmann. Dr. Erdmann, who had charge of the operation said that no complications were found and that Miss Walker should recover on scheduled time and be out in about four days.

The actress, who is the wife of Eugene Walter, the playwright had suffered a mild attack of appendicitis before but no operation was deemed necessary until this week when she had a sudden severe seizure at her country home at Greenvale, L. I.

CITY HALL NEWS

Purchasing Agent is Being Criticized

FOR NOT PATRONIZING HOME INDUSTRY

Local Concern Should Have Been Given Fire Wagon Contract—Mayor's Secretary Has Gone West—Meeting of Appropriations Committee Postponed

Purchasing Agent Mackenzie is meeting with more or less criticism because of the fact that he gave an out-of-town concern the contract to build a fire wagon when the bid of a local concern was but a few dollars more. His critics maintain that the contract should have gone to the local concern. A man who talked about the matter at city hall this forenoon said: "I believe that the contract should have gone to the local concern. The difference in price was not much, and if the wagon had been made here the purchasing agent and fire chief would have been able to see to it that the proper material was used. That wagon will come here all painted up and how will anybody know that the proper steel and the proper wood have been used?"

Search for Health

The mayor's private secretary, Alfred M. Caddell, has resigned and has gone west for his health. Mr. Caddell has been in the city for some time, but has been reported this forenoon that Winifred C. MacBryne would take up again the position of private secretary to the mayor, but that report was not given much credence at city hall.

Appropriation Committee

The meeting of the committee on appropriations has been postponed until one week from tonight. At that time the committee will hear from department heads who are looking for money to place them out for the year. A regular meeting of the common council is scheduled for this evening.

VARNUM SCHOOL

Bank is Proving a Great Success

The school bank in the Varnum school is proving a big success. During the last term of school the children had been steadily saving money, and the opening day of the fall term, no less than $262.32 was banked by the children. Principal Harris says that yesterday was the banner day for deposits. The school bank is looked upon by many parents as an exceptionally good thing. Its greatest mission is to teach the child to save his or her pennies and it cannot be other than a benefit to the pupil.

HOME SHATTERED

Because of Mrs. McCoy's Photo

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Cupid flew out of the window when the picture of Mrs. Norman McCoy, the wife of "Kid" McCoy, the pugilist, was introduced as a parlor ornament in the home of John J. Bradley at 352 Central Park West. Bradley, junior member of the firm of William Bradley & Son, decorating contractors, insisted the photograph must come down off the wall and had his way in spite of the objection of his wife.

Because of the quarrel over the prize-fighter's wife and other domestic disputes, Mrs. Bradley, who was formerly Miss Edith E. Ransom of 158 Madison avenue will request the supreme court to grant her a legal separation from her husband. H. C. Quinby, her attorney, will plead in special term this morning for $100 a week alimony for his client and a counsel fee of $1500 to prosecute the action.

Bradley declares the fact that he informed his wife they would be unable to lease their beautiful apartment overlooking Central park for another year had much to do with the present status of their marital affairs. He asserts his wife was unwilling to regulate her expenditures according to his finances, which have not yet recovered from the panic of 1907.

The Bradleys were married in September, 1901. On the fifth anniversary of their wedding to a day the young husband prepared a surprise for his wife. He bought the finest bunch of roses he could find and sent them to the residence of her parents, where she was visiting. While the flowers were on the way a process server presented him with legal papers informing him his wife had sued for a separation. They have on daughter, aged four years.

In the custody of Mrs. Bradley, charged her husband had often abused her. He makes a general denial. He declares she met Mrs. Selby at Paul Smith's in the Adirondacks a year ago last summer and says: "My wife became quite friendly with Mrs. Selby, much to my surprise."

Mrs. Bradley returns to her Central Park West apartment. Mrs. Bradley found the picture of the pugilist's wife in a conspicuous place in the parlor. The husband ordered her to remove it. When she refused he took the picture down himself and destroyed it. Mrs. Bradley's attorneys, Secord, Lester and Lord, and the frame of Mrs. Bradley, charged Robert W. Bernard, his attorney, Bradley will contend his wife asserted him to live with her parents.

Bookkeeper
Wanted

Young man who is good bookkeeper and understands typewriting. Permanent employment by addressing J. S. O'Brien, stating experience, address and references.

SESSION CLOSED

Criminal Court Adjourned to Cambridge TodayAll Lowell Cases but One Were Disposed of—The Kerschener Family Troubles Heard Once More

"There's nothing more satisfactory to the court than to hear a good report from the probation officer," remarked Judge King at the opening of court today, when Probation Officer Ramsey reported favorably on the cases of two young men charged with drunkenness.

The first trial reached was that of Charles E. Kerschener, charged with threatening his wife. This case, it will be recalled, was heard in the police court a short time ago. Kerschener had appealed from the finding of the lower court.

When asked what trouble she had on July 14th, Mrs. Kerschener replied: "On that date in my absence he brutally murdered my little pet dog."

Judge King immediately cautioned the witness that she was only to answer according to her own knowledge.

When the defendant took the stand in reply to the questions of Asst. Dist. Atty. Wier, he stated that one of the causes of their troubles was "dogs."

"Some dogs or a dog?" inquired the court.

"Five of them," said Kerschener. "Did your wife object to you keeping them?" asked Mr. Wier.

"No, but I objected to paying taxes on so many of them."

James E. O'Donnell argued briefly for the defendant and Mr. Wier for the government.

In his charge to the jury Judge King deplored the presentation of so many sentimental difficulties in the courts, and stated that one of the unfortunate matters for the judges to decide was to settle the differences of husband and wife.

At 11 o'clock everything on the Lowell list was cleaned up, except one case set down for trial at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Judge King announced the fact to the jurors, and stated that, if possible, the case would be called before the afternoon session.

John Morris, on the Cambridge list, charged with larceny, was called and defaulted.

After waiting until 11:30 for the next case, the court adjourned to Cambridge. Among the other sentences were the following: Joseph Richard and Joseph Betmore, breaking and entering at Cambridge, probation. William J. Lawton, breaking and entering, probation. William D. Carroll, drunkenness, probation. George Pslcramas, assault and battery, fined $25.

DRUNKEN COSSACK

Wounded Five Persons, Two of Whom May Die

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 14.—A drunken Cossack of Emperor Nicholas' bodyguard, enraged by the teasing of a number of children, ran amuck through the streets today with a drawn sabre. Before he was cornered and overpowered by soldiers he had dangerously wounded five persons, two of whom probably will die. The man chased a 5-year-old child into the courtyard of a jail where he struck the boy down with his sabre. He then invaded the laundry of the jail and inflicted a score of frightful wounds upon a laundress. His fifth victim was a soldier who he struck down before he was finally disarmed and secured.

FISHING VESSELS

Returned With a Big
Catch of Fish

BEAUFORT, N. C., Sept. 14.—One after another the fishing vessels that went to sea last night are arriving here today with what is expected to be the largest amount of fish ever caught in these waters in one day. Over 5,000,000 mackerels were caught yesterday, making a record, and the catch today will probably equal, if not exceed, that figure.

The fish are being delivered to the various factories here to be manufactured into guano and oil. The factories are running night and day with double gangs of men.

PRINCE KUNIKIDA
NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14.—Prince Kunikida of Japan and his wife, who since their arrival from Boston last night, have been the guests of Mr. Robert M. Thompson on board his motor boat, the Euryclides, were taken on an automobile trip about the city today.

Later the party visited Fort Adams, where they witnessed a dress parade of the coast artillery troops. The prince and princess were received at the fort by Col. Walter Howe. The party then boarded the Euryclides, and after luncheon on board were taken to the naval training station at Coasters harbor island.

The program after lunch included a reception by the officers connected with the station and a drill by the naval brigade. Tonight Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Peterson will give a dinner to their honor. The prince and princess will sail tomorrow for Sag Harbor.

WE LIKE THE HARD JOBS.
Eyes Examined. Glasses Furnished. Prescriptions Filled. Glasses Repaired. Best in Lowell.

Caswell Optical Co., 11 Bridge St.

FREE

SOUVENIR

Tomorrow

Wednesday, Sept. 15

Crawford

Day

Free souvenirs given to any lady coming to our store and examining our Crawford Ranges.

A. E. O'Heir & Co.

MERRIMACK SQUARE.

Small Cost Great Pleasure

The electric toaster is very inexpensive in price and cost of current to operate—so dainty and attractive at the table, making the bread into crisp, brown slices of delicious toast. Let us send you one and you can try it yourself.

The Lowell
Electric Light
Corp.

50 Central St.

6 O'CLOCK SEEKING CULPRIT In the Murder and Kidnapping at Utica, N. Y.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Aside from the death of Fred Infusino, the second victim of the unknown kidnapper and murderer, which occurred this morning, there were no new developments today. The police report that they have now no one under arrest or under suspicion, and a reward of $500 has been offered by the city for information that shall lead to the arrest of the murderer. Every clue is being followed to the end. It is regarded at the hospital that Fanny Infusino has somewhat recovered from the shock of her long night vigil, the pain from her wound and the operation which she underwent, and it is believed that later in the day it will be possible to secure from her a better description of the murderer than has yet been had. But the authorities place little hope on that for they are not of the belief that a girl of six can give such description as will aid them greatly in tracking the criminal. The physicians state that she has considerable fever, and that it may be necessary to postpone any questioning until later in the week.

IN POLICE COURT AUTO CARNIVAL Man in for Concealing Promoters Say it Was Leased Property Great Success

Alek Depouas, who has a very poor memory, was brought before the local police court this morning on a complaint charging him with concealing an oil stove, bed, mattress and spring, the property of Adolphe Lamontagne. It seems that Alek purchased the above mentioned articles on a lease, and besides forgetting to make the weekly payments which he agreed to do he sold the articles. This morning the complainant and defendant met and arranged the matter to their mutual agreement and when the case was brought before the court the complainant stated to the court that he had been reimbursed and the case was dismissed.

Case Continued
The case of Edward Flynn, charged with assault and battery, which has been continued several times, came up for trial this morning. The man who it is alleged Flynn assaulted, is still in the hospital. The case was continued until a week from Saturday.

Case Dismissed
The case of Bridget Maguire, charged with assault and battery on Melinda Draddy, was placed on file owing to the non-appearance of the complainant.

Drunk Offenders
Peter J. Charette and Clarence E. Corbett, charged with drunkenness, were each fined $5.

There was one $2 drunk and two simple drunks were released.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. James P. King and Miss May C. Bowman, both of this city, were united in marriage last evening at 6 o'clock by Rev. R. A. Greene, D. D., at his home, 255 Stevens street.

ANGLIN-DELANEY

Mr. Jeremiah F. Anglin and Miss Martha Delaney, were united in marriage last Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage of St. Michael's church, Rev. Dennis P. Murphy officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss May Delaney and Mr. Daniel Callahan was best man. The bride was attired in white silk and carried a bouquet. The bridegroom was also attired in a dress of white. Mr. and Mrs. Anglin left on an extended wedding tour and on their return will live in Kenwood.

DEATHS

ROSS—Mrs. Robert C. Ross, formerly of this city, died on Sunday in Cotati, Cal., where she went with her husband some years ago.

DUSSEAU—Mrs. Louise Dusseau, aged 62 years, died last evening at St. John's hospital. The remains were removed to the home of the deceased, 2 Pearson's court, by Undertaker Joseph Albert.

HARVARD DEFEATED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—The University of Pennsylvania today won the intercollegiate tennis championship in doubles on the courts of the Merion Cricket club, defeating Harvard in the final round in three straight sets.

MEMBERS PLATE HANDICAP

WARWICK, England, Sept. 14.—The members plate handicap of 250 sovereigns for three years and up, distance race, was run here today and won by C. H. Dora, portrait was second and Prospector third. Among the 14 starters was J. B. Keene's Helmut II.

"You Don't Know," Writes a Mother,

"How grateful I am for the bottle of Anti-sen, baby's own medicine. I had been using syrup. I am sorry I did not know about Anti-sen before. I will never be without it again. It has done my baby a world of good. It has saved me many a dollar and has been a Godsend to me. This mother is Mrs. M. H. Regan, 367 Union St., Manchester, N. H.

Anti-sen is a safe and pleasant remedy for stomach, liver and bowels. 25c

FUNERALS

FAULKNER—The funeral of Mrs. Henry Faulkner took place yesterday from her home, 141 Adams street, with solemn funeral services at St. Jean Baptiste church. Rev. Frs. Barotte, Berniche and Amyot, O. M. I., officiated. The bearers were John Racette, Henri Jacob, John Brier, V. Ropelle, Pierre Brassard and Henri Menard. The floral offerings were numerous, including a cross, the Rev. Frs. Barotte, Berniche and Amyot, O. M. I., and Mr. and Mrs. John Racette; spray, friends; harp, employees of Dr. Sparks; spray, Adolphe Landry and Henry Keyes; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Ducharme; basket, friends and neighbors. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Berniche officiated at the grave. Undertaker Albert had charge.

GAUTHIER—The funeral of Mrs. Anna Gauthier took place yesterday from her home, 18 Ward street, with solemn funeral services at St. Jean Baptiste church. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Frs. Gratton, Magnan and Ouellette, O. M. I. The bearers were Octave Hardy, Eugene and Alexander Poulin, Alfred Matte, Arthur Gauthier, and Adolphe Desloges. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Berniche, O. M. I., officiated at the grave. Undertaker Albert had charge.

DENAUET—The funeral of Miss Octavie Denauet took place yesterday morning from her home, 51 Rock street, and was largely attended. Solemn religious services were held at St. Joseph's church. Rev. Frs. Lamotte, Berniche and Amyot, O. M. I., officiated. At the offertory Mrs. Joseph A. Bernard sang "Pie Jesu" and at communion Miss Blanche Dextre sang "O Christe." The Third Order was represented by Misses Sophie Bourbeau, P. Marchessault, A. Pettigrew and Emma Gratton. The Congregation of Notre Dame de Lourdes was represented by Misses C. Heroux, Laura Racicot, C. Belleville, M. L. Richard and C. Bruno. L'Association de Notre Dame de Bouscours was represented by Mrs. T. Desnoes and Misses Ernestine, Chiquette and Louise Jodoin. The bearers were M. Frs. Fred, Henri and Nazaire Dorval, Danane Alard and Alex. Gratton. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, with Rev. Fr. Magnan, O. M. I., at the grave. Undertaker Archambault had charge.

SMITH—The funeral services of Mrs. Sarah E. Smith took place yesterday afternoon at 54 West Sixth street, Rev. J. T. Carleton officiating. There was a large attendance. The body will be sent to St. Edward for burial by Undertaker Young.

VAN TASSEL—The funeral of Miss Isabelle Van Tassel took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, 132 Mt. Vernon street, Rev. A. St. John, rector of St. Anne's church, was the officiating clergyman. Burial was in the Edison cemetery, under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

RICHARDS—The funeral of Herbert J. Richards took place yesterday afternoon from his residence in Detroit, and was largely attended. Rev. Frank G. Alger was the officiating clergyman. The bearers were Joseph Varum, Clarence Richardson, George Parker and Jesse Currier. The selections "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee" were sung. The Rev. O. M. Park. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, including: Pillow inscribed "Husband" from wife; sprays, from the following: Mrs. O. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Chaplain, G. B. Chaplain, Mrs. P. M. McNamara, Mrs. Foster, Miss Poff, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Currier and Mrs. G. M. Parker. Burial was in the Oakdale cemetery under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

BOYLE—The funeral of the late Mrs. Bridget Boyle took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from her home, 507 Pawtucket street. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock. Rev. John L. McClush was celebrant. Rev. Timothy Callahan, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Curran, sub deacon.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson, sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sung by Miss Alice E. Murphy and Andrew McCarthy. Mr. Johnson presided at the organ.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were a large cross inscribed "Mother," from daughter; pillow inscribed "Good-Bye Mother," from sons; gates after inscribed "Annie," Mrs. Crane; cross, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Crane; large wreath, Rita Callahan; basket, Mrs. William Norris and family; standing wreath on base, F. J. Timmons; harp, Mrs. John Smith; broken column, Mr. and Mrs. William Sanford; mound, H. E. Noyes family; standing wreath on base, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Walsh; large wreath, E. F. Simpson; plaque, Susan Thorpe; mound, Mr. and Mrs. Russell; broken cross, Mr. and Mrs. McKenna; basket, Jessie L. Frost; wreath, A. M. Montferand; mound, John Owens and family; basket, Fred Deshaw; palms and lilies, Harry Harding family; palms and roses, John Hanson family; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellis; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. L. McCrae; palms and lilies, Rosalie Bros. The bearers were Charles T. John A. Frank A. and Joseph H. Boyle, sons of deceased and Eugene Crane and James Boyle. At the grave Rev. John McClush read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

CAVERLY—The funeral of Mrs. Emily B. Caverly took place this morning at 10 o'clock from her late residence at Elmwood. Mass funeral took place this afternoon in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery, in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

BOSTON COPPER MARKET
BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Although trading in local coppers was somewhat listless at the opening today prices ruled strong and at noon the entire market showed an advance.

STRICKEN FROM LIST
KIEL, Sept. 14.—Eight armored coast defense vessels were today stricken from the lists of the German navy as obsolete. They are the Armin, the Ellis, the Hagen, the Hildebrand, the Hothel, the Walther, the Wolf and the Siegfried.

THE SUN

Is On Sale
At Both News Stands
In the Union Station
BOSTON

This is a good time to visit Montreal and among those who will go there to participate in the festivities is Dr. A. C. A. McNamara. He will leave for there tomorrow morning. Dr. McNamara is a graduate of McGill and has been having a good time in Montreal, so that he is now in the pleasure of visiting his mother and will visit many of his old classmates and friends.

Thomas Trainer, the well known athlete of the "Flats," has returned home after spending the summer at Oak Orchard, Me.

STANDARD OIL MAN

Outwitted Police and Summons Could Not be Served

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The mysterious methods employed at the Standard Oil company, No. 26 Broadway, in eluding process servers, were utilized yesterday for perhaps the first time in a domestic dispute. Officer Kelly, of the One Hundred and Twenty-first station, attested the efficiency of the methods, as he not only failed to apprehend Frederick Henry Nichols, for whom he had a summons, but was invited to leave the office of the company by a man who said he was the superintendent.

Officer Kelly says the difficulties that beset his pathway were akin to those experienced by process servers some years ago when they lay in wait after day for John D. Archibald and John D. Rockefeller. At 3 p. m. Kelly telephoned No. 26 Broadway and learned that Nichols, who has been employed by the Standard Oil company for several years, was at his desk. Accompanied by Mrs. Nichols, who charges her husband with abandonment, the officer went to Nichols' office.

"Why, yes, Mr. Nichols is in," said the telephone operator, seated near the door. She called on the wire for Nichols. Nichols did not appear. Fifteen minutes passed, twenty-five minutes, thirty minutes, and still there was no Nichols.

"I am going to wait here until he comes," announced Officer Kelly. But the superintendent of the company declined otherwise. He invited Officer Kelly to withdraw. Mrs. Nichols and the officer stationed themselves in front of the huge office building and waited. The hour of 6 o'clock passed; the offices of the Standard Oil Company were locked up, but Nichols did not come. He had vanished and left no trace behind.

The fighting blood of Officer Kelly was aroused. He had heard of the elusiveness of Standard Oil officials, but scarcely expected it to apply to all employees. "That fellow must be thoroughly keener," he said to Mrs. Nichols, "but I will find him if it takes all night."

Attorneys Greenblatt & Greenblatt of No. 51 Chambers street, counsel for Mrs. Nichols, were notified. They placed themselves in touch with John Berg, counsel for Nichols, and it was agreed that he shall appear Wednesday morning in the One Hundred and Twenty-first station court to answer the complaint of Mrs. Nichols. But Nichols was not found.

Nichols has filed an action for divorce in Albany, N. Y. The name of Mrs. Nichols is alleged to be connected with that of a "baron." It is said that it was to forestall the filing of a complaint in the divorce case that Mrs. Nichols charged her husband with abandonment.

The couple were married Sept. 18, 1902, and have a child, Lloyd, six years old. Nichols is said to be one of the house managers of the Republican club in New York, and lives at 170 West 11th street, near Manhattan avenue. He lives at No. 272 Manhattan avenue.

It seems the most natural thing to do, and it will be what the French call a marriage de raison, for we are old friends. He was the godfather and Mrs. Low the godmother for my oldest girl, Berthe.

Six months ago Mrs. Low died. Since November last I have been living alone here with my children and with my mother, Mrs. Fairchild. Mr. Low came to see me last summer. I had not seen him for eight years, and a few days ago we decided to join our interests.

"We shall not be married before next summer or autumn out of respect for Mrs. Low, but just when the wedding is to be has not yet been decided. I have no definite plans. I love Paris, and Mr. Low cannot remain here, but things will arrange themselves in time."

Will H. Low was the professor in painting of Macmonnies at the National Academy, and has long been a dear friend of the family. It was at the Macmonnies home in Giverny that Mr. Low wrote his exquisite essay, "Summer in a Garden."

It was only in last April that it became known that Mrs. Macmonnies had obtained a divorce in France from her husband on the ground of desertion. The divorce had been granted eight months before that. The real trouble, it was said, was that Mrs. Macmonnies devoted too much time to her art to please her husband. But the divorce proceedings were conducted quietly and amicably. "A friendly separation by mutual agreement" was the way Mr. Macmonnies characterized the result. "We remain the best of friends," he added.

Mrs. Macmonnies resumed her maiden name, Mary Fairchild, but was allowed to assume the responsibility of educating her two daughters, who are 12 and 14 years old. She receives $340 a month alimony from her husband, who is permitted to see the children at his pleasure.

After the divorce, Mrs. Macmonnies denied there was any jealousy on the part of her husband because of her success in painting. She said he had been most considerate during the "regrettable proceedings" and that she still believed him the greatest American sculptor.

SEC. MEYER
TO VISIT THE CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 14.—Secretary of the Navy George Von L. Meyer, who has been inspecting the Portsmouth navy yard with especial reference to the location of the new drydock to be built there, left today for Boston. He will visit the Charlestown navy yard later in the day.

NEW YORK STATE FAIR.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Greater New York today drew a big crowd to the state fair. The weather was perfect. Mayor George B. McClellan of New York city was the speaker of the day. He spoke for simplicity in pleasures, and deplored the tendency among many to live beyond their means.

The track is in perfect condition for the grand circuit races. The program for today includes the 2:25 trot, 2:05 pace and 2:05 pace.

SAYS HE LOST $400
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Charles Harcourt, who says he is from Montreal, and George Mackey, a well dressed man who told the police he had no home, were arrested today and locked up at police headquarters as suspicious persons. They were arrested on the complaint of William White of New Zealand who came to this country for the first time a few days ago with a troupe of performers, engaged at a local theatre. White alleges that he lost $400 in a wire tapping game while in company with Mackey and Harcourt.

SCULPTOR'S WIFE
To Become Wife of
Will H. Lowe
PARIS, Sept. 14.—That artist Will H. Low is to marry the former wife of Frederick Macmonnies, the noted American sculptor, was confirmed yesterday by Mrs. Macmonnies herself. She said: "The announcement is true if premature," when seen at her quaint home on the Ile de la Cite in the Seine, "but no date for the wedding has been settled."

"We are just back from a summer spent in Finissterre on the coast of Brittany, where Mr. Low visited us, and it is only since our return to Paris that the affair has been arranged."

STRUCK BY AUTO

Priest Hurries to Side of Dying Women

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A little strip of dusty pavement in upper Broadway became yesterday a chapel of death, where two dying women lay side by side, where priest and layman knelt in prayer, where, under the gray skies, the hearts of men and women were uplifted in more fervent supplication than perhaps was felt in any of the city's splendid temples, whose bells were even then ringing the call to early worship.

On one hand the rough earth piles and board barriers of a street excavation stood in harsh contrast to the solemn scene. On the other, the open doors of the church of St. Elizabeth gave a far glimpse of the lighted altar and emitted faintly the strains of an organ prelude. It was a picture and a drama all in one.

The dying women were Sister Sophie Duerr, a nurse in the Isabella Helman for the aged, and Theresa Appelt, a servant in the home. They had been on their way to mass with Anna McVenne, another nurse, when, just at the door of the church, the first two had been struck down by an automobile that had come upon them with a wild zigzag rush that no living being could have dodged. A fire had burst and the machine was beyond control.

Sophie Duerr died in a few hours at the Washington Heights hospital. Theresa Appelt was dying there last night. The other woman was not injured. Charles Miller, the owner and driver of the automobile, was locked up without bail in the Harlem prison, though many witnesses of the fatal accident declared he could not possibly have averted it.

LINCOLN PENNY
Caused the Death of a Child
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A visitor to the home of the Rosen family at 63 Watkins street, Brooklyn, gave Gustie, the four year old daughter, a bright, new Lincoln penny yesterday because of a little recitation she delivered. An hour later she was dead—because of the penny.

As soon as the visitor departed the child began playing with the coin, rolling it across the floor and chasing after it. Her mother left her alone while she went to prepare supper.

One of the rolls of the coin took it underneath the bed, where the child could not see it because of the darkness. Having seen her mother light candles to explore dark rooms, little Gustie took a candle from a table and touched a match to it. With this in her hand she crawled under the bed.

The candle touched the mattress and in an instant there was a burst of flame that enveloped the bed and the child, too. Gustie, wormed her way out screaming, and on fire from head to foot.

Mrs. Rosen ran in from the kitchen and rolled the child in a bed covering, but it was too light to quench the flames, and only added to them. The mother herself by this time was also badly burned.

Neighbors ran in, then got a policeman and an ambulance from St. Mary's hospital. The little girl died very soon after reaching the hospital. The mother probably will live.

A PROHIBITION PICNIC
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—In accordance with the policy of the state the city fathers of Portland today held a picnic which was an absolute prohibition affair. The usual dinner game and sports were enjoyed on Long Island, Casco bay.

THE HOME OF QUALITY
Frank Ricard
636-638 MERRIMACK ST.

Manufacturer's Sale
NEW FALL DRESS AND WALKING SKIRTS

1000 new skirts made specially for us in our own special styles. He made us a special concession as he is retiring October 1st from business. This will be a 33 1-3 per cent off sale. Come; it will be worth your while to save at this sale. Voiles, Panamas, Mixtures, Silks. All the styles and materials to be worn this season.

Sale Starts Wednesday Morning

$8.00 Voile Skirts
$5.95

$7.50 Serge and Panama Skirts
$4.95

$5 Panama Skirts
$3.95

In three styles. Colors, navy, black and gray, jet trimmed, in different styles of plaited effects. This is a great chance to obtain a new skirt.

In hard spun voile, silk and satin trimmed styles. All sizes to 32 waist band. In fine French serge, full pleated bottom effect, a $7.50 value. Sale $4.95.

SKIRT FOR EVERY OCCASION
Same reduction—33 1-3 per cent. on silks—and exclusive styles in voiles with silk drapes. You cannot buy such skirts at these prices every day.

NOT ONE BUT HUNDREDS TO CHOOSE FROM
$3.00 SKIRTS $1.95—In Danish cloth, a full skirt in the new fall style, sizes to 34 waist, colors navy and black.

NEW YORK CLOAK and SUIT CO.
12-18 John St.

BILL OF LADING

Bankers Say That a New Measure is Needed

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Out of a multiplicity of conferences yesterday preliminary to the convention of the 35th annual convention of the American bankers' association today one fact stands out supreme in the opinion of the bankers, and that is that "the bill of lading question, one of the greatest commercial problems of the day, will soon be settled to the satisfaction of bankers, carriers and shippers."

In that sentence Lewis E. Pierson, vice president of the association, voiced the opinion of 100 and more bankers, carriers and shippers' representatives who held an all-day consultation on the subject, Mercantile associations and railroad lines were represented at the conference and took part in determining the form of the resolutions seeking state and national laws for uniform bills of lading.

The cry of the bankers has long been for a bill of lading which will make the carrier issuing it responsible so that it will be a safe negotiable instrument. The shippers represented were equally anxious for a solid foundation and the importance of the question was emphasized by Henry D. McKee, president of the New York mercantile exchange who declared that if the bill of lading was not used as a basis of credit "the business of the country would come to a standstill or else become concentrated in the hands of a few."

The railroad representatives did not oppose the resolutions and this was taken by the bankers to indicate a closer degree of harmony than has prevailed, since heretofore the carriers' liability has been the principal bone of contention.

Besides unanimous approval by the conference the resolutions for uniform bill of lading laws were acted on favorably by the executive council of the association late in the day and will go before the convention for final action. The work of the other committees which met during the day was largely the preparation of reports to be submitted to the convention.

Express companies and their issuance of express and money orders will be the subject of criticism from the special committee on that subject.

The various questions of national finance, with which subject the emergency commission of the association is burdened, will be held in abeyance until after the report of the federal monetary commission has been made. Many of the leaders of the association are hopeful that a satisfactory law will be reported by the commission.

The bank deposit guaranty plan and the postal savings bank project were frowned on by the federal legislative committee, which will report adversely on them and will suggest as a substitute that the national banks be permitted to organize savings banks with segregated capital.

The main meeting of the afternoon was the gathering of the executive council of the association, to which all reports and resolutions destined for the convention were submitted. The session of the council was behind closed doors. It was afterward announced that the suggestions of the various committees had been approved without exception.

Culminating with the preliminaries for the main convention of the convention of the national association of supervisors of state banks was held, at which the supervisors from each state represented outlined the condition of banks in their states. The report from Kansas and Oklahoma strongly advocated the guaranty laws now in force in those states. The principal address was made by Elmer Jay of New York, formerly of Boston.

Mr. Jay, in recommending uniform

banking laws in all states, spoke in favor of legislation which will, in all cases, separate the savings deposits from commercial accounts. It is only by doing this, he declared, that the establishment of postal savings banks by the government can be prevented.

Pres. Jay's address was followed by the report of the committee on uniform state banking laws and uniform classification of bank reports. The committee, in referring to the results that have been accomplished, reports that the law committee of the savings bank section of the American bankers' association has adopted the principle of the segregation and proper investment of savings deposits as its legislative program; also that a considerable number of supervisors of state banks recommended to their respective legislatures the enactment of legislation along lines of our recommendations.

The report gives a list of governors who recommend banking legislation along the lines of the recommendations of the committee. The report mentions the states, the legislatures of which meet in 1910. In several of these states there is no action. It is recommended that a standing law committee be created to assist in carrying out the legislative policies of the association.

CAPTAIN SCOTT

To Go in Search of the South Pole

Next July Capt. Robert Falcon Scott, leader of the discovery expedition of 1901, will make a try to win for Great Britain the honor of the discovery of the South pole. In this new Antarctic expedition he will have two buses of supplies, the first at McMurdo sound and the second, if he is able to reach the objective point, in King Edward VII land.

While the effort to win the honor of the discovery of the south pole is the main object of his trip, Capt. Scott says he also intends to make geographical researches in the far south regions. He estimates the expenses of his trip will be close to $200,000, and he is now engaged in an effort to raise that sum.

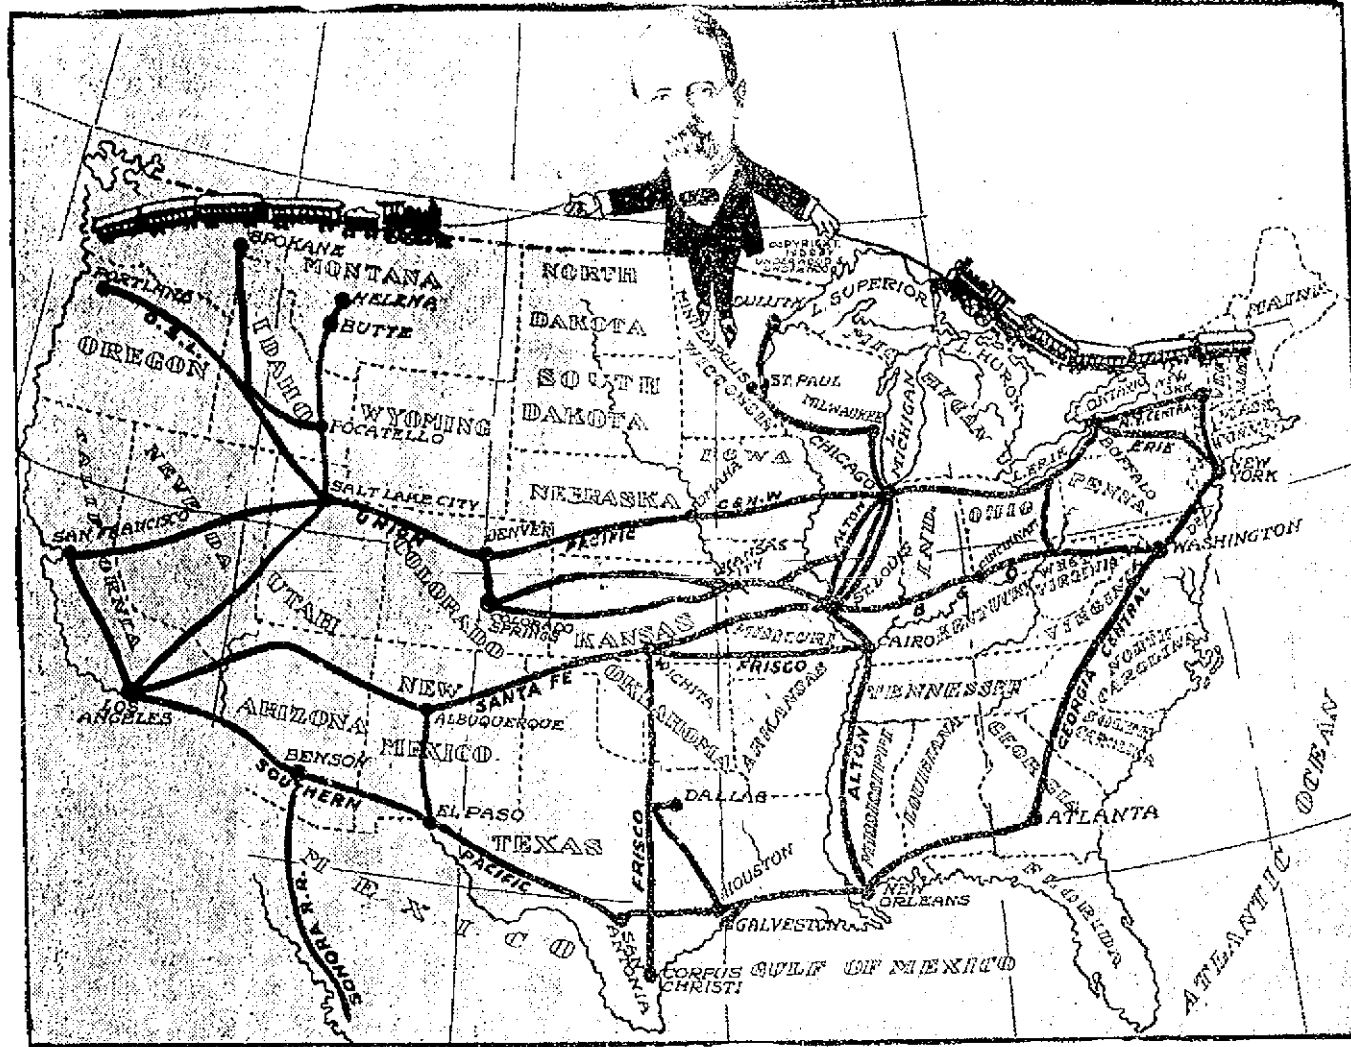

He plans to use in his dash for the South pole sledges drawn by ponies and others by dogs, and also motor sledges, the latter a new development of polar transportation which is expected to play a most important part in his trip. It is claimed they can climb glaciers, and will therefore be a great relief for the ponies and dogs in the harder work encountered on the trip.

Capt. Scott on his last trip proved that Wilkes land in the Antarctic circle was non-existent, as his vessel sailed over the very spot on which it has always been charted. Mrs. Erebus and Terror, near which his vessel wintered, were found to be on an island, and not the mainland, as was supposed. The land to the east end of the barrier of ice was found to be distinct from South Victoria land, and was therefore named King Edward VII land by the Cook party. In his dash for the pole on that trip he was accompanied by Lieut. Shackleton and Dr. Wilson, and they got as far south as 82 degrees 17 minutes, breaking the record of Borchorst by 207 miles.

Kindling wood, at your storeman's. Insist on getting Quin's, and note the difference, 5c bag.

STUPENDOUS SYSTEM OF RAILWAYS UNDER CONTROL

OF THE LATE EDWARD H. HARRIMAN AT HIS DEATH

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The death of Edward H. Harriman removed from the railroad world not only the most powerful figure in all its annals, but the most successful business man in the financial history of the United States. Mr. Harriman was rightly entitled to the sobriquet of "the railroad wizard." Even Jay Gould, who made a colossal fortune out of railroads that others built, would have been a mere pygmy beside Harriman had he lived to see Mr. Harriman at the pinnacle of his success. Harriman's chief claim to fame, after all, was that he built, created rather than acquired, a system of railroads which will eventually control the destinies of the railroads of the United States. The railway systems unique in one particular—he never had a failure. No matter what the conditions, he always found a way to succeed. He was backed by his keen and broad insight into property with a Chicago and Northwestern, Baltimore and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson, Georgia Central, Wheeling and Lake Erie, and the Erie railroad. These systems comprise a total of $4,310 million. Every hour that the sun shines upon American soil from the instant it peeps over the eastern horizon until its dying rays stream through the Golden Gate, it glances on miles upon miles of Harriman's railway tracks. There are 80,000 stockholders interested in St. Harriman securities direct and half a million indirectly dependent upon them. There are more than 350,000 persons on the Harriman payroll.

Harriman probably better than any of his other business associates, recently claim to fame, after all, was that he built, created rather than acquired, a system of railroads which will eventually control the destinies of the railroads of the United States. The railway systems unique in one particular—he never had a failure. No matter what the conditions, he always found a way to succeed. He was backed by his keen and broad insight into property with a Chicago and Northwestern, Baltimore and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson,

A NEW DIVISION

To Aid Trade in Latin America

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Secretary of State Knox is giving special attention to the development of the commercial interests of the United States in Latin America, and to that end has created in the state department a new division to be known as the division of Latin American affairs, devoted exclusively to these matters. He has appointed Thomas C. Lawson of Iowa, U. S. minister to Chile, as chief of the new division and William T. S. Doyle as assistant chief.

The statement is made that the increasing investment of American capital in Latin America and the obligations resulting from closer political relations between this country and those of Central and South America impose upon the department of state one of its heaviest duties.

To deal with these opportunities, to foster and foster a legitimate American enterprise and to protect American property and property rights in Central and South America, Secretary Knox has created this new division.

Mr. Dawson was appointed secretary of the U. S. legation at Rio de Janeiro, June 28, 1897; minister resident and consul general at Santo Domingo April 29, 1901; minister to Colombia Jan. 10, 1904, and minister to Chile April 21, 1903. By reason of his long residence in South America Mr. Dawson is thoroughly familiar with Latin American affairs.

Mr. Doyle is a lawyer who has traveled extensively in South America and acted as private secretary to Mr. Root while the latter was on his tour of South America. At present he is in Venezuela as special representative of the department for the collection of evidence.

SECRETARY MEYER

INSPECTED THE PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 14.—Secretary of the Navy George Von Meyer inspected the navy yard yesterday. He came at 10 in the morning and was received with the customary honors. The marine guard was paraded and a salute of 17 guns was fired with a return salute of seven guns from the Dolphin.

Secretary Meyer was received by the officers of the station and ships in full dress uniform and inspected the yard in their company. The secretary visited the naval prison and prison ships, Southard and Wapona.

It is expected that his observations will have considerable bearing upon the convict labor system in use there. It may be changed.

Among those who accompanied Secretary Meyer were: Capt. Wilner, commandant of the yard; Capt. Frank M. Baskett, chairman of the board; Lieut. Commander A. B. Hoff, Capt. Zane, chief engineer; White, naval constructor; John C. Javorsky, assistant naval constructor; C. A. Harrington and Max Leonard, U. S. M. C.

At noon he was taken in a launch to Little Harbor, where he lunched with J. Traphagen Goddard, after which he finished the inspection. He returned on an afternoon train to his summer home at Hamilton.

CASE APPEALED

CHILDREN OF ALPHEUS BODWELL ENTER SUIT

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 14.—The will of Alpheus Bodwell, one of the poorest residents who died in February in the 50th year, will be contested as an appeal has been taken to the supreme court by the children of the deceased.

The estate of Mr. Bodwell is now in the hands of the probate court. The children of the deceased are Emma Bodwell, Sarah V. Bodwell, and Fred L. Bodwell. The children of John B. Andrews have been petitioned to be removed from the probate court.

The estate of Mr. Bodwell is now in the hands of the probate court. The children of the deceased are Emma Bodwell, Sarah V. Bodwell, and Fred L. Bodwell. The children of John B. Andrews have been petitioned to be removed from the probate court.

CHARGES ARE MADE

Against Head of the Methuen Fire Department

METHUEN, Sept. 14.—Chief Peter E. Graham of the Methuen fire department was given a hearing last night before the selectmen on charges recently preferred by the board. It was charged that he had caused false alarms to be sounded at different times, had allowed firemen to behave in an unbecoming manner, had used improper and profane language, had ordered the chemical hose turned on citizens at a certain time, had retained on the fire department persons not capable of serving, had allowed a quantity of beer to be consumed in a shed near the central fire station, had not lived up to the rules and regulations of the department, had allowed members to be overpaid and had not properly preserved the records of the department.

The witnesses included ex-Engineer William Taylor, Engineer John May, Fred Thompson, William Lyons, Edward Jones, and Thompson Forest Johnson. James Sprague and Chas. E. Moreland, of the fire department, Officers Wm. J. Oliver and Robert Webb, and Thomas Yates, George Slater, John M. Goddard and others.

It was testified that false alarms had been sounded at least 14, 28, 24 and 10 times during the past year. Mr. Yates testified that he had sounded a false alarm because the latter had told him that the department would make a certain run within a certain time. Mr. Yates said he never asked the chief what time the department would make that run.

Mr. Goddard testified that Chief Graham said to him, by the way, on the 10th of July, when he had protested to the selectmen to turn the loss on a certain day of two horses. The horses were kept at the fire station and were not turned out until the 11th of July. The horses were kept at the fire station and were not turned out until the 11th of July.

The hearing was continued until next Monday night. There were more than 500 citizens in the hall, every chair being taken and standing room was at a premium.

$108,000 SPENT

For Care of City of Boston's Autos

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—The aldermen yesterday met for the first time in regular session since July 12.

The report of the city auditor, in reply to an order of the board relative to the purchase, costs and maintenance of city automobiles during the past 20 months, was received and ordered printed. An order to refer the report to the finance committee for further investigation was passed and then reconsidered. Final action, on the request of Alderman Wadsworth, was deferred to the next meeting of the aldermen.

According to the report of the city auditor, the city of Boston has paid out over $108,000 for automobiles, maintenance, repairs and chauffeur hire, of which the cars of the machines footed up $68,522.25 up to July 1 of 1902 and $39,477.75 from July 1 of 1902 to July 1 of 1903. The total cost of the cars and repairs and chauffeur hire was $128,000.

The mayor's automobile, for cost and maintenance up to July 1 of 1902, cost $17,744, of which the maintenance and repairs amounted to $2,771. The new cars owned by the city cost $25,000. The cost of the cars and repairs and chauffeur hire was $128,000.

At the next meeting of the board on Sept. 21 the report will be discussed in detail and then referred to the finance committee.

If you want help at home or in your business, try "The Sun" "Want" column.

TRIED SUICIDE

Women Saw Man Attempt to End His Life

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—In the women's waiting room on the Boston end of the Chelsea ferry, where a number of women were waiting the arrival of a boat, Caroline Underhill, aged 22, unmarried, of 21 Ross street, South End, tried to end her life yesterday afternoon by shooting herself in the left breast with a .22-caliber revolver. He fired only one shot and fell to the floor unconscious. The women in the room fled in haste. Some men on the other side of the dock rushed in and gave what assistance they could until the arrival of Patrolman McLaughlin of the Harbor street station.

Underhill was sent to the Relief hospital, and after examination it was found that the wound was not a fatal one. He will recover unless blood poisoning sets in. He was unable to tell the police why he had tried to kill himself. Last night at the hospital when he regained consciousness he said that he was disappointed because he was out of work and had no money and felt that it was best to end his life.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Alderman Says He Was Offered $3000

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—There was a sensational incident yesterday before the Royal commission which is investigating civic affairs, when Alderman Cloutier went on the witness stand and swore that he was offered $3000 by Mark Workman, stockholder in the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company, on condition that he vote for that company's bid for street lighting. Alderman Cloutier said that he gave Workman a tongue lashing. Previously, A. S. Porchereau, another stockholder, had made him an offer of stock in the company for his vote. Alderman Cloutier was most indignant because last Friday W. McLee Walbank, vice-president of the company, went on the stand and testified that the alderman came to him looking for graft, and that he refused to pay.

MAN KILLED

NINE OTHER PERSONS WERE SERIOUSLY INJURED

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—One man was killed, nine others seriously injured and several more suffered cuts and bruises yesterday, when the walls at the Black Transfer & Storage Company building here, recently destroyed by fire, collapsed, demolishing two adjoining buildings and having more than a dozen men in the ruins.

Dr. Hallock's

ELVITA PILLS

60 YEARS OF CURES

$1 BOX FREE

A Great Nerve Remedy and Reconstructive Tonic for Man or Woman

When you feel discouraged, confused, nervous, tired, worried, blue or despondent, you are in need of Elvita Pills. They will immediately brace you up, increase your energy, remove mental power and mental activity, they will restore vitality, refresh you, whiten teeth, soothe and comfort. A single package proves their great invigorating qualities. Makes men powerful, giving strength, courage and reserve nerve power. Sold at drug stores 25¢ per box. A regular $1 box sent free by trial mail only, on receipt of 10 cents to pay postage.

Free expert advice on ailments and complaints.

DR. HALLOCK CO.

114 Court St., Boston, Mass.

Established 1843.

FOR THE BOYS

Racing Automobiles

All the well known speedy ones. Extra wheels for wagons and racers.

$3.00 to $16.50

See Our Window Display

Bartlett & Dow

216 Central Street.

Good Health

—is within reach of nearly every man and woman who earnestly desires it. Start right with

Beecham's

Pills

Sold Everywhere. In Boxes 10c and 25c.

Obstinate Cases of Constipation

Quickly Yield to a Few Doses of

SURE-LAX

The Dependable Confection
Laxative and Cathartic

Without the irritating, griping, constipating after effects of the old time medications. Constipation, Torpid Liver, Mental Depression, Billiousness, Sick Headache, and all allied complaints are quickly overcome by SURE-LAX. Acknowledged to be the ideal Children's Laxative—half a tablet being a dose, they are so made as to be easily divided.

For Sale at All Druggists or by Mail—10c, 25c, 50c

WHITMAN PHARMACAL CO., WHITMAN, MASS

Residence Tel. 1911.

City Hall Garage Tel. 1302

The finest and best Automobile livery in the United States.

Mercier, "The Automobile Man"

Two 1913 Stevens-Duryea Seven Passenger Touring Cars, 51 H. P. Fully equipped with all modern accessories. Competent Chauffeurs. Reasonable Rates.

EDMOND H. MERCIER, 141 Cabot Street, LOWELL, MASS.

HARRIMAN POLICIES

In Management of Great Railroads to be Continued

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The continuation of the Harriman policies in the management of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and the chain of allied railroads was made certain yesterday when Robert S. Lovett, E. H. Harriman's personal counsel and close friend, was elected to succeed him as the head of the executive committee of the Union Pacific railroad.

To further strengthen the dominance of the "Harriman idea," Jacob H. Schiff and William Rockefeller—both heavily interested in the Harriman enterprise—were elected directors in place of Mr. Harriman and the late H. H. Rogers, respectively, and were also chosen to places on the executive committee.

The Union Pacific still remains without a president, as Mr. Harriman occupied this position also. It is understood, however, that an operating man—probably L. J. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson—will be elected to the place at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held on Oct. 12. Proxies for this meeting, already in the hands of Judge Lovett and Alexander Millar, secretary of the Union Pacific, seem to guarantee that the election will be dictated by the Harriman interests.

The office which Judge Lovett assumed yesterday is the most important in the management and financial supervision of the Union Pacific.

Judge Lovett's close associations with Mr. Harriman, particularly during the last weeks of the latter's life, make him, in the opinion of the Harriman lieutenants, peculiarly fitted to assume the responsibilities of the position.

He and Mr. Loree, the slated candidate for the presidency, share the honor of a close familiarity with Mr. Harriman's plans for the undeveloped territory over which he hoped to push the ascendancy of his railroad systems than any other man.

The directors of the Southern Pacific will meet today. It is taken for granted that their action is forecasted by yesterday's meeting, and that Judge Lovett will be seated as chairman of that executive committee also. In Mr. Harriman's place with Jacob H. Schiff, or some other partner in the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., at his right hand as director and member of the executive committee.

Wall street manifested more than usual interest in yesterday's election, in view of the rumors that a member of J. P. Morgan & Co. would be elected to the Union Pacific board. No such change developed and the executive committee remains in the parance of the street. A "Kuhn, Loeb-Standard Oil" board.

It was pointed out last night, however, that possibly the Morgan interests, fearing disastrous results from any radical changes now, may have postponed the selection of a representative until the annual election in October.

The election of Jacob H. Schiff attracted comment in financial circles, because the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. formally withdrew a few years ago from active participation in the management of all the railroads for which they acted as bankers.

It was authoritatively stated yesterday that the interests of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and those of their powerful foreign connections had become so important in the Union Pacific interests that it was believed to be unwise for the firm longer to remain aloof from participation in the government of the road.

EX-JUDGE DEWEY QUEBEC TO ACT

Announces He Will Run for Governor To Prohibit Exportation of Pulp Wood

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Judge Henry S. Dewey, who once ran for mayor of Boston, is a candidate for governor on a platform which advocates righteousness and emphasizes the desirability of a theocracy.

It was not generally known that Judge Dewey was a candidate until he applied to Supr. of Buildings George W. Morrison yesterday for a room in which to have his nomination papers signed. Then it transpired that he got his papers from Secretary of State Olin on Saturday noon.

Judge Dewey had no particular choice as to a place for having his nomination papers inspected by the voters who will be invited to sign them, but said if it was all the same to Supr. Morrison he would like the old Franklin school-house in ward 2.

Supr. Morrison is thinking the matter over and in the meantime Judge Dewey is explaining to those who are interested that he does not think righteousness has a proper place in the government at the present time, and that he is sure he can advance the cause if he is given the opportunity.

As to the theocracy, Judge Dewey himself hasn't got any farther than the name yet, but later in the campaign, when his papers are signed, he says he will explain the matter so that it will be clear to everybody.

BOY STABBED

SAYS HE WAS ATTACKED BY UNKNOWN MAN

EVERETT, Sept. 14.—Charles Doherty, 17, residing on Kippy street, had two slight stab wounds in the back and told a story of an encounter with an unknown man, the chief features of which are now being investigated.

The youth claimed that when he was on Broadway, near the Charleston line, he was attacked by the unknown, the latter using a knife without provocation. Doherty then said that he walked a mile and a half to the station house. He gave a description of his alleged assailant, but though officers were notified to be on the watch for such a man, they failed to make any arrest.

After being attended by Dr. McAllister, the boy went to his home. The wounds that he received are not serious.

BIG FIELD DAY

PLANNED BY IRISH AMERICAN ATHLETIC CLUB

The members of the Irish Temperance league and the Irish American Athletic club held a well attended meeting at headquarters in Central street last night, and discussed plans for the coming athletic carnival to be held at Spaulding park. A letter was received from Tom Sharkey, the retired heavyweight fighter, in which it was stated that he would be on hand Sept. 25, to officiate as referee of the various events. Word was also received from Flanagan, Sheridan and other athletes of New York, who started their intention of co-operating for the prize which will be offered. The meeting adjourned to meet again Friday evening.

FOR BABY'S SAKE

USE

Comfort Powder

ANTISEPTIC TOILET POWDER

Then his skin will be free from itching, chafing, scalding, rashes, and all soreness. Theoristical and best baby powder.

Be sure you get "COMFORT" POWDER. Sign with Baby's Head and Trained Nurse.

COMMANDER PEARY AND HIS PARTY

PARISH SCHOOLS

Opened With Increased Attendance

SEVERAL HAVE ADDITIONAL ROOMS

And Some Are Too Small to Accommodate All Who Wish to Enter—Record Breaking Attendance At the French Schools

The parochial schools as well as the public schools opened yesterday and at all of these schools it was stated that the attendance showed a decided increase over last year.

At the Sacred Heart school, there were 322 pupils registered. The fall term was opened in the parochial schools by the celebration of a mass. At the Immaculate Conception school two additional rooms were opened in the Old Moody school building and they were well filled. Notre Dame academy and parochial school reported an increased attendance.

At the French parochial schools it was stated that the total number of pupils admitted was 305 and that's a record breaking number. In addition to this number may be added 145 more who are receiving instruction at the French American orphanage.

The registration at St. Joseph's convent, including the kindergarten classes for small boys, was 1241. Besides these, 227 were registered at Notre-Dame de Lourdes school, which is also in charge of the Grey Nuns, making the number in charge of that order alone 1553.

St. Joseph's college in charge of the Marists, registered 829 pupils. The school opens this fall with a new master at the head, Rev. Brother Jordanus, formerly superior of the Marist school at Manchester, N. H., and who has taken the place of Rev. Brother Priscillanus, transferred to Quebec.

St. Joseph's convent also opens with a new principal in charge, Rev. Sister McMillan, who came from the mother house at Ottawa. Rev. Sister St. Raphael, the former superior, has been transferred to Ottawa to become the secretary of the treasurer general of St. Louis school, in charge of the Sisters of the Assumption, opened with 516 pupils, boys and girls. Three new class rooms, which formerly formed part of the state living quarters in the school building, have been added up and opened for this term. The sisters will now make their home in a new residence adjoining the convent, and just built for that purpose.

At Notre-Dame de Lourdes school, where 327 were admitted, many had to be refused admittance. A new class room has been opened, while the pastor is looking for some suitable place, outside of the school, to establish an annex to contain two additional class-rooms. Four Grey Nuns teach here, assisted by Misses Alma Alexander and Cora Henard.

St. Mary's school, in South Lowell, in charge of Miss Emma Cropan, registered 58 pupils on entrance day.

The new kindergarten in Pawtucketville, opened in the rooms of the Pawtucketville Social club in Needy street, registered 103 pupils upon its first day. Yesterday, Miss Ernestine Alexander is in charge.

NATIONAL LEAGUE STANDING

Team	Won	Lost	P.C.
Pittsburg	39	12	76.5
Chicago	39	12	76.5
New York	37	14	72.5
Cincinnati	37	14	72.5
Philadelphia	36	15	70.5
St. Louis	35	16	68.5
Brooklyn	34	17	66.5
Boston	33	18	64.5

AMERICAN LEAGUE STANDING

Team	Won	Lost	P.C.
Detroit	38	13	74.5
Philadelphia	37	14	72.5
Boston	36	15	70.5
Chicago	35	16	68.5
Cleveland	34	17	66.5
St. Louis	33	18	64.5
Washington	32	19	62.5

AMERICAN LEAGUE RESULTS

At Boston	First game—Boston 5, New York 1. Second game—Boston 4, New York 1. Third game—Boston 3, New York 1.
At Philadelphia	Philadelphia 7, Philadelphia 7.
At Cincinnati	Cincinnati 5, Chicago 1.
At St. Louis	St. Louis 1, St. Louis 1.

AMERICAN LEAGUE RESULTS

At Boston	First game—Washington 2, New York 1. Second game—Washington 1, New York 2. Third game—Washington 1, New York 2.
At Chicago	Chicago 2, Cleveland 4.
At Detroit	Detroit 1, St. Louis 1.

GLIDDEN BALLOON

Passed Over Lowell and Landed in Dracut

Charles J. Glidden, accompanied by Wm. E. Metzger, president of the Aero Club of Michigan, with headquarters at Detroit, made an ascension in the balloon "Boston" from Fitchburg yesterday afternoon and after passing over Lowell landed gracefully on the farm of R. A. Pluff in Dracut, just on the New Hampshire line.

The balloon went up at 2:43 and came down at 2 hours and 35 minutes after the start. They traveled 36 miles in an air line, passing over Ashby, Shirley, Groton, Tyngsboro, Lowell, Pelham and Dracut. They reached an altitude of 2000 feet, but felt no unpleasant sensation. After alighting both repaired to the Richardson hotel for dinner, where Mr. Glidden expressed himself as highly pleased with the trip. Mr. Metzger was highly delighted over his experience.

RED SOX WON

60,000 PUPILS BARRED FROM SCHOOLS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The public schools of the five boroughs of Greater New York opened yesterday with 60,000 children unable to gain admittance for the full course. W. H. Maxwell, superintendent of schools, estimated there are 675,000 applicants for enrollment.

The 60,000 who are out will be compelled to attend half sessions, that is, be instructed three hours every day instead of five hours. Supr. Maxwell predicts that the congestion in 1910 will be even worse than it is this year. He says the board of estimate had not appropriated money enough for new schools.

A half dozen new buildings have been finished during the summer and were opened for pupils yesterday in Manhattan and Brooklyn.

DROPPED DEAD

MAN EXPIRED IN HIS ROOM IN QUINCY

QUINCY, Sept. 14.—A man, 54 years of age, whose name is either Hugh Garrett or Hugh Garrity of South Boston, died suddenly at noon yesterday in his boarding house on Sargent's lane. He had worked in the Fore River yards during the morning and at noon went home to dinner. While making a change of clothes in his room he fell to the floor and died in ten minutes.

Medical Examiner Jones said death was due to acute dilatation of the heart. Scarcely anything is known here of the man. Other boarders in the house say that in the latter part of 1907 he received a letter from his daughter in South Boston, asking for help to bury his wife, who had died in some time in Boston. The body was removed to Hall's morgue on Hancock street.

LOWELL MAN

IS LEFT MONEY BY FRIENDS IN WORCESTER

The officials at the police station last night received a message from Dr. R. J. Shanahan of Worcester, inquiring for the whereabouts of Patrick Gallagher, who it is claimed lived in this city a long time. It is understood that an old friend of Gallagher's died and left him some money. There are several Patrick Gallaghers in Lowell, and the main question is which is wanted.

A HEINOUS CRIME

One Girl Dead, Another Injured and a Boy Wounded

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 14.—A heinous crime was developed when daylight came here yesterday. One little girl is dead, another is probably fatally injured, another, a little boy, is wounded in the arm. Indications are that the crime is a result of a man's passion.

The children are Italian. The oldest is Theresa Tracopolo, 7 years old. She is dead with a shot through her head. She was accompanied by a girl one year younger than herself and a boy still younger, the children of Ercole Infusino, who keeps a grocery store. The Infusino girl, Fanny, has a bullet in her stomach and at the hospital it is expected that she will live but a few hours. Her brother has a shot through one of his arms and is weak from loss of blood and exposure through the night.

The children were missed about 7 o'clock last evening and an all-night search was made for them. It was developed this morning that they were seen a few minutes after 7 o'clock last evening going up Third avenue in company with a man about 40 years of age. Not far above the place where they were seen runs a deep gulf that is crossed by the various streets by arches of masonry. Near the arch on Eagle street, a mile from the home of the children and in a section of the city that is still quite sparsely settled, a policeman who was off duty was visiting some friends with his wife last evening. He heard four shots fired. He made an investigation but heard nothing further.

This morning, shortly after four o'clock, a woman residing near the place saw a child moving in some bushes at the bottom of the gulf in front of the culvert. She sent some men to the place and they discovered the dead body of the other little girl and the wounded boy. The children were taken to the house at once and the police notified. The wounded girl could talk little. She said that she knew the man that shot them and to the police she gave some information though it was very meagre. It was once evident that the little girls had been maltreated. In a few moments the wounded girl and boy had been hurried to a hospital and every officer and detective in the city was ordered out on the case.

BOSTON HORSE EX-MAYOR DEAN

Was Winner in the 2.19 Class Left an Estate Valued at $360,000

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 14.—New England horses were decidedly prominent yesterday afternoon at the opening session of the combined Grand circuit and state fair meet. Sir Todd, owned by McMorro and Kelly of Dorchester, Mass., won the 2.19 class, with two other Bay state trotters, Wilkerson and The Sallomian, fighting him, while Hoosier Prince, the property of Kaler and Johnson of Ansonia, Ct., marched off with the pacing event.

New England's crack racing stallion, Bob Douglass, declined a second meeting with the unbeaten 4-year-old, The Harvester, which gave the 2:09 trot to Geers' star pupil without the semblance of a contest.

This was not the only disappointment handed the circuit followers, for with 15 starters in the 2.19 trot an interesting battle was looked for. The big field aroused lots of enthusiasm in seating, but when it came to an issue there was nothing to it but a son of Todd off in front going comfortably. In the first heat it was Chester Lassell's gelding, Wilkerson, and the next three the Boston stallion Sir Todd.

Wilkerson took a maiden mark of 2:12, while Sir Todd took 15 seconds off his previous record, made as a three year old in 1907. In the second mile heat it was Chester Lassell's gelding, Wilkerson, and the next three the Boston stallion Sir Todd.

Sir Todd is a half brother to Larabee the Great, 2:12 3/4, their dam being Great Brooks by Abner M. Marmbrine. He is a grand sire of the American Trotter and a record around 2:08 is predicted for him this fall.

Hoosier Prince acted like a real good pacer for Walter Cox and it was him for him to make the last quarter of his heat it was Chester Lassell's gelding, Wilkerson, and the next three the Boston stallion Sir Todd.

The racing stable of the late E. H. Harriman is here, but none of its members will be seen under racing colors. Pantana, a daughter of Wingen, who was highly thought of by Trainer Murray, broke her leg last Friday and was destroyed.

The summary:

2:05 CLASS, TROTTER.

Purse $2000.

The Harvester, br., by Walnut Hall—Noted, by Moio (Geers)..... 1 1 1
Geosia, br., by Moio (Geers)..... 2 2 2
Geosia, br., by Moio (Geers)..... 3 3 3
Time 2:09 1/4, 2:10 1/4, 2:11 1/4.

2:13 CLASS, PACING.

Purse $1200.

Sir Todd, br., by Todd—Kne Brooks, by Abner M. Marmbrine (Geers)..... 1 1 1
Wilkerson, br., by Todd (Lassell)..... 2 2 2
The Sallomian, br., by Moore..... 3 3 3
Capt. Cole, br., by (Skinner)..... 4 4 4
Lux, br., by (Hassell)..... 5 5 5
Black Belle, br., by (Geers)..... 6 6 6
Silver Baron, br., by (Geers)..... 7 7 7
Lion (Geersfield)..... 8 8 8
Lady Worthy, br., by (Geers)..... 9 9 9
Mercury, br., by (Geers)..... 10 10 10
Roderic Knight, br., by (Geers)..... 11 11 11
Gypsy Boy, br., by (Dunbar)..... 12 12 12
King Peter, br., by (Titter)..... 13 13 13
Sir Arthur, br., by (Geers)..... 14 14 14
Lion Vincent, br., by (Geers)..... 15 15 15
Time 2:12 1/4, 2:11 1/4, 2:10 1/4, 2:09 1/4.

BIG SALE

CONDUCTED BY J. E. CONANT & CO. OF THIS CITY

The property of the Mayfield Woolen Mills Co., at Louisville, Kentucky, was sold by J. E. Conant & Co. of this city. With very slight exception the entire equipment was purchased by mill managements or corporations for actual use in active plants, the consumer, so to speak. The real estate was sold in four lots and the machinery, mill equipment and other personal property in more than 100 lots.

The sale was completed at one minute before three o'clock, or a matter of less than five hours in time consumed. The gross result was upwards of $35,000. The most important purchasers were: E. B. Ligon, Mayfield, Ky.; West Side Sewing Machine Co., New York city; St. Louis Steam Forging & Machine Co., East St. Louis; Seymour Woolen Mills Co., Seymour, Ind.; Davenport Woolen Mills Co., Davenport, Iowa; Western Worsted Co., Milwaukee, Wis.; C. C. Teascher & Son, St. Louis; Lavan Woolen Mills, Lacey, Ill.; Old Woolen Mills and J. L. Stinson, Mayfield, Ky.; C. K. Lamb, Textile Machinery Co., Philadelphia; also Crutcher Bros. Co., Bills Mirror Plate Co., Louisville Western Mills Co., Louisville, Ky.; Eastern Ice & Coal Co., Louisville, Ky.; E. C. Fisher, Thomas Francis, D. Davis & Son and Fall City Woolen Mills of Louisville, Ky.

There were several very persistent bidders at different periods during the sale who did not succeed in making purchases.

PERSONALS

T. N. Kelsey, chief engineer of the Lowell Manufacturing Co., and Herbert Yeomans of the Mohair Push Co., with their wives, are attending the annual convention of the National Association of Stationary Engineers, which is being held at Columbus, Ohio. They are delegates representing Lowell, No. 7, N. A. S. E.

Miss Katie Gallagher of 35 West Sixth street, has returned from Cony island, where she spent the last two months.

Miss Nellie Brown of Philadelphia is spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. Mulcahey in Claire street.

SEN. LA FOLLETTE

TAKES HAND IN BALLINGER-PINCHOT CONTROVERSY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Senator La Follette has taken a hand in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy to the extent of calling the attention of the president to the laxity in the enforcement of the laws of caring for the forest area within the Wisconsin Indian reservation. This was done recently in a letter sent by the Wisconsin senator to President Taft.

Secretary Ballinger would give out no statement today concerning the charges.

MONSIGNOR HEVEY

INTENDS TO RESIGN AS PASTOR NEXT MONTH

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 14.—Mar. P. Hevey, pastor of the oldest parish in the diocese and who has been pastor of St. Marie's church, McGrathville, since 1882, has told the members of his congregation that he intends to give up his labors Oct. 1. He will send his resignation to Bishop Guerin.

Mr. Hevey is 78 years old and came to Manchester from Lewiston, Me. His parish is now the largest in the diocese having 10,000 communicants.

COLLECTOR LOEB

SAYS PASSENGERS ARE TIPPED NOT TO EVADE DUTIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Those who have been finding fault with the methods of Collector Loeb's men in searching the baggage of European arrivals received no comfort from James B. Reynolds when the assistant secretary of the treasury arrived yesterday. Mr. Reynolds declared that Secretary of the Treasury McVeagh and Mr. Loeb were working in harmony to stamp out smuggling.

According to Mr. Loeb, he unearthed a new practice among smugglers recently. He learned that wireless telegraphy had been used by persons on shore to warn inbound passengers who had hopes of evading the payment of duty that it would be useless to attempt to evade the vigilance of the inspectors. Mr. Loeb said that in a recent instance one passenger was thus induced to declare a $30,000 diamond necklace which he had intended to try to slip through.

The collector made it plain that there would be no cessation of the rigid lines he had drawn up.

ADMIRAL DEWEY SECRETARY BRIDGMAN

BANKERS MEET

Annual Convention was Held in Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Bankers from every state in the Union and representatives of financial institutions in Cuba and Hawaii joined today in the opening session of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the American Bankers association here.

The convention was called to order by the president, George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental National Bank, Chicago, in the Auditorium theatre in the presence of some 5000 delegates.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session. An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

Reports of the various committees and addresses of welcome and the responses filled the morning session.

The principal address of the day by James J. Hill of the Northern Railroad Co. on "National Wealth and the Farm" was scheduled for the afternoon session.

An address by Comptroller of the Currency Murray on "Problems of the Comptroller's Office" and an informal address by Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives were also on the day's program.

CUT HIS THROAT

Head of the Union Trust Company a Suicide

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—John W. Castles, president of the Union Trust company of this city, capitalized at $1,000,000, a director in other well known corporations, and prominent in club and social life in this city and the south, cut his throat in the Grand Union hotel yesterday afternoon and was found dead stretched across a bed last night. He had been in ill health for some time and his suicide is attributed solely to a nervous breakdown and not to financial troubles.

His body was discovered about 3 o'clock last night by his brother, Burton S. Castles, who, having become alarmed at Mr. Castles' failure to return home from the bank, began a search through the hotels of the city. Arriving at the Grand Union at 42nd street and Park avenue, he found that Mr. Castles registered there under his own name at 42nd street yesterday afternoon and went immediately to the room assigned to him on the second floor. As his body was cold when found last night, the police are of the opinion that he died some time after closing the door behind him.

The body, dressed only in the under garments, was lying across the bed in the room, while on a table nearby was a bloody razor with which he had ended his life.

According to his friends, Mr. Castles was broken in health by overwork and had little connection with the Union Trust company, after assuming the presidency of the institution on Jan. 1st last, when he succeeded Edward Kings.

Not long ago Mr. Castles' condition became so serious that he was sent to a sanitarium at Kerkonkson, N. Y., in Ulster county, where he remained for three months under treatment. At times he returned to New York accompanied by an attendant and attended briefly to business matters so far as he was able.

Alexander S. Cochran, a director of the Union Trust company, speaking of Mr. Castles' condition last night, said positively that Mr. Castles' suicide had no bearing whatever upon financial matters. He simply was an overworked man, was Mr. Cochran's explanation of his act.

Mr. Castles' widow and two children are in the Adirondacks, where they have been spending the summer. She was notified of her husband's death last night.

Coming originally from the south, where he was well known in Texas and Louisiana, Mr. Castles moved to New York to assume the presidency of the Guaranty Trust company, several years ago. But in the latter part of last year he resigned this position, and on the opening of the new year stepped in as head of the Union Trust company. He maintained a town house in Park avenue and recently purchased a place in Morristown, N. J., where he contemplated extensive improvements. Lately, however, his friends had been urging him to go to Hot Springs, Ark., for a presidency of the institution on Jan. 1st.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

ALBURN, Me., Sept. 14.—Carrying a 11-months-old baby boy and assisted by the police and firemen, five women and two men escaped with difficulty from a burning tenement house on Court street this morning by groping their way through clouds of dense smoke. The fire caught in some unknown manner to the woodwork in the kitchen of the Court house cafe. It was eating its way up through the tenement when Mrs. Adam Wilson, the proprietor of the cafe, was awakened. She called to her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who in turn warned her niece, Mrs. E. A. Gilman, and her baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker. Ruth Clifford, who lives with Mrs. Wilson, was also aroused, and the Baker family called George Elliott, who is stopping over here. Meanwhile the alarm had been sounded, and the women who had barely time to get into a few clothes, were taken out. The baby was the most composed one of the party.

The firemen put out the blaze at a disadvantage, owing to the burst of the hydrant and the presence of numerous electric wires. These were cut, but the men were then obliged to work in a dense fog, which had settled upon the city.

Believes That Both Cook and Peary Went to North Pole

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Admiral George Dewey's face glowed yesterday as he read the reports of the excellent work being done by the men of the navy in their record target and battle practice on the Virginia capes.

"See that record," said he, as he pointed to an unofficial report which said that the battleship Louisiana had made 16 hits out of 16 shots at two targets. "That is a world beater."

"I feel great pride in the manner in which our men have acquitted themselves. Our ships are fine, too. Vice Admiral Gifu of the Japanese navy, who made a visit to this country last spring, told me that the Connecticut was the best all-around battleship he had ever seen. And he has visited some of the finest ships in the world, too. The admiral in a voice which indicated how deeply he was interested in the ships and personnel of the American navy."

The admiral was in his office for the first time yesterday since his return to Washington from his vacation, spent at Hot Springs, Va. He appeared to be in the best of health, with a good color and his eyes flashed with enthusiasm as he discussed the work of the fleet.

The general board of the navy, of which Admiral Dewey is president, will assemble soon for the season's work, an important feature of which will be the submission to the board of a naval program for the next session of congress. Admiral Dewey declined to discuss what he thinks the board may do, but he is for the development of the navy along broad lines.

"More ships? Of course, we need more ships," declared Admiral Dewey, emphatically. "We need to keep our naval establishment up to the highest state of efficiency."

The admiral referred to the opinion held by some authorities that the U. S. government should keep a strong battle fleet on both the Atlantic and

BODY EXHUMED

Lieut. Sutton's Arm Was Not Broken

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—When the body of Lieut. James N. Sutton, Jr., the young marine officer who met his death about two years ago at Annapolis, was exhumed at Arlington cemetery yesterday, an autopsy performed by physicians representing the navy department and young Sutton's mother, disclosed that no bones were broken, although a confusion was found over the right eye.

It had been Mrs. Sutton's contention that her son's arm was broken during the fight which preceded his death, and that this being the case, the shot which ended his life, could not have been self-inflicted.

Dr. Tully Vaughan, of this city, who represented Mrs. Sutton at the autopsy said last night that the bullet wound which caused his death was three inches above the right ear and was clean cut. There were indications that the hair and scalp had been burned by powder. Surgeon Spear, who represented the navy department, declined to make a statement last night, saying that he intended to report directly to the navy department.

Attorney Van Dyke, assistant counsel for Mrs. Sutton, said last night that he was convinced that the shot was fired at least five feet from the officer's head and that the wound showed conclusively that it was a physical impossibility for Sutton to have fired the shot.

While Mrs. Sutton's attorneys are said to have made their plans for the next step in the case, they declined to discuss them last night.

Dr. Vaughan will make a full written report of the findings at the autopsy to Mrs. Sutton today. He issued a statement last night for the press in which he said that he found the body in a fair state of preservation, and no bones broken. There was a confusion or bruise above the right eye. The bullet wound in the scalp was three inches above the right ear. There were no signs of burning of the hair. There were two or three cuts in connection with the bullet wound, one above the middle of the scalp, which may have been made at the shot.

While Mrs. Sutton's attorneys are said to have made their plans for the next step in the case, they declined to discuss them last night.

Dr. Vaughan will make a full written report of the findings at the autopsy to Mrs. Sutton today. He issued a statement last night for the press in which he said that he found the body in a fair state of preservation, and no bones broken. There was a confusion or bruise above the right eye. The bullet wound in the scalp was three inches above the right ear. There were no signs of burning of the hair. There were two or three cuts in connection with the bullet wound, one above the middle of the scalp, which may have been made at the shot.

While Mrs. Sutton's attorneys are said to have made their plans for the next step in the case, they declined to discuss them last night.

Dr. Vaughan will make a full written report of the findings at the autopsy to Mrs. Sutton today. He issued a statement last night for the press in which he said that he found the body in a fair state of preservation, and no bones broken. There was a confusion or bruise above the right eye. The bullet wound in the scalp was three inches above the right ear. There were no signs of burning of the hair. There were two or three cuts in connection with the bullet wound, one above the middle of the scalp, which may have been made at the shot.

While Mrs. Sutton's attorneys are said to have made their plans for the next step in the case, they declined to discuss them last night.

Dr. Vaughan will make a full written report of the findings at the autopsy to Mrs. Sutton today. He issued a statement last night for the press in which he said that he found the body in a fair state of preservation, and no bones broken. There was a confusion or bruise above the right eye. The bullet wound in the scalp was three inches above the right ear. There were no signs of burning of the hair. There were two or three cuts in connection with the bullet wound, one above the middle of the scalp, which may have been made at the shot.

While Mrs. Sutton's attorneys are said to have made their plans for the next step in the case, they declined to discuss them last night.

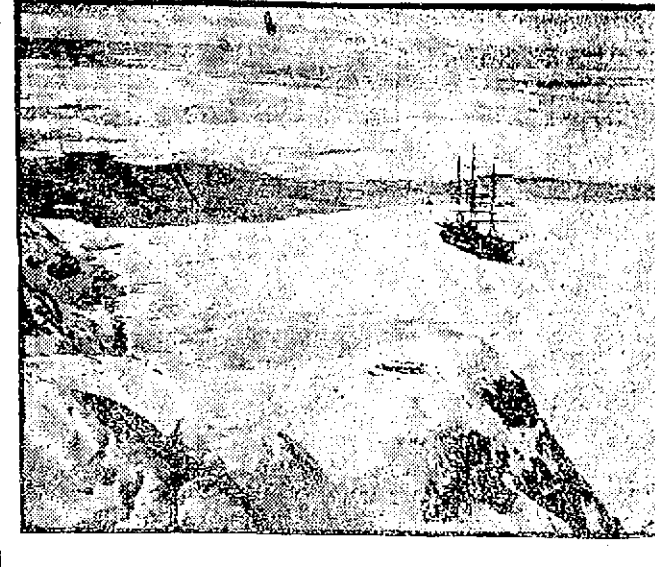

Dr. Vaughan will make a full written report of the findings at the autopsy to Mrs. Sutton today. He issued a statement last night for the press in which he said that he found the body in a fair state of preservation, and no bones broken. There was a confusion or bruise above the right eye. The bullet wound in the scalp was three inches above the right ear. There were no signs of burning of the hair. There were two or three cuts in connection with the bullet wound, one above the middle of the scalp, which may have been made at the shot.

While Mrs. Sutton's attorneys are said to have made their plans for the next step in the case, they declined to discuss them last night.

Dr. Vaughan will make a full written report of the findings at the autopsy to Mrs. Sutton today. He issued a statement last night for the press in which he said that he found the body in a fair state of preservation, and no bones broken. There was a confusion or bruise above the right eye. The bullet wound in the scalp was three inches above the right ear. There were no signs of burning of the hair. There were two or three cuts in connection with the bullet wound, one above the middle of the scalp, which may have been made at the shot.

J. R. BRADLEY, WHO BACKED COOK, AND THEIR SHIP IN ARCTIC ICE

Says That Peary Did Not Use Dr. Cook's Stores

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Development in the North pole controversy today contain arguments in favor of both Commander Peary and Dr. Cook. The oft-repeated charge that Peary made use of Dr. Cook's stores is denied by Herbert D. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary auxiliary steamer the Eric in 1905 and 1906, declares that Peary's people took Dr. Cook's stores at Etah and Anaktapuk he admits that he did not know whether or not their removal was by arrangement with Rudolph Francke, Cook's steward, who had been left in charge of the supplies.

Mr. Bridgman's statement wired from Sydney, N. S., where he is awaiting the arrival of Peary on the Roosevelt asserts that instead of appropriating his rival's stores Peary only "saved" them after they had been abandoned by Francke. Mr. Bridgman says that Francke was picked up by Peary's men

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was 15,956

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Plötte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

TO ELIMINATE SCHOOL FADS.

With the opening of the schools it may be well to remember that a great movement has set in for the elimination of fads and the waste of time on non essentials. Not all have a clear idea as to what constitutes a fad in school work. A teacher may make a fad of an important subject such as writing or arithmetic by devoting more time to it than it is worth at the sacrifice or neglect of equally important branches. But this is not the general understanding of "fads" in the school curriculum. Fads as usually understood comprise the less important branches that are put into the curriculum by the school board or superintendent and by which much time is wasted that should be given to more important branches.

The state board of education is now entrusted with the work of introducing industrial education, and although the change will be made slowly, the idea is to establish industrial schools wherever possible, so that eventually the boy who does not want to go to the High school can enter an industrial school for any period he pleases in order to master the fundamental principles of some trade. Hence it devolves upon school boards, school superintendents and the state board of education to cooperate in driving out the authorized fads in order to prepare the way for the new order of things in which boys who do not intend to go to college will not be imposed upon by taking a course that will fit them for college rather than for the work of every-day life. The course best adapted to the ordinary school is one that can be dropped with advantage at any time, not the course that must be finished to be of any real use to the student. We have had too many curriculums of this kind. They cause pupils to waste years upon branches that will never be of any practical use to them in the activities of life. Of course they have a certain cultural value, resulting from the mental development they produce, but beyond that they are valueless.

We are moving towards the elimination of fads, more thoroughness and more practical courses of study, courses calculated to aid the student in the work of making a living, rather than in preparing for a college course he may never be able to pursue. The needs of the boy who goes to college must be provided for as well as the needs of the boy who will not go to college.

THE POLE AND POLAR EXPLORATION.

Judging from the bitterness of the controversy between Peary and Dr. Cook on their rival claims in regard to the discovery of the North pole, it is quite probable that the claims of both will be discounted by scientists and that more authentic and complete data will be awaited.

It will be quite easy to reach the pole if, on the next expedition fitted out for Arctic exploration, the flying machine and wireless telegraphy are utilized. By these new agencies communication can be kept up with the base stations on land, and when a point is reached within a hundred or even two hundred miles of the pole, this distance can be covered in a few hours by the perfected flying machine, assuming that it will work as well in cold as in hot weather.

It is very plain, judging from the progress already made, that the world has little to gain by the complete exploration of the pole. There may be some difficulty in locating the precise northerly point by our instruments that measure latitude and longitude with so much accuracy in other parts of the earth. The polar star is not the celestial pole and, therefore, not quite vertical over the terrestrial pole, varying about one and a half degrees to one side. There is a telescopic star, however, of low magnitude that is so nearly vertical over the pole that for all practical purposes it may be taken as the celestial pole.

The exploration of the Arctic regions will open up no new territory, will benefit neither commerce nor industry, while the scientific and geographical benefits to be derived therefrom are exceedingly trifling when compared with the magnificent result according to mankind from the discovery of America by Columbus and the work of subsequent explorers of the western hemisphere, or even the work of Stanley in Central Africa. Yet it is astonishing to find what a sacrifice of human life has resulted from futile attempts to reach the North pole.

Originally there was a double purpose in the efforts to discover the pole. One was to find the northwest passage, supposed to be the shortest cut to India. Only four years ago this was found by Amundsen, but as might be expected was so blocked by perpetual ice as to be useless.

Thirty-seven relief expeditions were sent out to find Sir John Franklin at an expense of about $5,000,000, but the Franklin expedition lost every life, 138 officers and men.

For half a century past nearly every year has had its polar expedition and nearly every single one paid its tribute of human life to the quest for the pole.

Yet for what purpose? It is true that a few whaling fields have been discovered and made available, while some mineral deposits that may prove of value have been found, but it would cost countless lives to develop mines in the extreme north.

What then is the incentive or the object of the polar research? It is man's unwillingness to stand idle in face of the unknown. Man is inspired with a spirit of adventure, with a desire to travel the unknown in land and sea and even to go farther and explore the planets and to establish communication with the inhabitants of the planet Mars.

In this light the victory will be a moral one more than one from which we may expect tangible material results. The farther man goes, the farther he wants to go. When the North pole shall have been amply explored or even before, then we may expect similar results in regard to the South pole, as this is the age when such movements may be expected to move quickly, on account of the new agencies of travel and communication placed at the command of those who need them.

SEEN AND HEARD

If you want to be popular, before giving advice when you are asked for it, always take around and find out the kind of advice the applicant wants to get.

When the man who weighs three hundred pounds buys only a single share of stock in any corporation, can he count himself among the heavy stockholders?

A woman with young children seldom has much time to play with, because she is kept so constantly busy saying it.

If it were absolutely sure that there is gold at the south pole, no doubt that, too, would be discovered right away.

Modern humanists have good reason to feel unpleasant toward Joe Miller. It was certainly contemptible of him to use all their jokes.

Not infrequently the widow who insists on having the widest border of black on her mourning is the one who gets married first.

The books on business etiquette don't say whether when the lightning calculator makes a mistake in simple addition it is proper for him to say "Thunder!"

It is better to throw confetti than rice at weddings, if it is necessary to be foolish. In the first place, it costs less, and in the second place it doesn't spoil the pudding.

Once in a while a man is bold enough to declare at home that in his opinion litigation on glass is just as good for practical use as the real article, and that considering the difference in cost he prefers played-out buttons to real ones. But if women folks of his family always look at him in such a pitying way that he promptly changes the subject without trying to support his views by argument.

When a woman has a shoe that fits her she always thinks the number must be wrong.

Theoretically, a married man doesn't have any lovers. Practically, his wife doesn't know any.

When Dolly telephoned to Cholly that she must have an automobile ride, Cholly hung up the receiver and then went out to the nearest pawnbroker's and hung up his watch.

Some men feel that they have settled an account when they have given a six months' note for the amount.

At least one visitor to Tyngsboro fared very well last Monday, Labor day. He came to Tyngsboro in a big automobile and accompanied by five or six other men. Evidently the man in question or some of his companions had heard of "Dave" Kimball and his estimable wife and their hospitality. Mr. and Mrs. David Kimball own and occupy a fine cottage at what is known as Kimball's corner. They have several acres of land and keep a great many bees. Their chicken dinners and chicken suppers are known for miles around and that is just what the visitors were after. They ordered dinner and when they had finished one of them discovered that he had lost his roll amounting to $2300. Between times Mrs. Kimball had taken a stroll toward the barn where the automobile was temporarily parked and on the ground near the back door to the barn she found a pocketbook containing a number of bills. She went back to the house and to her own room. There she counted the money and found that it amounted to $2300. When she made her appearance again in the dining-room the visitor was exploring his loss. He felt very badly about it and allowed that some of the slick fingered gentry had grabbed it. After Mrs. Kimball had inquired as to the amount she told the visitor that he hadn't lost his money, at least not for her, and she handed it to him. He made her a present of $50 and went away feeling almost too good for utterance.

JUST DON'T.

Do you feel you'd like to quit? Don't. Get to feeling you don't. Don't! Do you want to yell, "All in?" "Cause your wife's a little thin. And you think you'll never win? Don't.

There's a kick you want to make? Don't. There's a head you want to break? Don't!

Do you feel you want to whine? Like a genuine canine. And send blue streaks down the line? Well, don't!

When you see a chance to duck, don't! When you want to chuck your buck, don't! Keep right on without a stop. And you'll sure show up on top. If when you want to flop, You don't!

RATS.

The New York Sun has the following able discussion of "rats": It questions the pulse to see the dear, familiar name of Clinton Hart Merriam, chief of the biological survey and our singular good friend. For

50 Pieces For 75c

In response to inquiries about our new department—banners, stockings, handkerchiefs, towels, bed and table linen are found in first class shape; but also, sweaters, night gowns, drawers, chemises and such articles are only roughly fringed. The rate is very low and the results are very satisfactory. Telephone 2165, or 572.

Lowell Laundry

McNabb Brothers, 130 Cambridge St., 167 Church St. We also do family wet washing for per basket.

Fresh Clams Every Day

At the Lowell Inn. Fresh fish direct from the Boston wharves. Lobsters fresh from the traps. Meats fresh and wholesome. Call and see us. LOWELL INN, busiest place in Central street.

AUTOMOBILE BATTERIES

Storage, Bat- All kinds of charged. Dry Cells. Installation Supplies.

DERBY & MORSE

Utah St. Tel. 409

Furniture Moving

You may be thinking about moving. If so, that's all right. We are the honest and reliable WILLIAM RIGGS, at 10 Prescott St. All orders promptly filled and handled with the cheapest rates. There are none other than RIGGS' packers. Our specialty is piano moving.

many years he has been famous as the Master of the Gnomidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filled the world with the fame of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revelation of American Shyness" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 365, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art. The brown rat, introduced into America in 1773, has "peachy exterminated" its little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous" and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and eat up man in general, just as the mice devoured that pincopollitic wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bingen. But let us gather rat facts while we may: "The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats, which may be as numerous, few of them learn to catch rats. "The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended." For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or interior commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

$2300 BAIL BOND

Forfeited by Son of Ex-Mayor Martin

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Everett F. Martin, 35, of 18 Tremont street, Roxbury, son of the ex-mayor and police commissioner, who was to face the courts yesterday on charges of larceny, defaulted, and has left for parts unknown, forfeiting bail bonds aggregating $2300.

Martin was arrested on Aug. 23 by Inspectors Conboy and Pierce on the charge of the larceny on August 7 from Edward R. Clark of 72 Lincoln street of an automobile valued at $325. He was taken into court and admitted to $1500 bail on a continuance to yesterday.

On Sept. 10 Inspectors Conboy, Pierce and Robinson arrested Martin on the charge of the larceny on Aug. 23 of $500 from George F. Newhall of 225 Mill street by means of an automobile deal. Frederick W. Rodgers, who claims to be an automobile dealer, was arrested at the same time.

Martin was again taken into court and when the judge learned that there was already one continued case he allowed Martin to again be admitted to bail in the sum of $600 for appearance yesterday.

Since then the police allege they have had another charge lodged against the man, and it is stated that several others may suddenly show up. Yesterday when Martin's name was called in the court he failed to show up, and after waiting a reasonable time, the court informed the police of the default.

According to the police, Martin has a record and has been arrested and convicted on a charge of obtaining money by fraudulent means. A search will be made for the missing man, and if not located within a reasonable time Deputy Wattle will send circulars over the country calling for his arrest. Martin claims to be a broker.

JAPANESE PRINCE ARRIVES

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14.—Prince and Princess Konyoshi of Japan with their suites arrived from Boston last evening to be the guests of Colonel Robert M. Thompson on board his house boat the Everglades.

Allan Line Royal Mail Steamers

Only Direct Service between Boston and Scotland.

Only Direct Service between Boston and North of Ireland.

Only Direct Service from Glasgow.

Spacious accommodations, all good. Latest improvements for comfort and safety.

Second cabin, Glasgow, Derry or Galway. Or, third cabin, $3.00 a week. Prepaid steerage to $30.25. Entire rooms reserved for married couples. Children 1 to 12 years, half fare.

DENIS MURPHY, 18 APPLETON ST.

H. & A. Allan, 110 State St., Boston

Take a Course

And Then You Can

Take a Position

MONDAY IS OPENING DAY

and Tuesday is Opening Night

for a large number who have registered for the Fall Term.

Have You Registered?

Lowell Commercial College

7 Merrimack Sq.

JAMES E. O'DONNELL

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW

Hilthred Building, Lowell, Mass.

ST. THOMAS' SALVE

—FOR—

Piles, Old Sores and Skin Diseases

—FOR SALE—

At All Up-to-Date Drug Stores

THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

JOHN J. O'CONNELL

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Telephone Connection

1010 Central St. Davis Sq.

My-But It Looks Good

baked in a

Glenwood

"Makes Cooking Easy"

M. F. Gookin Company,
35 Market St., Lowell.

SEC. REYNOLDS

May Not Accept the Tariff Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Friends of Washington of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Reynolds are urging him not to accept the appointment of President Taft to the new tariff board.

The appointment, it is said, is not entirely satisfactory to Mr. Reynolds, and it is thought at the treasury department that he may decline the place. If he accepts, it will be because he feels himself under obligation to serve the president in this capacity.

Secretary Reynolds' friends are inclined to resent the fact that he was not named for the chairmanship of the tariff board. They say that the place would mean much hard work and very little recreation for him, while the uncertain character of the job is given as another objection to it.

Although the salary of the tariff board members is not fixed by law $1500 annually is the probable salary which would be received. Secretary Reynolds now receives as assistant secretary of the treasury $1000 a year, and his present position gives him greater official rank than would membership on the tariff board. Congress is jealous of tariff commissions, and Mr. Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quietly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds could have had the Boston collectorship recently at a much larger salary than that which he now receives. He is said to have declined the position, preferring to remain in Washington as the ranking assistant secretary of the treasury department. Mr. Reynolds has had supervision of the customs division and has become one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Woman Accuses Doctor of Drinking

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Medical men of Boston, New York and Chicago will be interested in learning that Kathryn Ewing of this city has filed a bill for divorce against her husband, Dr. Harry P. Ewing, a former well known practitioner in this city and who for years was connected with the staff of surgeons at Bellevue hospital, New York. She charges confirmed habits of intoxication.

The bill was filed on Aug. 14 and the case is expected to be reached in the fall term.

Until recently Mrs. Ewing has been living in a suite at Blackwood street, Back Bay. Two months ago she closed up her home and went to Wintthrop for the summer, and the summer with her only child, a daughter, aged 14 years, who has been attending the girls' Latin school.

Mrs. Ewing is about 35 years old. She has retained John R. McVey as her counsel. The case, it is believed, will be argued in the fall term.

Dr. Ewing disappeared several months ago and is now thought to be in New York. Dr. Ewing came here from Michigan, and it is understood before graduating from Harvard attended the Rush college in Chicago. It was during his college career in Chicago that he met and wooed his wife and they were married in Rosbury, Mich. April 1, 1891.

Two years ago the couple came to Boston and for a while Dr. Ewing managed to be fairly successful as head of a well known dispensary at the north end. He was finally taken into court for intoxication and served a term in house of correction several months ago by Judge De Courcy. Counsel for the doctor endeavored to have the case placed on this, but Judge De Courcy was absolute when the man's history was aired.

WHEN YOU WANT DESIGN WORK

Or nice fresh flowers, also plants of all kinds, we are headquarters, as we grow our own stock. Visit our greenhouse and nursery and become convinced. McManis' Store 6 Prescott street.

DARING BURGLAR

Threatened to Shoot Police Officers in Newton

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—With a revolver in each hand, James W. Cunningham, 17 years old, of 183 River street, Waltham, defied the Newton police to arrest him yesterday afternoon, when he was caught in the home of the late W. M. Bush, Temple street, West Newton, where a large amount of valuables and silverware had been packed up ready to be taken from the house.

Patrolman Martin Neagle and Chief of Police Mitchell of the Newton force rushed at the young man from different directions, followed by two other officers. The young fellow decided not to shoot and submitted to arrest. He was locked up, and the police say he confessed to two other robberies in Newton within a week.

Mr. Bush died last week, and all of the members of his family are away. Officer Neagle was passing the house when he heard an unusual racket inside. It sounded as if some one was opening and shutting bureau drawers hurriedly. Knowing that the family was away, he telephoned Chief Mitchell, who arrived on the scene shortly afterward with two other officers. They entered the house through the side window and they found the dining room in confusion, on the table was a lot of valuable silverware and small things ready to be taken out of the house. The officers hurried to the second floor and in the bedroom found everything in disorder.

It was not until they reached the third floor in their hurried search for the burglar that they came upon Cunningham standing in the corner of a bedroom with a revolver in each hand. He shouted a warning to the officers that he would shoot if they attempted to capture him.

Chief Mitchell and Officer Neagle rushed into the room at the same time. Cunningham had the revolver levelled directly at them as they entered, but did not shoot. The revolver were found to be loaded, and around the young man's waist was a cartridge belt filled with ammunition.

Cunningham first gave his name as Benson and said he came from Albany, N. Y. He was recognized at the station house by an officer and later admitted his identity and confessed, as the police say, that he entered two houses in Auburndale last week, the home of W. Kirke Corey, 1830 Commonwealth avenue, and Harry Greenleaf, 2262 Commonwealth avenue. At the Corey home he secured $35 in cash, and at the Greenleaf home he took $11 in cash.

Cunningham admitted to the police that he entered the Bush home at 9 o'clock and had been ransacking the home for valuables up to the time of his capture at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

DRACUT FARMER

Sold Pig Not Stamped According to Law

Odious Dracut of Dracut was before the board of health yesterday afternoon to explain why it was that he sold a pig to a Lowell dealer without the pig being passed upon by the Dracut inspector. The Lowell inspectors found the pig in a Mosely street market and tagged him not stamped according to law.

Mr. Dracut admitted that he knew the law and that he should have had the pigker passed upon by the Dracut inspector before selling it, but he said that the stamp of the inspector didn't make the pork any better.

The board took the matter under consideration and decided that in order not to get the pig taken up with other members of the porking family that have been distributed by the inspector's stamp, that it would be best to send the unstamped one to South Lowell to the rendering works.

Having disposed of the pig, the board then turned its attention to the man who sold it, Mr. Dracut, and he was taken before the board by the Dracut inspector before selling it, but he said that the stamp of the inspector didn't make the pork any better.

John J. Higgins was given leave to withdraw on his petition to maintain a certain plumbing in the basement of a building at Hanover and Market streets.

George W. Poore, representing Mrs. Ruggs who owns property at 117 Merrimack street, was in conference with the board relative to sanitation in the building. C. A. Wilson was granted a license to collect soil.

REGISTRATION OF MAIL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The fee for the registration of mail will be increased from eight to ten cents after November 1st, 1910, according to an order signed by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The maximum indemnity allowed for the loss of a registered article has also been increased from $25 to $50 by the order.

THE CONSTIPATION EVIL

IS RESPONSIBLE FOR MOST CASES OF PILES

Constipation paralyzes the blood vessels of the lower bowel, and often causes piles. Women, and all other indoor workers, are the most frequent sufferers. But curing constipation alone won't cure piles. A special medicine is needed—internal treatment to strengthen the flabby veins and start pure blood circulating.

Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid is the only internal pile cure. Sold under guarantee, $1 at Carter & Sherburne's or Dr. Leonard's Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

HORNE COAL CO.

THE FINEST SELECTION OF COAL THEY HAVE HAD FOR SEVERAL YEARS. PRICES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

TEMPORARY QUARTERS

Nelson's 5c and 10c Store

Near Elevator

PRESIDENT TAFT

To be Guest at Great Banquet in Boston Tonight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—All arrangements for a temporary transfer of the summer White House from Beverly to this city in connection with President Taft's attendance at the banquet tonight of the Boston Merchants' Association, and preliminary to the departure of the chief magistrate of the nation on his 13,500-mile swing around the country, were completed before noon today. Hotel Touraine, where the president will spend the last night of his vacation in Massachusetts, is ready to receive the distinguished guest; Merchants' hall, where 200 business men and the notable guests of the chamber of commerce will listen to the first speech which the president has made since the passage of the tariff bill, has been beautifully decorated, and on more than a score of long tables covers have been laid for the largest banquet ever served in this city. Out in the courtyard of the Boston & Albany division of the New York Central railroad are the three cars which will constitute the presidential special on the trip through three-quarters of the states in the union.

The president planned to leave Beverly at 3 p. m. today in one of his automobiles, and bring Mrs. Taft, either a part or all of the 255 miles which will be a sort of warming-up spin to the thirteen thousand or more that are to follow.

CAPT. PHELAN DEAD

Was Nearly Murdered in O'Donovan Rossa's Office

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 14.—Capt. Thomas Phelan, who was charged with treason to the cause of Ireland by O'Donovan Rossa, chief of the dynamite campaign against Great Britain, and was murdered in Rossa's New York office, Jan. 10, 1885, died yesterday in this city, which had been his home for 25 years.

Capt. Phelan was born in Ireland in 1836, but travelled much about the world and won the reputation of an expert with the broadsword and the pistol. He served with distinction in the army and was promoted for gallantry in action.

His activities in the Irish cause now became generally known after he had been nearly killed by Richard Short in New York. It then developed that Captain Phelan had gone to England from America in 1883, about the time that 10 men were sent from this country by the leaders of the Fenian cause here for the purpose of killing Carey, who had turned informer against the men who killed Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke in Phoenix park.

Phelan shot at Short when the latter was taken to his side to be identified, but the bullet glanced off a metal badge in Short's pocket. It then appeared that Phelan had been quoted a week previously in the Kansas City Journal as having given an interview describing how he had prevented an explosion of dynamite upon a steamship, the British Queen.

Phelan was reported to have said that while he was in England in 1883 he learned that in the Kansas City Journal the informer, who had taken passage on the steamer British Queen, but failed to do so.

Carey, however, was shot by Patrick O'Donnell on his way to Cape Town.

NO WORD FROM HARMON

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 14.—Although no word had been received up to 11.15 a. m. today from Clifford B. Harmon, the New York man who yesterday made a flight alone in the balloon Pittsfield in the heart of the Berkshires, no alarm over his safety was expressed in aeronautical circles here. Mr. Harmon had previously made nine ascensions and on yesterday's flight, his tenth, he was unattended, in order that he might qualify as a balloon pilot.

The ascension was made at 2.30 p. m. and the balloon started in a northeasterly direction. Because of the frequency of ascensions in this vicinity no attempt was made to follow the progress of the balloon. It is believed that Mr. Harmon landed safely in some isolated region and packed the balloon for shipment to this city without notifying any of the local aeronauts of his landing.

WE CARRY A COMPLETE LINE OF

Household Furnishings

AT LOWEST PRICES, AND ARE SOLE AGENTS IN LOWELL FOR THE CELEBRATED

Crescent Range

PETER DAVEY

134 MARKET STREET

Furniture Dealer — Undertaker — Funeral Director

Telephone Connection 79-2

O'LEARY'S CHALLENGE

Has Been Accepted by a Boston Business Man

Who Will Back a Runner Against Dan for $200 up as Soon as Latter is Ready — Match Will Take Place in Lowell

Dan O'Leary's challenge to the Marathon runners has been read in Boston by E. C. Holske, a wholesale grocer at 14 Oxford street, and accepted, and here is Mr. Holske's letter:

Boston, Sept. 13, 1909.

The Sporting Editor of the Lowell Sun:

Notice in the Lowell Sun of last Friday that Dan O'Leary, the old time champion long distance walker, was credited with having walked five miles in a time of 40 minutes in an exhibition on the automobile grounds, and subsequently he comes forward with a proposition to walk six miles while a runner covers ten miles.

While I have the utmost respect for Dan as having once been our champion long distance walker, I must take exception to the forty minute story, because that time was fast enough to put any of the short distance men to hotel by 10 p. m. Twelve hours later the track must either have been short

IN BOLD ROBBERY

By Negro Farmhand, Lone Woman Was Cruelly Treated

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Sept. 14.—Attacked in the yard at her farm home near Marlton and beaten into helpless, bound hand and foot and then placed between two beds, where she would be helpless, Mrs. William Mortland, 30 years of age, was thus brutally treated yesterday as a part of the plan of Samuel Layfield, colored, an employee of the farm, to rob the house during the absence of the woman's husband on a trip to Morestown near here. The negro found a gold watch and chain and $50 in money and with these he left in the direction of Morestown. On the road he met Mr. Mortland returning home and to keep him away from the house he told him that a man had called at the house to buy the team of mules that the farmer had to sell but had been told of waiting and had gone to Morestown to wait. The farmer turned about and took Layfield into Morestown with him so the prospective purchaser would not be missed. The two waited for nearly two hours without success, and then Mortland decided to return home. The negro boarded a trolley car and has not been seen since. During all this time Mrs. Mortland lay helpless between the two beds and almost unable to breathe. She suffers from nervous shock.

TWO MISSING

NO TRACE OF VICTIMS OF CELLAR HOTEL DISASTER

PITTSBURG, Sept. 14.—Although two men are missing, an all-night search failed to increase the casualties caused yesterday when the walls of the burned building of a storage house fell, demolishing the Hotel Cella next door. One man was killed and a score injured. It is believed the bodies of the missing men are under the debris.

BULLET IN BRAIN

Man Discharged From Hospital as Cured

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—With a 22 calibre bullet imbedded in the center of his brain, fired there with suicidal intent more than two weeks ago, Frank B. Blaine left the Casualty hospital in this city yesterday, discharged as cured. He said he suffered no discomfort other than pains in the head and neck and he talked rationally at all times. The surgeons at the hospital said they detected no ill effects from the bullet in the brain and it is their belief that he will not suffer from it in future years. An X-ray photograph of the young man's head showed the bullet imbedded in the center of the brain.

GREAT FLEET

TO MAKE TRIP UP THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—With the arrival here today of one torpedo boat destroyer and three torpedo boats of the United States navy which have been ordered to accompany the fleet of President Taft and his party from St. Louis to New Orleans, the beginning of the journey of the largest of the fleet of modern vessels of the American navy up the Mississippi river for such a distance is begun. The start up stream will be made in three or four days and the trip to St. Louis will be leisurely.

ONLY 1500 NAMES

WERE SECURED TO A RECALL PETITION

HAVERHILL, Sept. 14.—Ex-Mayor Flanders yesterday announced that he had only secured 1500 names on the petition circulated for two months for the recall of Mayor Moulton, Aldermen Desmond and Harris and Dr. John P. Croston and Miss Anne M. Wheeler, the two-year members of the school board.

ASTOR ARRIVES

REPORT IS DENIED

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—John Jacob Astor arrived from Southampton today on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

REPORT IS DENIED

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—A report that the Rev. Frank Gussakus, president of Amour Institute, this city, had received a call to the pastorate of St. Nicholas church, New York, was denied by Dr. Gussakus today.

A THOUSAND CORDS OF WOOD

For all kinds for sale. Prompt delivery. Wholesale or retail. Tel. 3329. A. A. Brown, 13 Island st.

THE PRESIDENT

To Spend Next Summer at Beverly

BEVERLY, Sept. 14.—President Taft rose early on this his last morning in Beverly and summoning both Secretary Carpenter and Assistant Secretary Foster to his cottage placed into a mass of correspondence which had accumulated over night. Things were going with a rush both at the cottage and at the executive offices today and when the president motored to Boston at 3 o'clock this afternoon the office force of clerks, stenographers and messengers will be only left on hand to handle the 327 train.

The office furniture, files, etc., brought to Beverly from Washington will be stored for use again next summer. President Taft hopes to spend at least three months here in 1910.

CONGRATULATIONS TO PEARY

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 14.—The Imperial Russian Geographical society has sent a dispatch to Commander Peary congratulating him upon the discovery of the North pole. The society has expressed no opinion regarding the Peary-Cook controversy.

MRS. EATON'S CONDITION

Mrs. Fanny Eaton of Brockton, who was injured while watching the races in Lawrence avenue on Labor day, is recovering comfortably at the Lowell general hospital where she was taken immediately after the accident.

MONEY TO LOAN

NOTES OF SALARIED PEOPLE and others bought without discount, easy payments. Offices in 66 principal cities. Don't be deceived by misleading advertisements. Investigate actual terms of others, then secure money by trading with D. H. Tolman, Room 48, 45 Merrimack st.

WE LOAN MONEY IN HURRY $10 AND UPWARDS

Now is the time everyone needs a little ready cash, perhaps your vacation has caused you to run behind with your grocery and landlord, compelling you to deprive yourself of many home comforts.

THINK!

How much better it would be to secure a loan FROM US, large enough to pay them and regain your peace of mind, also retaining your credit. $10 to $1000 with no pay the loan, principal and charges.

OUR RATE THE LOWEST IN THE CITY.

AMERICAN LOAN CO.

AGENTS, Room 10, Hill-dreth building, 45 Merrimack st.

OPEN EVENINGS THIS WEEK

MONEY

—AT—

One Per Cent

Do you have small outstanding bills? If so, come to us, and we will be pleased to furnish you with money to pay them off at One Per Cent. Monthly, returnable in small installments to suit your ability.

LOANS

made on short notice without publicity. To clerks, people, merchants, farmers, and others. Pianos and furniture a specialty. If not convenient to call, write or phone, and we will have our representative call on you.

Merrimack Loan Co

Room 8, 81 Merrimack st. Hours: 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.; Monday and Saturday until 9 p. m.

GREAT FLEET

TO MAKE TRIP UP THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—With the arrival here today of one torpedo boat destroyer and three torpedo boats of the United States navy which have been ordered to accompany the fleet of President Taft and his party from St. Louis to New Orleans, the beginning of the journey of the largest of the fleet of modern vessels of the American navy up the Mississippi river for such a distance is begun. The start up stream will be made in three or four days and the trip to St. Louis will be leisurely.

ONLY 1500 NAMES

WERE SECURED TO A RECALL PETITION

HAVERHILL, Sept. 14.—Ex-Mayor Flanders yesterday announced that he had only secured 1500 names on the petition circulated for two months for the recall of Mayor Moulton, Aldermen Desmond and Harris and Dr. John P. Croston and Miss Anne M. Wheeler, the two-year members of the school board.

ASTOR ARRIVES

REPORT IS DENIED

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—John Jacob Astor arrived from Southampton today on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse.

REPORT IS DENIED

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—A report that the Rev. Frank Gussakus, president of Amour Institute, this city, had received a call to the pastorate of St. Nicholas church, New York, was denied by Dr. Gussakus today.

A THOUSAND CORDS OF WOOD

For all kinds for sale. Prompt delivery. Wholesale or retail. Tel. 3329. A. A. Brown, 13 Island st.

COTTON FUTURES

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Cotton futures opened steady; Oct. 12.15; Nov. 12.10; Dec. 12.05; Jan. 12.00; Feb. 11.95; Mar. 11.90; Apr. 11.85; May 11.80.

The Races are Over

But you can get your clothes cleaned and pressed at the Merrimack Steam Dye House, 477 Merrimack st., at these popular prices:

Suits Cleaned and Pressed... $1.25
Coats and Vest Cleaned and Pressed... $1.00
Suits Sponged and Pressed... $1.00
Pants Cleaned and Pressed... $1.00
All kinds of ladies' wearing apparel done in first class style. Pressing and repacking at short notice. Orders called for and delivered.

MERRIMACK STEAM DYE HOUSE,

477 Merrimack st. Tel. 1305-3.

P. P. LEW, Proprietor.

LEGAL NOTICES

Under authority of Section 10, Chapter 10, of the Acts of 1885, I, Charles C. Quigley, of the County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, do hereby give notice that I have made written application to the Probate Court of the County of Essex, State of Massachusetts, for the appointment of a guardian of the estate of the said John M. Quigley, standing in my name.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

TEN LOTS OF LAND for sale at New Bedford, cheap for cash, or on terms of $1 down and $10 per month, or on terms of $1 down and $10 per month, or on terms of $1 down and $10 per month.

TWO LOTS OF LAND for sale

for building purposes, at New Bedford, on the direct line of the electric trolley. A fine opportunity to build a home away from the city. The lots at 40x100, 50x100 in all. Price $1500. We consider this a bargain. Apply to Sawyer & Sons, 100 State st., Boston, 103 Cross st., Lawrence, Mass. Tel. 1305-3.

COTTAGE HOUSE for sale

Newly painted; with large yard and shade trees; in good location. Call on D. H. Tolman, Room 48, 45 Merrimack st.

FLAT OF 4 ROOMS for sale

at New Bedford, on the direct line of the electric trolley. A fine opportunity to build a home away from the city. The lots at 40x100, 50x100 in all. Price $1500. We consider this a bargain. Apply to Sawyer & Sons, 100 State st., Boston, 103 Cross st., Lawrence, Mass. Tel. 1305-3.

COAT AND PANTS MAKER wanted

Apply to Central st., near City Hall.

SMART SALESMAN, with some experience in the grocery and provision business, wanted. Call evenings, 530 Middlesex st.

RIVERSIDE, HOLDERS-ON AND REPAIRERS

wanted to work on the new Riverside field work will commence October 1, 1909. Apply, either at that time on the job, or by letter, to The Dover Roller Works, Dover, New Jersey.

GROCERY CLERK wanted

One who can speak French. References required. Apply at Rustler Bros., Middlesex st.

AT ONCE, A BLACKSMITH wanted

J. L. Clark, 140 Central st., Lowell; Tel. 213-4.

AGENTS WANTED to sell a new invention of a smoker's case, containing complete outfit; can make $5.00 or $10.00 a day. Address N. Bellis, Manchester, Mass.

AN OLD LADY wanted to take care of 3 children. Inquire 1017 Gosham st.

EXPERIENCED CHAMBER MAID wanted. Apply New American Hotel.

ONE LINING MAKER, one sticher on lace row and one top sticher wanted. Apply Federal Shoe Co., Lowell, Mass.

MAN WANTED to sell Harvey's pure horse radish. Italian roots for sale. 43 Tyler st.

EXPERIENCED TABLE GILL and cook wanted. Call 21 Brookline st.

GIRL WANTED for general housework in a boarding house, no cooking. 42 Central st.

MIDDLE AGED WOMAN wanted as housekeeper, in widower's family. Protestant preferred. Apply 55 Wamsutter st.

A GOOD HAREM and evening sales girl wanted at once, also one appointed at Agnes Bernard's Millinery Parlors, 22 Central st., Room 11. Take elevator.

MILLINER WANTED. Apply at 225 Middlesex st., L. Dunn.

WAITRESS and WAITRESS wanted at once. Apply at 127 State st., Middlesex st.

TABLE GIRL and chambermaid wanted at 8 Dutton st.

MACHINISTS WANTED—We have employment for a few competent men of good habits; nights. Apply Davis & Furber Machine Co., North Andover.

ADVERTISEMENTS to study for foot inspector, drug inspector and internal revenue. Excellent opportunity for grocery and drug clerks. Ed. J. Walsh, Wakefield, Mass.

MAKE $5 A DAY EASILY. Original selling plan. Necessities that are needed. Call at 127 State st., Middlesex st. Dopt. L. 611 Ann st., Mishawaka, Ind.

MACHINE PIN GRINDERS wanted. Apply W. H. Bagshaw, 11 Wilson st.

SEWERS WANTED on woolen goods. Apply Tailor Mills, North Andover, Mass.

TO LET

6-ROOM TENEMENT to let to man and wife. Thoroughly clean, near the mills. Price $2 per week. No. 4 Fulton street. Central st. References. Apply 25 Westford street.

6-ROOM TENEMENT to let. Inquire 127 State st., Middlesex st.

FURNISHED ROOM to let, 50 Twelfth Street if desired.

TENEMENT OF SIX LARGE ROOMS and bath, to let on Chestnut st. or on Lilley ave.

UP-TO-DATE TENEMENT of 7 rooms on 1st floor, at 19 Lombard st. to let. Bath, pantry, hot and cold water. Apply 28 Second ave. or 2 Thordike st.

TWO FURNISHED TENEMENTS for light housekeeping to let. Apply 347 Central st.

ROOM TO LET in bank building, Inquire Lowell Institution for Savings, 210 Central st.

FURNISHED FRONT ROOM and unfurnished rooms to let on Chestnut st. near Central st. Address D. G. Smith, 127 State st.

UP-TO-DATE TENEMENT of 7 rooms on 2nd floor, at 15 Lombard st. to let. Bath, pantry, hot and cold water. Apply 28 Second ave. or 2 Thordike st.

TWO TENEMENTS of 8 rooms, at 31 and 37 Stackpole st. to let. Rent $13 for each tenement. Apply 25 Adams st.

MODERN HOUSE of 8 rooms to let with every up-to-date convenience, large yard, fruit and shade trees, and small barn. Inquire 536 Rogers st.

MODERN TENEMENT of 6 sunny rooms to let, all modern improvements. 19 Whipple st.

TENEMENT of 6 rooms to let, up stairs, steam heat, bath, set runs, newly painted and papered. Apply 8 Wamsutter st.

APARTMENT of 6 ROOMS with modern improvements, at 137 State st. Inquire 137 State st. C. A. Roberts.

NEWLY FURNISHED ROOMS to let. Gentlemen preferred. Next to the Lowell Institution, 250 Worthen st. Meals if desired.

3-ROOM TENEMENT at 43 Barclay st. to let. Rent $9 a month. Apply Phillips & Schurz Furniture Co., 322 Middlesex st.

4-ROOM TENEMENT 3 rooms to let, on 1st floor, bath, furnace, gas, and fruit trees, door and window openings, 15 minutes to P. V. Every day. Inquire 137 State st. Tel. 2323-2 before 3 a. m.

FLAT OF 7 ROOMS, in Oakland, to let; modern improvements. Apply 470 Tuckers st.

STORE TO LET with tenement of 4 rooms connecting at 34 North st. Rent reasonable. Apply at 34 North st.

TWO SMALL STORES to let. Nos. 531 and 533 Gosham st. and railroad bridge. Rent $7 each per month. Will let them up to suit tenant. Inquire at 937 Gosham st.

TWO STORY HOUSE with store, in good condition, to let with and without addition if wanted. Also new house 4 rooms, modern conveniences. Inquire 222 Lincoln st.

NEW 4 AND 5 ROOM FLATS to let on 1st floor, bath, furnace, gas, and fruit trees, door and window openings, 15 minutes to P. V. Every day. Inquire 137 State st. Tel. 2323-2 before 3 a. m.

FURNISHED or UNFURNISHED rooms to let for light housekeeping. Electric light. 75 East Merrimack st.

STORE TO LET, cor. Broadway and Willsie st. Inquire O'Brien's drug store.

WANTED

OLD FEATHER BEDS wanted. Guaranteed to pay double the amount of any other dealer. Also old-fashioned furniture. Send orders to L. David, Gen. Delivery, Lowell.

TWO or THREE FURNISHED ROOMS to let, in good location. Suitable for light housekeeping. Call or write, J. P. Wham, 35 Riverside st.

I PAY THE HIGHEST PRICE in cash for any kind of second-hand goods. Call or send postal. W. Fox, 650 Middlesex st.

OLD FEATHER BEDS wanted. Guaranteed to pay double the amount of any other dealer. Also old-fashioned furniture. Send orders to L. David, Gen. Delivery, Lowell.

WHEELER & WILSON SEWING MACHINE for sale, cheap; in good running order. Inquire 4 Tyler st.

DESK CHAIR, out little used, for sale. Also Knights of Malta full regalia. Inquire at 137 State st.

WHITE STEAMER for sale, guaranteed to be in perfect condition. Will demonstrate. Inquire J. T. Adams, 44 Leverett st. Telephone 630.

UPRIGHT PIANO for sale. Fine music. Inquire at 137 State st.

HAILEY & DAVIS SQUARE PIANO, for sale. $120 octaves. Inquire at 206 Pleasant st.

LUNCH ROOM for sale. Good chance for live man. Must be sold at once. Address E. L. P. Sun Office.

LOST AND FOUND

IF THE PERSON who took the handbag from train Saturday morning, and left it at 137 State st., would please return it to 137 State st. or call on telephone 137 State st. I will call and get same. W. J. Fletcher.

POCKETBOOK found (this noon in Merrimack st. near Central st. Lessor inquired at Sun office, please property and pay for adv.

11 PHOTOGRAPH POSTALS lost on Merrimack or Pawtucket sts. Finder return to Miss Amy Ryan, St. Patrick's House, 125 Chalmers st.

SMALL SUM OF MONEY found on Moore st. Owner can have same by proving property and paying for ad. at 18 St. James st.

CHILD'S LINEN COAT lost Wednesday on Moore st. near Central st. Finder return to Miss Amy Ryan, St. Patrick's House, 125 Chalmers st.

WILL THE PERSON who found the lady's open-face watch at Lakeview, Sept. 6, with initials O. A. A. on the cover, return it to 145 Church st. and receive the reward?

ROBBERY BEATS OF AMBER lost between Bay State Dye house and Broadway. Return 173 Broadway; reward.

GENTLEMAN'S SILVER LEVER WATCH and gold chain lost, Sept. 3, between Merrimack and Middlesex sts. Reward by inquiring at Sun Office.

THE TAILORS RULE made easy for dressmakers. Taught by M. J. Greaves, former principal of Lowell Dress Cutting school, Parkview house, 131 East Ave. Tel. 137 State st. Send postal for day or evening classes. Paris fashions cut and fitted.

ROOMS PAPERED, $125. We will paper your room with new, up-to-date wall paper for $125. Send postal for samples. H. J. McCarthy, 241 Broadway.

I WISH TO INFORM the public I do first-class dressmaking. Ladies' suits, one-piece dresses at low prices. Mrs. P. S. Jones, 125 Chalmers st.

A PERFECT SCALP CLEANER. Our application works wonders. Dr. Kinsman's Hair Vigor, 100 Doves.

MATERNITY NURSE, Mary A. McCall, 434 Gosham st. Davis sq.

WILL PAY THE HIGHEST PRICES for old-fashioned furniture and feather beds. Inquire at 137 State st.

KATHERINE P. MCKINNON, pianist, concert, and massaging. 25 East Merrimack st.

FISHERMEN take notice, fresh picked worms for sale at 137 State st. Tel. 137 State st.

THE SUN IN BOSTON—The Sun is on sale every day at both news-stands of the Boston station in Boston. Don't forget the when taking your train for Lowell.

WE WANT 5000

People who need MONEY at once to know that we are loaning money at the lowest rates. Call or write and we will have our representative call on you.

WE ARE THE LEADERS in our line, and THE MOST RELIABLE LOAN CO. in Lowell.

REMEMBER the name! It will save you money.

Call and investigate before going elsewhere! It will pay you.

IF Interested, call, write or phone 1304.

National Loan Co.

40 CENTRAL ST.

TRAINS TO AND FROM BOSTON

SOUTHERN DIV.		WESTERN DIV.
To Boston.	From Boston.	To Boston.	From Boston.
Low. Arr. 6:00	Low. Arr. 6:00	Low. Arr. 6:00	Low. Arr. 6:00
6:05	6:05	6:05	6:05
6:10	6:10	6:10	6:10
6:15	6:15	6:15	6:15
6:20	6:20	6:20	6:20
6:25	6:25	6:25	6:25
6:30	6:30	6:30	6:30
6:35	6:35	6:35	6:35
6:40	6:40	6:40	6:40
6:45	6:45	6:45	6:45
6:50	6:50	6:50	6:50
6:55	6:55	6:55	6:55
7:00	7:00	7:00	7:00
7:05	7:05	7:05	7:05
7:10	7:10	7:10	7:10
7:15	7:15	7:15	7:15
7:20	7:20	7:20	7:20
7:25	7:25	7:25	7:25
7:30	7:30	7:30	7:30
7:35	7:35	7:35	7:35
7:40	7:40	7:40	7:40
7:45	7:45	7:45	7:45
7:50	7:50	7:50	7:50
7:55	7:55	7:55	7:55
8:00	8:00	8:00	8:00

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

At the Opera House last night the ever popular Daniel Sully presented the comedy drama "The Matchmaker" to a fair sized audience. After the carnival and the vacation amusements of last week the people had not recovered their normal state of mind to turn out to any show in large numbers. Sully appeared in his favorite role of a Catholic priest and his acting in that capacity could not well be improved upon. He was called upon to straighten out love affairs, to quell disturbances, to help the needy and restrain the wrongdoers, and in each particular case he displayed a benevolent spirit and an unaffected humor that was highly enjoyed by the audience. The supporting company is very good, but "Father Day" is the principal part of the show, the tangles, misunderstandings, the love and hate which he has to unravel, explain and harmonize are all framed to give the star an opportunity to display his talent. Towards the close of the play when "Father Day" after a lot of strenuous work, had succeeded in making everybody good and everybody happy, he turned to the great day of his triumph. He had written it down but stuck it into some pocket and lost it. After some mental rumination on what he had accomplished to undo so many couples he struck upon the testis of "Father Day" and with which the curtain went down.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

In the lives of the saddest of us there are bright moments when we feel as if we could take the great world in our arms, and if you would experience such a moment go to Hathaway's. The show this week is a sure cure for the blues. Every feature of the bill is good, and "School Boys and Girls" and "Nick Carter" are the two big features. "School Boys and Girls" is the funniest skit ever. Of course, the scene is a school room, and in that school room there are some of the worst "cut ups" that ever walked a longer. Gertrude Moulton is the monitor, and she's as cute a little schoolmarm as ever wore a belt. The other girls have a variety of dispositions to deal with. It is what might well be called a rollicking act, and something that makes the feet good all over. It includes good dancing and singing, and a little ball playing, a game of "catch" with the audience. Lillian Gohn is the comedienne of the group and she is particularly cute, especially in overalls. The boys and the girls and the characters which they represent are: Carolyn Waide, "Daisy Day," Mary Smith, "Fresky Butinsky," May Collins, "Gladie," Lillian Gohn, "Pat and Levey," Abe Frank, "Tony Marjucella," Frank Alvin, "Spite Dugan," and "Louis Hunt," the Gorden brothers, and the monitor, Gertrude.

The musical numbers are: "Schoolmates," Carolyn Waide; "My Cousin Caruso," Frank Alvin; "Next to You," Love My Ungele Best; "Miss Gohn," The Light of the Silver Moon; the Gorden brothers; "Come On, Play Ball With Me," "Hearts," Miss Moulton, and "The Paper Hat Brigade," Miss Waide.

Tom Barry & Co. in "Nick Carter," are responsible for a great deal of rich entertainment, in which the new comedy, whose hero is Nick Carter, cuts a wide swath. The characters in the travesty are:

Nick Carter, a hero, Allen Reese; Jack Carter, a villain, Fred. Faber; Lily, a lady villain, Margaret Dow; Micky Flynn, a messenger boy.

The whole thing is a dream of Micky Flynn. Micky has been sent out with a message to a place called Hell-and-gone, and it is certainly a lonesome place. Micky, waiting for a car, planks himself on a hydrant at a street corner, dives down into the depths of his hip pocket and pulls out—not a gun—his word that a dime novel, telling all about Nick Carter, the boy detective. Micky reads a while and falls asleep. All that he has read of the bravery and dare-devil doings of the "boy detective" comes floating back and Micky has the time of his life. He listens to a man and woman plotting to destroy the life of his hero, Nick Carter. Then the same couple calls on Micky to assist him in getting certain papers that are in the possession of the man and woman who have planned to do murder. To have Nick Carter come right up face to face and ask him to take a hand in one of his wonderful deeds, tickles Micky so that he laughs with his ears. The result is that before he gets through with his hero he discovers that he is the ranked kind of a coward. With his own hands Nick Carter handcuffed Micky and footcuffed him, too, and left him at the mercy of the man and woman who had murdered at their hearts. Well, when Micky woke up he just took that trashy novel, tore it into little pieces, threw it into the waste box on the corner and muttered "Never again." Micky was good, as were all others connected with the travesty. Margaret Dow is not a stranger in this city, having played here before but not in vaudeville. Acting comes natural to Margaret. She is all that the rule calls for.

WHEN ARCTIC EXPLORERS DISAGREE WHO SHALL DECIDE?

All other numbers on the bill are good. Hilda Hawthorne as a ventriloquist is excellent. She is a very attractive woman and she sings well. The dummy figure she uses is made to say some very funny and very wise things. The dummy's name is Johnnie Green. Perhaps the versatile instrumentalist is right there with the goods. His drum sounding of the army calls is especially good and he extracts good music from glasses partly filled with water. His greatest achievement, however, is with a mammoth xylophone. He closes his act with rapturous composition of his act. In this piece he uses four mallets.

Hashimoto is booked as a novelty juggler and sensational water spinner on roller skates, and he is all that the bill calls for. His act is so good that he is entirely out of the ordinary. The judges in their honorable Riskey-Ack upon the show, and they furnish an entertainment that is all to the good. Rowkey & Conway "In a Laugh, Some Talk, and a Song or Two" are exceptionally clever. For singing, dancing and repartee it would be hard to top them.

Breezy Point
TONIGHT
Thursday-Saturday

THEATRE VOYONS
FIRST AIRSHIPS CROSSING THE ENGLISH CHANNEL
Ten Cents—That's All.

STAR THEATRE
MERRIMACK STREET
Amateurs Tonight
2 to 5 SEATS 5c 7 to 10

Academy of Music
Tommy and Demara, Lessees.
HIGH CLASS VAUDEVILLE
Moving Picture—Illustrated Songs
Show afternoons and evenings.
Afternoon admission, 5c and 10c
Evening, 10c with seat. Few reserved seats at 15 cents.

HATHAWAY'S
Every Afternoon Week Sept. 13 Every Evening
GUS EDWARDS PRESENTS HIS SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS THREE JUDGES PARSHLEY ROCKWAY AND CONWAY HILDA HAWTHORNE MOVING PICTURES HASHIMOTO TOM BARRY & CO. IN "NICK CARTER"

Don't Forget the Ladies' Bargain Matinee—7c

them and impossible to beat them. The moving pictures are good. Performances will be given every afternoon and evening for the remainder of the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
At the Academy of Music the bill this week is fully up to the high standard that has been maintained since the opening. An exceptionally expensive experiment tried by the management in an honest endeavor to make the Academy of Music the best popular priced theatre in Lowell has been successful beyond all expectation. The program which will be presented until Wednesday night inclusive includes Riley and Berkeley, an exceptionally clever singing and dancing team, Mr. Berkeley showing some of the most difficult eccentric steps ever attempted. The absolute control Frank Carman has over the rolling hoops and his clever manipulation of double "baton swinging" is marvelous. Miss Claudia Bessette renders that beautiful illustrated song, "Blue Feather," which easily stamps her as a favorite with the audience. The new "Travellette" views of the world, and three reels of the very latest and best moving pictures, complete a program that cannot be excelled for the small price charged, 5 and 10 cents, with a few reserved at 15 cents.

STAR THEATRE
"Hurrah, My Wife's Gone. To the Star Theatre. It's amateur night up there, and I guess those would-be actors don't keep your sides bursting with laughter." "That's what they all say," dear public. The amateurs, no matter how good or how uncouth they are, entertain hundreds of people every Tuesday night. It is expected that there will be some new faces among the would-be actors when they take the boards this evening. There are quartets, soloists, David Warfields, Geo. M. Coburn and Harry Landers galore.

Tomorrow there will be a complete change in the program. Five cents admission includes a good seat, and one feature of the big program is alone worth the money.

THEATRE VOYONS
The showing of the motion pictures of Egypt crossing the English channel at the Theatre Voyons today, is only more evidence of the up-to-date and progressive nature of this theatre. It is not for nothing that this picture is the greatest news picture ever shown, picturing as it does a new era in transportation.

BREEZY POINT
So many people have requested it, the management of Breezy Point has decided to have a post season series of dances at Breezy Point and the hall will be open tonight, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. The very best food and car service will be maintained all week night and every one that will add to the enjoyment of the patrons of Breezy Point will be done. Tonight, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings will be big nights at Breezy Point.

AT SPALDING PARK
Of all the kicking, biting, obstreperous members of the animal kingdom, Barne's donkey, with Demarest's free animal show at Spalding Park this week, must rank as one of the prize winners.

ABOUT SHAVING
If you can't use an old fashioned razor and even if you can, you'll find one of our warranted safety razors is what the doctor ordered. We say warranted and mean it. As we'll return your money if the razor is not entirely satisfactory. Gillette, Gem Junior, Gem Razor, Auto Shave and Ever Ready from $1.00 to $7.50. Samples of J. & J. Shaving Cream and Gillette's Rapid Shave Powder free on the asking. Howard, the Druggist, 197 Central street.

Barne doesn't look it. He's just the most peaceable little animal that ever permitted a bridle to hang on his head.

Lowell Opera House
Proprietor—JULIUS CAHN—Manager

Thursday, Sept. 16
DAVID BELASCO
PRESENTS

The Girl of the Golden West

A DRAMA OF CALIFORNIA IN THE DAYS OF '49
By David Belasco

As played for two consecutive years at the Belasco Theatre, New York City.
Stupendous Production
Strong Company of Players

Prices: $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c
SEATS ON SALE

Friday and Saturday
Sept. 17 and 18
A Remarkable Society Play of American Life.
"The World and the Woman"

By JOSEPH BYRON TOTTEN
Prices: 10c, 15c, 25c, 50c, 75c, 1.00, 1.50
Mat. 50c, 25c, 15c. Seats on sale.

ANNUAL FALL EXCURSION
TO NEW BOSTON
THURSDAY, SEPT. 23
VIA THE DEERFIELD VALLEY ROUTE and the HUDSON RIVER, arriving in New York City in time to attend the official opening exercises of the HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION one of the greatest events in American history.

ROUND TRIP Special Train Leaves at 8.55 A.M.
For details see HAND BILLS or apply to B. & M. Ticket Offices

BOSTON AND MAINE RAILROAD

At SPALDING PARK
DEMAREST'S TERRIBLE BARNEY and the
MIRACULOUS EQUINES

The most remarkable combination of a Wild West Show, Circus and Trained Horse exhibition ever seen.

SEE ABSOLUTELY FREE
Cupid, the educated high school horse; Major McKinley, record high jumper; Terrible Barney, the bucking donkey; Little Teddy, the smallest horse in the world; Clifton Boy, the thrilling bucking broncho; Cowboys and expert Equestrians; also a fine band concert.

FREE EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING
WEEK BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 13
NO ADMISSION WILL BE CHARGED

WALTER E. GUYETTE, Auctioneer
Office, Rooms 77-78 Central Block. Telephone 2415.

Saturday, Sept. 18, 1909, at 3 o'clock P. M.

AUCTION SALE OF A 2 1/2 STORY HOUSE AND 20,000 SQ. FT. OF LAND, SITUATED AT NO. 79 LLEWELLYN STREET.

On the date set apart I will offer for sale at public auction a two and one-half story house, situated within 3 minutes' walk of the First street line of electric. The house comprises eight large rooms, well lighted, bath, hot and cold water, set tubs, cemented cellar, house heated throughout by steam, hard wood floors in part. There are 20,000 square feet of land with a frontage of 116 feet; the lot is excellently graded, beautiful lawns and an abundance of fruit.

This property sits on a crest of Christian Hill and commands a magnificent view of the Merrimack valley. The house is in excellent condition inside and out, and no money has been spared in keeping up the same to its present perfect shape. If you are looking for a home complete in every particular, do not fail to attend this sale as someone will realize a great bargain. Terms: $300 to be deposited with the auctioneer as soon as struck off. Other terms at sale. Per order of JOHN KERR.

but when that bridle comes off and some one attempts to have a ride on Barne's little back, there is trouble galore. Any man, woman or child who is able to stay on Barne's back for a brief time receives 15c.

The show is under direction of Mme. Lillian Schaefer, considered the most expert equestrienne in the world. Mme. Schaefer puts her horses through various stunts, the climax of her work being when she jumps the hurdles with Major McKinley, a steed of much grace and beauty. Mrs. Schaefer is said to be the highest taken by any horse. The bucking broncho is another feature. Clifton Boy doing the kicking and one of the showmen the taming. Cupid, the dancing equine of the show, has a great ear for music, and under the guiding hand of Mme. Schaefer keeps perfect time with the band.

The Demarest show is said to be one of the most expensive of its kind ever put on at a park, and the Boston & Northern has shown much enterprise in bringing it to Lowell. Every afternoon and evening free performances, with band concerts, will be given this week. The grounds are illuminated by are lights at the evening performances.

CARD OF THANKS.
We, the undersigned, wish to thank our many friends who helped to lighten our sorrow in the loss of our son and brother, Edward, by their kind words of sympathy and floral offerings, and especially those of the Lowell Court house we are grateful to them, and will ever be remembered.

Signed, Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly and family.

MIDDLESEX NORTH
AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY AND CHELMSFORD GRANGE

FAIR
CHELMSFORD CENTRE
Wednesday—Thursday
SEPTEMBER 15 and 16.
$600 IN PREMIUMS

WEDNESDAY:
Concert by Chelmsford Brass Band at 8 p. m.

Fair Open All Evening
THURSDAY:
2 p. m. Baby Show, 12 prizes. Ages 1 month to 2-1-2 years. 15 spot prizes valued at $50, now on exhibition in Brazer's window.

GRAND GRANGE EXHIBITS
All exhibits except cattle must be entered before 12 m. Wednesday. Cattle before 9 a. m. Thursday. No exhibit to be removed before 4 p. m. Thursday. ADMISSION 25c.

New Palace Theatre
WEEK SEPT. 13
Another banner bill. Miss Barry, sourette; Mark Cobden, Scotch comedian; Fostelle and Emmet, minstrel duo; Bert Lawrence, "The Bell Boy"; Grace Holcomb, musical artist; Delmar and O'Dell, barrel jumpers; Prof. Carey, magician. The show starts daily, Matinee, 2.30. Price 15c. Evening, 7.30 and 9. Price 10c and 20c.

A DAY OFF AT LAKE SUNAPEE

THURSDAY, Sept. 16, 1909
FROM LOWELL, MASS.

$2.00 ROUND TRIP $2.00
SPECIAL TRAIN LEAVES 8.45 A. M.

ONE OF THE DELIGHTFUL OUTINGS OF THE SEASON.
INCLUDING A GRAND AND INTERESTING STEAMER TRIP ON THE LAKE.

Viewing a Peerless Panorama
—OF—
Natural Scenic Grandeur.

You Can't Afford to Miss This Trip.

BOSTON AND MAINE RAILROAD

CURTIN & SPILLANE
Plumbers, Steam and Gas Fitters
Estimates Cheerfully Given
26 ANDOVER ST. TEL. 2429

Killpartrick
Peaches for Canning Now
Merrimack Square

THE WINCHESTER
America's Greatest Heater. Handled in Lowell Exclusively by WELCH BROS., 63-65 Middle Street
Steamfitters and Plumbers
Tel. 372 or 373. If one is busy call other.

Big Furniture Sale
At Keyes' Commission Rooms
OLD B. & M. DEPOT, GREEN STREET
ON NEXT THURSDAY, SEPT. 16th
COMMENCING AT 1.30 P. M.

D. E. HOGAN, Auctioneer
Office of Collins & Hogan, Mansur Block, Cor. Central and Market Sts.
TELEPHONE 2245.

Here is a chance for some business man to buy a home in the Highlands.

Tomorrow Afternoon at 3 O'Clock
AUCTION SALE OF RESIDENCE AND STABLE IN THE HIGHLANDS
AT 19 ROBINS STREET, CONTAINING ABOUT 7313 SQUARE FEET OF LAND.

I will sell at public auction, regardless of any condition of the weather, my house and stable to the highest bidder. The house consists of a large hall, parlor, sitting-room, dining-room, kitchen, summer kitchen and store-room down stairs and 3 large chambers upstairs, hot and cold water, furnace heat and cemented cellar. The stable has two stalls and large carriage shed; the lot contains about 7313 square feet and land with a number of fruit trees. This residence and stable is situated in the Highlands on Robins street, near the corner of Westford street. It is high and dry and the best location in the city for a desirable home for a business man.

Terms: $500 must be paid or secured to the auctioneer as soon as the premises are struck off. Other terms will be made known at the time of the sale.
ARTHUR H. HOSFORD.

OUR NEW WALL PAPER DEPT.
Opens Tomorrow
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 15
25,000 Rolls All New Wall Papers
On Sale—Great Many at Half Price

NELSON'S COLONIAL DEPARTMENT STORE
Reliable Paper Hangers furnished when desired. See Windows
English and French wallpaper.

EXTRA

GAGNON IS GUILTY

He Was Convicted of Illegally Keeping Liquor

Joseph O. Gagnon of Dracut was arraigned before Judge Hadley this afternoon at a special session of the police court, and pleaded guilty to complaints charging him with illegally keeping and exposing for sale intoxicating liquors and maintaining a liquor nuisance. He was fined $50 on the

INQUEST HELD

Into the Suicide of Mrs. Lawrence Perin

HARROW, England, Sept. 14.—The inquest was opened here today into the suicide last Saturday of Mrs. Lawrence Perin, daughter of the late Gen. Victor Sartori, who killed herself with a revolver in the home of Mr. Akroyd, where she was a guest. After taking the evidence of Mr. and Mrs. Akroyd, the investigation was adjourned until Sept. 22 at the request of the jury in order to permit Mrs. Perin's husband to attend.

A TIDAL WAVE MILLS ARE IDLE

Overwhelmed the Port of Mulege

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—The port of Mulege on the east coast of lower California was overwhelmed by a tidal wave Sept. 4. Mulege has a population of 1200 persons. There were a number of fatalities and considerable property was destroyed. The place is situated on an estuary with hills on each side. The tidal wave flooded the inland district for a distance of about two miles.

MRS. DUSSEAU DEAD.

Mrs. Louise Dusseault of 2 Parsons street died at St. John's hospital early this morning. Her death was the result of burns sustained in a lamp explosion. She was burned about the face, hands and neck. She was 62 years old.

Small Cost Great Pleasure

The electric toaster is very inexpensive in price and cost of current to operate—so dainty and attractive at the table, making the bread into crisp, brown slices of delicious toast. Let us send you one and you can try it yourself.

The Lowell
Electric Light
Corp.
50 Central St.

DEATHS

PEARSON—A Nashua despatch states: The body of Mrs. Hannah Edgerly Pearson, whose sudden death occurred at Littleton Monday will be brought to this city. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock in the Unitarian church and friends are invited. Burial will be by the side of her husband, the late Ambrose Pearson, in Nashua cemetery.

Mrs. Pearson was born in Barnstead 73 years ago and was the daughter of Samuel Johnson Edgerly and Mrs. Eliza (Bickford) Edgerly. She was graduated from the Manchester high school. She is survived by two sons, Frederick Stark Pearson of Great Barrington, an electrician now in Mexico, and Walter Ambrose Pearson, also an electrician, in Brazil; one daughter, Mrs. Carrie Smith of Vineland, N. J.; two brothers, Joseph G. Edgerly, superintendent of schools in Fitchburg, Mass., and Clarence M. Edgerly of Manchester, and one sister, Miss Araminta C. Edgerly of Manchester. Two of her brothers now dead were prominent men of affairs—Martin V. B. Edgerly, late of Springfield, Mass., the head of the Massachusetts Mutual Insurance company, formerly of Manchester and at one time democratic candidate for governor of New Hampshire, and Andrew J. Edgerly, formerly adjutant general of New Hampshire.

Her husband, Ambrose Pearson of this city, was eminent as a civil engineer. He was at one time connected with the railroad at Lowell. He was engaged in building the Wilton railroad, and the Manchester and Keene railroad and a section of the old Boston, Hartford and Erie railroad in Connecticut, and was engaged in railroad construction in Ohio, Illinois and New Jersey.

LITCHFIELD—Died in North Adams, Mass., Sept. 13, Mrs. Eva Williams Litchfield, aged 52 years, 5 months. She leaves to mourn for her a mother, Mrs. Julia Williams, and a sister, Miss Ethel Williams, both of this city. Burial will take place in Keene, N. H.

WE LIKE THE HARD JOBS.

Eyes Examined. Glasses Furnished. Prescriptions Filled. Glasses Repaired. Best in Lowell.

Caswell Optical Co., 11 Bridge St.

HENRI FERON

Man Wanted for Murder May Arrive in Lowell Tonight

Henri Feron, the alleged murderer of Supt. Rivers, who was apprehended in Seattle, B. C., will arrive in Lowell in the custody of Deputy Supt. Welch, Inspector Latham and Patrolman Giroux either late tonight or early tomorrow morning, according to a telegram sent by Deputy Welch to Acting Supt. James Brosnan.

The Lowell police are elated over the fact that Feron did not fight extradition, for if he had done so he could have put the police to a great deal of trouble as well as considerable unnecessary expense.

Immediately after the assault which resulted in the death of Mrs. Rivers, Brosnan issued circulars giving a description of Feron. Since then he has received hundreds of letters from people who claim to have seen Feron. These letters have come from all points of the compass and in the majority of the cases the writers have inquired as to the reward offered for the capture of the man.

According to the letters received by Supt. Brosnan, Feron has done a tremendous stunt and has broken all records for negotiating distance for he has been seen in about all parts of the country.

COMMANDER PEARY

Will Not Accept any Invitations to Receptions

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—That Commander Robert E. Peary will not accept any invitations to formal receptions which have been planned in his honor during his trip from Sydney, C. B., to New York, was made known here today. The explorer considers that his first duty is to his friends and supporters in New York.

Commander Peary's decision to decline all invitations until after his arrival in New York was made known in a message received today by George Norton, editor of the Portland Express. Mr. Norton had sent to Commander

LIVES IMPERILLED

By Bursting of Pipe in a Refrigerating Plant

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 14.—The bursting of an ammonia pipe in the refrigerating plant of the public market and of a blower pipe in the factory of E. C. Bliss & Co. on Sabin street today imperilled the lives of hundreds of clerks, workmen and shoppers. The noise made by the bursting blower pipe was heard all over the business district and it was feared that a bad explosion had taken place. Three men working nearby had their clothing stripped from

170 PUPILS REGISTERED AT THE NEW WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

About 170 pupils have registered at the new Washington school, and about four rooms of the new school are occupied. It will be some time before all of the ten rooms in the school will be occupied, but it is always well to build with an eye to the future. The four rooms occupied at the present time are occupied by the smaller pupils, and the teachers are Principal Barr, Miss Green, Miss Griffin and Miss Dow. The girls average 18 to the room. Practically all of the work inside the building is done, and at the present time a force of workmen is engaged in removing boilers from either side of the school.

RUSHING THE WORK.

The street railway company is busy in putting the work of putting in new rails and new ties in Merrimack street, and the street department will start in on the smooth paving of that street Thursday morning. It is the intention to work two shifts, and to do the job as quickly as possible. It is expected that before the first of November the Merrimack street and Merrimack bridge will be in keeping with Merrimack street.

GRAVESEND RACES.

GRAVESEND, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Four races six furlongs. Boston, 114, Grand 15 to 2, even, 1 to 2 first. Res. Queen, 112, Martin, 2 to 1, even, 1 to 2 second. Mary Davis, 102, Glass, 3 to 1, 2 to 1, 3 to 1 third. Time, 1:04 1/2.

Second race: Andrew Summers, 122, McAllen, 9 to 5, 5 to 1, 1 to 4, first. Robinson, 132, Davidson, 3 to 1, 5 to 1, 2 to 1 second. Alamsen, 140, Duper, 5 to 1, 3 to 1, 5 to 1, third. Time, 3:22.

CITY HALL NEWS

Purchasing Agent is Being Criticised

FOR NOT PATRONIZING HOME INDUSTRY

Local Concern Should Have Been Given Fire Wagon Contract—Mayor's Secretary Has Gone West—Meeting of Appropriations Committee Postponed

Purchasing Agent Mackenzie is meeting with more or less criticism because of the fact that he gave an out-of-town wagon when the bid of a local concern was but a few dollars more. His critics maintain that the contract should have gone to the local concern. A man who talked about the matter at city hall this forenoon said: "I believe that the contract should have gone to the local concern. The difference in price wasn't much, and if the wagon had been made here the purchasing agent and fire chief would have been able to see to it that the proper material was used. That wagon will come here all painted up and how will anybody know that the proper steel and the proper wood have been used?"

Search for Health

The mayor's private secretary, Alfred M. Caddell, has resigned and has gone west for his health. Mr. Caddell has gone to Seattle. It was reported this forenoon that Winifred C. MacBrayne would take up again the position of private secretary to the mayor, but that report was not given much credence at city hall.

Appropriation Committee

The meeting of the committee on appropriations has been postponed until one week from tonight. At that time the committee will hear from department heads who are looking for money to place them out for the year. A regular meeting of the common council is scheduled for this evening.

VARNUM SCHOOL

Bank is Proving a Great Success

The school bank in the Varnum school is proving a big success. During the last term of school the children took kindly to it and yesterday, the opening day of the fall term, no less than $262.32 was banked by the children. Principal Harris says that yesterday was the banner day for deposits. The school bank is looked upon by many parents as an exceptionally good thing. Its greatest mission is to teach the child to save his or her coppers and it cannot be other than a benefit to the pupil.

HOME SHATTERED

Because of Mrs. McCoy's Photo

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Cupid flew out of the window when the picture of Mrs. Norman Selby, the wife of "Kid" McCoy, the pugilist, was introduced as a parlor ornament in the home of John J. Bradley at 353 Central Park West. Bradley, junior member of the firm of William Bradley & Son, decorating contractors, insisted the photograph must come down off the wall, and had his way in spite of the objection of his wife.

Because of the quarrel over the prize-fighter's wife and other domestic disputes, Mrs. Bradley, who was formerly Miss Lillian E. Rustman of 158 Madison avenue will request the supreme court to grant her a legal separation from her husband. H. C. Quinby, her attorney, will plead in special term this morning for $500 a week alimony for his client and a counsel fee of $1500 to prosecute the action.

Bradley declares the fact that he informed his wife they would be unable to leave their beautiful apartment overlooking Central park for another year had much to do with the present status of their marital affairs. He asserts his wife was unwilling to regulate her expenditures according to his finances, which have not yet recovered from the panic of 1907.

The Bradleys were married in September, 1904. On the fifth anniversary of their wedding to a day the young husband prepared a surprise for his wife. He bought the finest bunch of roses he could find and sent them to the residence of her parents, where she was visiting. While the flowers were on the way a process server presented him with legal papers informing him that his wife had sued for a separation. They have one daughter, aged four years.

In her complaint Mrs. Bradley charges her husband has often abused her. He makes a general denial. He declares she met Mrs. Selby at Paul Smith's, in the Adirondacks, where he was hunting. Mrs. Selby became quite friendly with Mrs. Selby, much to his displeasure.

When the Bradleys returned to their Central Park West apartment, Mrs. Bradley hung the picture of the pugilist's wife in the Adirondacks above the fireplace. The husband ordered her to remove it. When she refused, he took the picture down himself and destroyed it. Mrs. Bradley, he asserts, became hysterical and hurled the frame at him.

Bookkeeper Wanted

Young man who is good bookkeeper and understands typewriting can find permanent employment by addressing J. San Office, stating experience, age, wages and references.

SESSION CLOSED

Criminal Court Adjourned to Cambridge Today

All Lowell Cases but One Were Disposed of—The Kerschener Family Troubles Heard Once More

"There's nothing more satisfactory to the court than to hear a good report from the probation officer," remarked Judge King at the opening of court today, when Probation Officer Ramsey reported favorably on the cases of two young men charged with drunkenness. The first trial reached was that of Charles E. Kerschener, charged with threatening his wife. This case, it will be recalled, was heard in the police court a short time ago. Kerschener had appealed from the finding of the lower court.

When asked what trouble she had on July 14th, Mrs. Kerschener replied: "On that date in my absence he brutally murdered my little pet dog."

Judge King immediately cautioned the witness that she was only to answer according to her own knowledge.

When the defendant took the stand in reply to the questions of Asst. Dist. Atty. Wier, he stated that one of the causes of their troubles was "dogs."

"Some dogs or a dog?" inquired the court.

"Five of them," said Kerschener.

"Did your wife object to you keeping them?" asked Mr. Wier.

"No, but I objected to paying taxes on so many of them."

James E. O'Donnell argued briefly for the defendant and Mr. Wier for the government.

In his charge to the jury Judge King deplored the presentation of so many matrimonial difficulties in the courts, and stated that one of the unfortunate matters for the judges to decide was to settle the differences of husband and wife.

The jury in the case returned a verdict of not guilty. It was out about 20 minutes.

During the recess several drunks were placed on probation, and Judge King addressed one of them as follows: "There are many black marks against your name, but the probation officer thinks that there is some manhood, some backbone, left in you. I hope there is, and I am going to give you an opportunity to show us that there is. Now is your time. Other men like you have saved themselves; go out and save yourself."

Joseph Bashau was called on a charge of disturbing the peace, but failed to respond, and was defaulted. William H. Regan was also adjudged in default.

At 11 o'clock everything on the Lowell list was cleaned up, except one case set down for trial at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Judge King announced the fact to the jurors, and stated that, if possible, the case would be called before the afternoon session.

John Norris, on the Cambridge list, charged with larceny, was called and defaulted.

After waiting until 11.30 for the next case, the court adjourned to Cambridge. Among the other sentences were the following: Joseph Richard and Joseph Belmont, breaking and entering at Cambridge, probation. William J. Lawton, breaking and entering, probation. William D. Carroll, drunkenness, probation. George Picramas, assault and battery, fined $25.

DRUNKEN COSSACK

Wounded Five Persons, Two of Whom May Die

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 14.—A drunken Cossack of Emperor Nicholas' bodyguard, enraged by the teasing of a number of children, ran amuck through the streets today with a drawn sabre. Before he was cornered and overpowered by soldiers he had dangerously wounded five persons, two of whom probably will die. The man chased a 5-year-old child into the court-yard of a jail where he struck the boy down with his sabre. He then invaded the laundry of the jail and inflicted a score of frightful wounds upon a laundress. His fifth victim was a soldier who he struck down before he was finally disarmed and secured.

BALL PLAYERS GONE

Only Two of the Lowell Team Still in Town

Put two of the Lowell team remain in this city, and those two, Joe Boyle and "Buck" Venable, depart tomorrow. They will proceed to Boston, where they will pay their respects to Fred Lake and then they will take in New York for a few days, after which they will part, Boyle going to his home in Driffton, Pa., and Venable to Washington, D. C.

No ball player ever made more friends in a short time than did little Joe Boyle, and all the local fans will watch his son close by he will go to his home in future with deepest interest. Already Oswego, N. Y. Pharty sails tomorrow for Boston and Cincinnati want him, but from New York for Panama, Accompanying in all probability will be given in a ride by his younger brother, Fitzpatrick, Lowell uniform next year, and then go to the big leagues, as he is young yet, and has plenty of time in which to go with the big fellows. Harry Huston, who made many friends by his steady and conventional playing and genial manner, departed last week for his home in Cambridge, Mass. McIntyre went back to Hudson, N. Y. Wilkie hiked for Sharon, Pa., Howard is in Dorchester, Mass., and on the bench at the Red Sox grounds, Duval has gone to Woonsocket, R. I., and to Randolph, Mass., LaBelle to Lynn, Vinson to Chester, Pa., and Whitebridge to Indianapolis. Danzig left this noon for Boston, where he will report to the Red Sox. After the season all the local fans will watch his son close by he will go to his home in future with deepest interest. Already Oswego, N. Y. Pharty sails tomorrow for Boston and Cincinnati want him, but from New York for Panama, Accompanying in all probability will be given in a ride by his younger brother, Fitzpatrick, Lowell uniform next year, and then go to the big leagues, as he is young yet, and has plenty of time in which to go with the big fellows. Harry Huston, who made many friends by his steady and conventional playing and genial manner, departed last week for his home in Cambridge, Mass. McIntyre went back to Hudson, N. Y. Wilkie hiked for Sharon, Pa., Howard is in Dorchester, Mass., and on the bench at the Red Sox grounds, Duval has gone to Woonsocket, R. I., and to Randolph, Mass., LaBelle to Lynn, Vinson to Chester, Pa., and Whitebridge to Indianapolis. Danzig left this noon for Boston, where he will report to the Red Sox. After the season all the local fans will watch his son close by he will go to his home in future with deepest interest.

HAZARD COMMITTED SUICIDE

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14.—Henry B. Hazard, who had been in ill health for some time, committed suicide by shooting at his home here today. He was 60 years of age and unmarried. For some years he drove a night-seeing omnibus during the summer seasons.

6 O'CLOCK

SEEKING CULPRIT

In the Murder and Kidnapping at Utica, N. Y.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Aside from the death of Fred Infusino, the second victim of the unknown kidnapper and murderer, which occurred this morning, there were no new developments today. The police report that they have now no one under arrest or under suspicion, and a reward of $500 has been offered by the city for information that shall lead to the arrest of the murderer. Every clue is being followed to the end. It is regarded at the hospital that Fanny Infusino has somewhat recovered from the shock of her long night vigil, the pain from her wound and the operation which she underwent, and it is believed that later in the day it will be possible to secure from her a better description of the murderer than has yet been had. But the authorities place little hope on that for they are not of the belief that a girl of six can give such description as will aid them greatly in tracking the criminal. The physicians state that she has considerable fever, and that it may be necessary to postpone any questioning until later in the week.

IN POLICE COURT AUTO CARNIVAL

Man in for Concealing Promoters Say it Was Leased Property Great Success

Alek Deponnas, who has a very poor memory, was brought before the local police court this morning on a complaint charging him with concealing an oil stove, bed, mattress and spring, the property of Adolphe Lamontagne. It seems that Alek purchased the above mentioned articles on a lease and besides forgetting to make the weekly payments which he agreed to do he sold the articles. This morning the complainant and defendant met and arranged the matter to their mutual agreement and when the case was brought before the court the complainant stated to the court that he had been reimbursed and the case was dismissed.

Case Continued
The case of Edward Flynn, charged with assault and battery, which has been continued several times, came up for trial this morning, but the man who it is alleged Flynn assaulted, is still in the hospital. The case was continued till a week from Saturday.

Case Dismissed
The case of Bridget Maguire, charged with assault and battery on Melinda Draddy, was placed on file owing to the non-appearance of the complainant.

Drunken Offenders
Peter J. Charette and Clarence E. Corbett, charged with drunkenness, were each fined $5.
There was one $2 drunk and two simple drunks were released.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. James F. King and Miss May C. Bowman, both of this city, were united in marriage last evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. R. A. Greene, D. D., at his home, 255 Stevens street.

ANGLIN-DELANEY

Mr. Jeremiah F. Anglin and Miss Martha Delaney, were united in marriage last Wednesday afternoon at the parochial residence of St. Michael's church, Rev. Denis F. Murphy officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss May Delaney and Mr. Daniel Callahan was best man. The bride was attired in white silk and carried a bouquet. The bridegroom was also prettily attired in a dress of white. Mr. and Mrs. Anglin left on an extended wedding tour and on their return will live in Kenwood.

DEATHS

ROSS—Mrs. Robert C. Ross, formerly of this city, died on Sunday in Detroit, Cal., where she went with her husband some years ago.

DUSSEAU—Mrs. Louise Dusseau, aged 62 years, died last evening at St. John's hospital. The remains were removed to the home of the deceased, 2 Farron's court, by Undertaker Joseph Albert.

HARVARD DEFEATED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—The University of Pennsylvania today won the intercollegiate tennis championship in doubles on the courts of the Merion Cricket club, defeating Harvard in the final round in three straight sets.

MEMBERS PLATE HANDICAP

WARWICK, England, Sept. 14.—The members plate handicap of 250 sovereigns for three years and up, distance five furlongs, was run here today and won by Cili Dara. Posttime was second and Prosper third. Among the 14 starters was J. R. Kone's Helmet II.

"You Don't Know," Writes a Mother,

"How grateful I am for the bottle of Anti-Sen, baby's own medicine. I had been using various I and sorry I did not know about Anti-Sen before. I will never be without it again. It has saved my baby a world of good. It has saved me many a dollar and has been a Godsend to me." This mother is Mrs. M. H. Regan, 557 Union St., Manchester, N. H.

Anti-Sen is a safe and pleasant remedy for stomach, liver and bowels. 25c.

FUNERALS

FAULKNER—The funeral of Mrs. Henry Faulkner took place yesterday from her home, 447 Adams street, with solemn funeral services at St. Joseph's church. Rev. Frs. Bareille, Berniche and Anyot, O. M. I., officiated. The bearers were John Racette, Henri Jacob, John Briere, Y. Riopelle, Pierre Brassard and Henri Menard. The floral offerings were numerous, including a cross, the husband and mother basket, Miss Marie Donnelly, spray, friends; harp, employees of Dr. Sparks; spray, Adèle Landry and Henry Koyes; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Ducharme; basket, friends and neighbors. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Berniche officiated at the grave. Undertaker Albert had charge.

GAUTHIER—The funeral of Mrs. Anna Gauthier took place yesterday from her home, 15 Ward street, with solemn funeral services at St. Joseph's church. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Frs. Gratton, Magnan and Guellette, O. M. I. The bearers were Octave Hardy, Eugene and Alexander Poulin, Alfred Motte, Arthur Gauthier, and Adolphe Desforges. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Rev. Fr. Berniche, O. M. I., officiating at the grave. Undertaker Albert had charge.

DENAUULT—The funeral of Miss Octavie Denault took place yesterday morning from her home, 51 Rock street, and was largely attended. Solemn religious services were held at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Frs. Lamotte, Baron and Bruland, O. M. I., officiating. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Fr. Berniche, O. M. I., and at communion Miss Blanche Dextra sang "O Christe." The Third Order was represented by Misses Sophie Bourbeau, P. Marchessault, A. Pettigrew and Emma Gratton. The Congregation of Notre Dame de Lourdes was represented by Misses C. Heras, Laura Racicot, C. Delveille, M. L. Richard and C. Beuno. L'Association de Notre Dame de Bonsecours was represented by Mrs. T. Desjardis and Misses Regine Cling Mars and Leonie Jodoin. The bearers were M. Desjardis, Fred, Henri and Nazaire Denault, Damase Allard and Alex. Gratton. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, with Rev. Fr. Magnan, O. M. I., at the grave. Undertaker Archambault had charge.

SMITH—The funeral services of Mrs. Sarah E. Smith took place yesterday afternoon at 34 West Sixth street, Rev. J. T. Carleton officiating. There was singing by Miss Mollie Johnson. The body will be sent to New Bedford for burial by Undertaker Young.

VAN TASSEL—The funeral of Miss Isabelle Iras Van Tassel took place yesterday afternoon from the residence, 122 Mt. Vernon street, Rev. A. St. John Chamber, pastor of St. Anne's church, was the officiating clergyman. Burial was in the Eden cemetery, under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

RICHARDS—The funeral of Herbert J. Richards took place yesterday afternoon from his residence in Detroit, and was largely attended. Rev. Frank G. Aigler, the officiating clergyman. The bearers were Joseph Varnum, Clarence Richardson, George Parker and Jesse Currier. The selections, "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee," were sung by Mrs. O. R. Paris. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, including: Pillow inscribed "Husband" from wife; sprays from the following: Mrs. O. R. Chaplain, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Chaplain, G. B. Chaplain, Mrs. F. M. McNamara, Mrs. Foster, Miss Peff, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Currier and Mr. G. M. Parker. Burial was in the Oakland cemetery under the direction of J. A. Weinbeck.

ROYLES—The funeral of the late Mrs. Bridget Boyle took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from her home, 597 Pawtucket street. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock. Rev. John J. McHugh was celebrant, Rev. Timothy Callahan, deacon and Rev. Fr. Curran, sub-deacon.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Michael J. Johnson, sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Alice E. Murphy and Andrew McCarthy. Mr. Johnson presided at the organ.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes were a large cross inscribed "Mother" from daughter; pillow inscribed "Good-bye Mother" from sons; roses and sprays inscribed "Annie," Mrs. Crane; cross, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Crane; large wreath, Etta Callahan; basket, Mrs. William Norris and family; standing wreath on base, F. J. Timmons; harp, Mrs. John Smith; broken column, Mr. and Mrs. William Bonford; mound, H. E. Noyes family; standing wreath on base, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Walsh; large wreath, E. P. Simpson; plaque, Susan Thorpe; mound, Mr. and Mrs. Russell; broken lyre, Mr. and Mrs. McKenna; basket, Jessie I. Frost; wreath, A. M. Montferland; mound, John Owens and family; basket, Alfred Beshaw; palms and lilies, Harry Harding family; palms and roses, John Harding family; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellis; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McCrack; palms and lilies, Restler Bros. The bearers were Charles T. John, A. Frank A. and Joseph H. Boyle, sons of the deceased and Eugene Crane and James Boyle. At the grave Rev. John McHugh read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery, in charge of Undertakers J. E. O'Donnell & Sons.

CAVERLY—The funeral of Mrs. Emily B. Caverly took place this morning at 10 o'clock from her late residence at Pittsburg, Mass. Burial took place this afternoon in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery, in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

BOSTON COPPER MARKET
BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Although trading in local coppers was somewhat listless at the opening today prices ruled strong and at noon the entire market showed an advance.

STRICKEN FROM LIST
KILL, Sept. 14.—Eight armored coast defense vessels were today stricken from the list of the German navy as obsolete. They are the Aguir, the Edin, the Haken, the Hildebrandt, the Hildebrandt, the Frithof, the Beckow and the Siegfried.

THE SUN

Is On Sale At Both News Stands In the Union Station BOSTON

This is old home week in Montreal and among those who will go there to participate in the festivities is Dr. A. A. McLean. He will leave for Montreal tomorrow morning. Dr. McCann is a graduate of McGill and his mother lives in Montreal, so that besides having the pleasure of visiting his mother he will meet many of his old classmates and chums.

Thomas Trator, the well known athlete of the "Flats" has returned home after spending the summer at Old Orchard, Me.

STANDARD OIL MAN

Outwitted Police and Summons Could Not be Served

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The mysterious methods employed at the Standard Oil company, No. 26 Broadway, for eluding process servers, were utilized yesterday for perhaps the first time in a domestic dispute. Officer Kelley, of the One Hundred and Twenty-first St. station, attested the efficiency of the methods, as he not only failed to apprehend Frederick Henry Nichols, for whom he had a summons, but was invited to leave the offices of the concern by a man who said he was the superintendent.

Officer Kelley says the difficulties that beset his pathway were akin to those experienced by process servers some years ago when they lay in wait day after day for John D. Archbold and John D. Rockefeller. At 3 p. m. Kelley telephoned No. 26 Broadway and learned that Nichols, who has been employed by the Standard oil company for several years, was at his desk. Accompanied by Mrs. Nichols, who charges her husband with abandonment, the officer went to Nichols' office.

"Why, yes, Mr. Nichols is in," said the telephone operator, seated near the door. She called on the wire for Nichols. Nichols did not appear. Fifteen minutes passed, twenty-five minutes, thirty minutes, and still there was no Nichols.

"I am going to wait here until he comes," announced Officer Kelley. But the superintendent of the company decided otherwise. He invited Officer Kelley to withdraw. Mrs. Nichols and the officer stationed themselves in front of the huge office building and waited. The hour of 6 o'clock passed, the offices of the Standard Oil Company were locked up, but Nichols did not come. He had vanished and left no trace behind.

The fighting blood of Officer Kelley was aroused. He had heard of the elusiveness of Standard Oil officials, but scarcely expected it to apply to all employees. "That fellow must be thoroughly kerosened," he said to Mrs. Nichols, "but I will find him if it takes all night."

Attorneys Theatral & Greenhalgh of No. 81 Chambers street, counsel for Mrs. Nichols, were notified. They placed themselves in touch with John Berg, counsel for Nichols, and it was agreed that he shall appear Wednesday morning in the One Hundred and Twenty-first street court to answer the complaint of Mrs. Nichols. But Nichols was not found.

Nichols has filed an action for divorce in Albany, N. Y. The name of Mrs. Nichols is alleged to be connected with that of a "baron." It is said that it was to forestall the filing of a complaint in the divorce case that Mrs. Nichols charged her husband with abandonment. The couple were married Sept. 18, 1902, and have a child, Lloyd, six years old. Nichols is said to be one of the house managers of the Republican club in One Hundred and Seventeenth street, near Manhattan avenue. He lives at No. 272 Manhattan avenue.

SAYS HE LOST $400

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Charles Harcourt, who says he is from Montreal, and George Mackey, a well dressed man who told the police he had no home, were arrested today and locked up at police headquarters as suspicious persons. They were arrested on the complaint of William White of New Zealand who came to this country for the first time a few days ago with a troupe of performers, engaged at a local theatre. White alleges that he lost $400 in a wire tapping game while in company with Mackey and Harcourt.

SCULPTOR'S WIFE

To Become Wife of Will H. Lowe

PARIS, Sept. 14.—That Artist Will H. Lowe is to marry the former wife of Frederick Macmonnies, the noted American sculptor, was confirmed yesterday by Mrs. Macmonnies herself. She said:

"The announcement is true if premature," when seen at her quaint home on the Ile de la Seine in the Seine, "but no date for the wedding has been settled."

"We are just back from a summer spent in Finistère, on the seacoast of Brittany, where Mr. Lowe visited us, and it is only since our return to Paris that the affair has been arranged."

"It seems the most natural thing to do, and it will be what the French call a marriage de raison, for we are old friends. He was the godfather and Mrs. Lowe the godmother for my oldest girl, Berthe."

Six months ago Mrs. Lowe died. Since November last I have been living alone here with my children and with my mother, Mrs. Fairchild. Mr. Lowe came to see us this summer. I had not seen him for eight years, and a few days ago we decided to join our interests.

"We shall not be married before next summer or autumn out of respect for Mrs. Lowe, but just when the wedding is to have been decided, I have no definite plans. I love Paris, and Mr. Lowe cannot remain here; but things will arrange themselves in time."

Will H. Lowe was the professor in painting of Macmonnies at the National Academy, and has long been a dear friend of the family. It was at the Macmonnies home in Giverny that Mr. Lowe wrote his exquisite essay, "Summer in a Garden."

It was only in last April, that it became known that Mrs. Macmonnies had obtained a divorce in France from her famous husband on the ground of desertion. The decree had been granted eight months before. The real trouble, it was said, was that Mrs. Macmonnies devoted too much time to her art to please her husband. But the divorce proceedings were conducted quietly and amicably. "A friendly separation by mutual agreement" was the way Mr. Macmonnies characterized the result. "We remain the best of friends," he added.

Mrs. Macmonnies resumed her maiden name, Mary Fairchild, but was allowed to assume the responsibility of educating her two daughters, who are 12 and 14 years old. She receives $200 a month alimony from her husband, who is permitted to see the children at his pleasure.

After the divorce, Mrs. Macmonnies denied there was any jealousy on the part of her husband because of her success in painting. She said he had been most considerate during the "irretrievable proceedings" and that she still believed him the greatest American sculptor.

SEC. MEYER

TO VISIT THE CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 14.—Secretary of the Navy George Von L. Meyer, who has been inspecting the Portsmouth navy yard with especial reference to the location of the new drydock to be built there, left today for Boston. He will visit the Charlestown navy yard later in the day.

NEW YORK STATE FAIR.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Greater New York today drew a big crowd to the state fair. The weather was perfect. Mayor George B. McClellan of New York city was the speaker of the day. He spoke for simplicity in pleasures, and deplored the tendency among many to live beyond their means.

The track is in perfect condition for the grand circuit races. The program for today includes the 2:25 trot, 2:05 pace and 2:05 pace.

STRUCK BY AUTO

Priest Hurries to Side of Dying Women

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A little strip of dusty pavement in upper Broadway became yesterday a chapel of death, where two dying women lay side by side, where priest and layman knelt in prayer, where, under the gray skies, the hearts of men and women were unified in more fervent supplication than perhaps was felt in any of the city's splendid temples, whose bells were even then ringing the call to early worship.

On one hand the rough earth piles and board barriers of a street excavation stood in harsh contrast to the solemn scene. On the other, the open doors of the church of St. Elizabeth gave a far glimpse of the lighted altar and emitted faintly the strains of an organ prelude. It was a picture and a drama all in one.

The dying women were Sister Sophie Duerr, a nurse in the Isabella Heimath for the Aged, and Theresa Appelt, a servant in the home. They had been on their way to mass with Anna Mulvenne, another nurse, when, just at the door of the church, the first two had been struck down by an automobile that had come upon them with a wild zigzag rush that no living being could have dodged. A tree had burst and the machine was beyond control.

Sophie Duerr died in a few hours at the Washington Heights hospital. Theresa Appelt was dying there last night. The other woman was not injured. Charles Muller, the owner and driver of the automobile, was locked up without bail in the Harlem prison, though many witnesses of the fatal accident declared he could not possibly have averted it.

LINCOLN PENNY

Caused the Death of a Child

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A visitor to the home of the Rosen family at 69 Watkins street, Brooklyn, gave Gustie, the four year old daughter, a bright, new Lincoln penny yesterday because of a little recitation she delivered. An hour later she was dead—because of the penny.

As soon as the visitor departed the child began playing with the coin, rolling it across the floor and chasing after it. Her mother left her alone while she went to prepare supper.

One of the rolls of the coin took it underneath the bed, where the child could not see it because of the darkness. Having seen her mother light candles to explore dark rooms, little Gustie took a candle from a table and touched a match to it. With this in her hand she crawled under the bed.

The candle touched the mattress and in an instant there was a burst of flame that enveloped the bed and the child, too. Gustie wormed her way out, screaming, and on fire from head to foot.

Mrs. Rosen ran in from the kitchen and rolled the child in a bed covering, but it was too tight to quench the flames, and only added to them. The mother herself by this time was also badly burned.

Neighbors ran in, then got a policeman and an ambulance from St. Mary's hospital. The little girl died very soon after reaching the hospital. The mother probably will live.

A PROHIBITION PICNIC

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—In accordance with the policy of the state the city fathers of Portland today held a picnic which was an absolute prohibition affair. The usual dinner game and sports were enjoyed on Long Island, Casco bay.

To the Careful Buyer

DOES QUALITY mean anything to you?

DOES PRICE mean anything to you?

DOES ASSORTMENT mean anything to you?

Are not these things the very things you are looking for?

Our reputation as the largest jewelry store in Lowell guarantees these advantages to you. We buy in large quantities, enabling us to secure the very best discounts, which, of course, are turned in your favor.

No matter what you may want in Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry, Cut Glass, Silverware, Novelties, Optical Goods and Materials, we are able to show you the best line at the lowest prices.

THE HOME OF QUALITY

Frank Ricard

636-638 MERRIMACK ST.

Manufacturer's Sale

NEW FALL DRESS AND WALKING SKIRTS

1000 new skirts made specially for us in our own special styles. He made us a special concession as he is retiring October 1st from business. This will be a 33 1-3 per cent off sale. Come; it will be worth your while to save at this sale. Voiles, Panamas, Mixtures, Silks. All the styles and materials to be worn this season.

Sale Starts Wednesday Morning

$8.00 Voile Skirts	$7.50 Serge and Panama Skirts	$5 Panama Skirts
$5.95	$4.95	$3.95
In hard spun voile, silk and satin trimmed styles. All sizes to 32 waist band. five styles. This is a handsome dressy skirt.	In fine French serge, full pleated bottom effect, a $7.50 value. Sale $4.95.	In three styles. Colors, navy, black and gray, jet trimmed, in different styles of plaited effects. This is a great chance to obtain a new skirt.

SKIRT FOR EVERY OCCASION

Same reduction—33 1-3 per cent. on silks—and exclusive styles in voiles with silk drops. You cannot buy such skirts at these prices every day.

NOT ONE BUT HUNDREDS TO CHOOSE FROM

$3.00 SKIRTS $1.95—In Danish cloth, a full skirt in the new fall style, sizes to 34 waist, colors navy and black.

NEW YORK CLOAK and SUIT CO. 12-18 John St.

BILL OF LADING

Bankers Say That a New Measure is Needed

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Out of a multiplicity of conferences yesterday preliminary to the convention of the 35th annual convention of the American bankers' association today one fact stands out supreme in the opinion of the bankers, and that is that "the bill of lading question, one of the greatest commercial problems of the day, will soon be settled to the satisfaction of bankers, carriers and shippers."

In that sentence Lewis B. Pierson, vice president of the association, voiced the opinion of 100 and more bankers, carriers and shippers' representatives who held an all-day consultation on the subject. Mercantile associations and railroad lines were represented at the conference and took part in determining the form of the resolutions seeking state and national laws for uniform bills of lading.

The cry of the bankers has long been for a bill of lading which will make the carrier issuing it responsible so that it will be a safe negotiable instrument. The shippers represented were equally anxious for a solid foundation and the importance of the question was emphasized by Henry Dunlop, president of the New York mercantile exchange who declared that if the bill of lading was not used, as a basis of credit, the business of the country would come to a standstill or else become concentrated in the hands of a few.

The railroad representatives did not oppose the resolutions and this was a closer degree of harmony than has prevailed, since heretofore the carriers' liability has been the principal bone of contention.

Besides unanimous approval by the conference the resolutions for uniform bill of lading laws were acted on favorably by the executive council of the association late in the day and will go before the convention for final action. The work of the other committees which met during the day was largely the preparation of reports to be submitted to the convention.

Express companies and their insurance of express and money orders will be the subject of criticism from the special committee on that subject.

The various questions of national finance, with which subject the currency commission of the association is burdened, will be held in abeyance until after the report of the federal monetary commission has been made. Many of the leaders of the association are hopeful that a satisfactory law will be reported by the commission.

The bank deposit guaranty plan and the postal savings bank project were frowned on by the federal legislative committee, which will report adversely on them and will suggest as a substitute that the national banks be permitted to organize savings banks with segregated capital.

The main meeting of the afternoon was the gathering of the executive council of the association, to which all reports and resolutions destined for the convention were submitted. The session of the council was behind closed doors. It was afterward announced that the suggestions of the various committees had been approved without exception.

Coincident with the preliminaries for the main convention the convention of the national association of supervisors of state banks was held, at which the supervisors from each state represented outlined the condition of banks in their states. The report from Kansas and Oklahoma strongly advocated the guaranty laws now in force in those states. The principal address was made by Pierre Jay of New York, formerly of Boston.

Mr. Jay, in recommending uniform

banking laws in all states, spoke in favor of legislation which will, in all cases, separate the savings deposits from commercial accounts. It is only by doing this, he declared, that the establishment of postal savings banks by the government can be prevented.

Pres. Jay's address was followed by the report of the committee on uniform state banking laws and uniform classification of bank reports. The committee, in referring to the results that have been accomplished, reports that the law committee of the savings bank section of the American bankers' association has adopted the principle of the segregation and proper investment of savings deposits as its legislative program; also that a considerable number of supervisors of state banks recommended to their respective legislatures the enactment of legislation along lines of our recommendations.

The report gives a list of governors who recommend banking legislation along the lines of the recommendations of the committee. The report mentions the states, the legislatures of which there is need, of improved banking laws. It recommended a standing law committee be created to assist in carrying out the legislative policies of the association.

CAPTAIN SCOTT

To Go in Search of the South Pole

Next July Capt. Robert Falcon Scott, leader of the discovery expedition of 1901, will make a try to win for Great Britain the honor of the discovery of the South pole. In this new Antarctic expedition he will have two bases of supplies, the first at McMurdo sound and the second, if he is able to reach the objective point, in King Edward VII land.

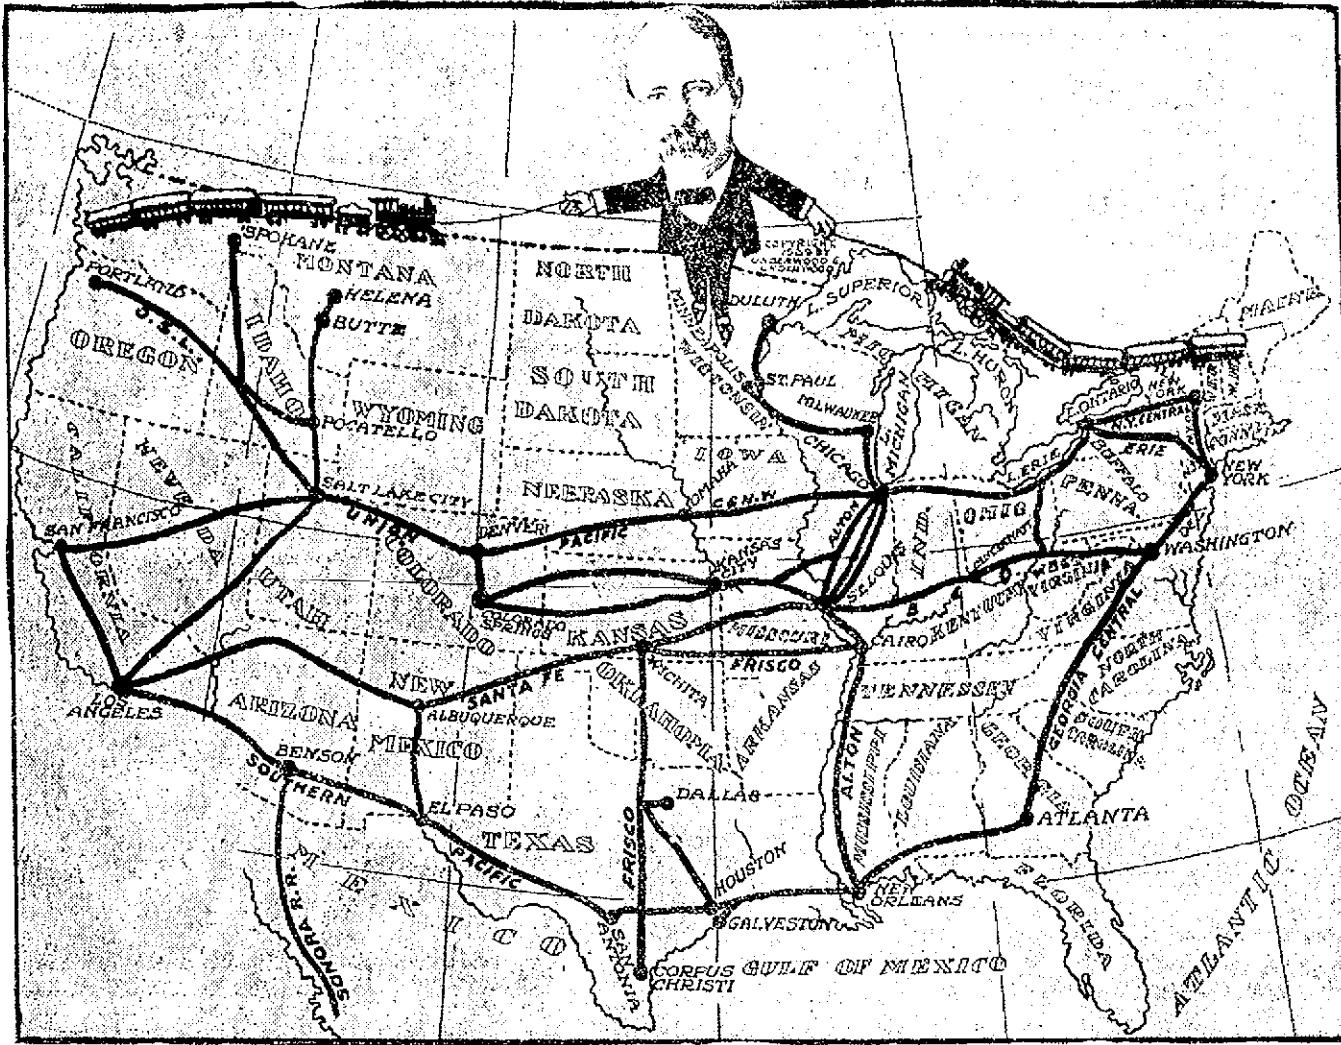

While the effort to win the honor of the discovery of the south pole is the main object of his trip, Capt. Scott says he also intends to make geographical researches in the far south regions. He estimates the expenses of his trip will be close to $200,000, and he is now engaged in an effort to raise that sum.

He plans to use in his dash for the South pole sledges drawn by ponies and others by dogs, and also motor sledges, the latter a new development of polar transportation which is expected to play a most important part in his trip. It is claimed they can climb glaciers and will therefore be a great relief for the ponies and dogs in the harder work encountered on the trip.

Capt. Scott on his last trip proved that Wilkes land in the Antarctic circle was non-existent, as his vessel sailed over the very spot on which it has always been charted. Mrs. Erebus and Terror, near which his vessel wintered, were found to be on an island, and not the mainland, as was supposed. The land to the east end of the barrier of ice was found to be distinct from South Victoria land, and was therefore named King Edward VII land by the Cook party. In his dash for the pole in that trip he was accompanied by Lieut. Shackleton and Dr. Wilson, and they got as far south as 82 degrees 17 minutes, breaking the record of Roerich and Byrd.

Kindling wood, at your storeman's, insist on getting Quinn's, and note the difference, so bag.

STUPENDOUS SYSTEM OF RAILWAYS UNDER CONTROL OF THE LATE EDWARD H. HARRIMAN AT HIS DEATH

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The death of Edward H. Harriman removed from the railroad world not only the most powerful figure in all its annals, but the most successful business man in the financial history of the United States. Mr. Harriman was rightly entitled to the sobriquet of "the railroad wizard." Even Jay Gould, who made a colossal fortune out of railroads that others built, would have been a mere pygmy beside Harriman had he lived to see Mr. Harriman at the pinnacle of his success. For Harriman's chief claim to fame after all was that he created rather than acquired. L. P. Love, one of his chief advisers, said only recently that Mr. Harriman was unique in one particular—he never had a failure. No matter what the conditions of a piece of railway property was, no matter how neglected its earnings, once it fell into his skillful hands, and was backed by his keen and broad insight it sprang into prosperity with a bound. Judge Lovett, who knew Mr.

Harriman probably better than any of his other business associates, recently said: "This is the master mind, the master hand, which will eventually shape the destinies of the railroads of the new world." The railway systems controlled and rated as Harriman properties are the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Sonora railway, Illinois Central, New York Central, Atchafalaya, Toledo and Santa Fe, St. Louis and San Francisco, St. Paul, Chicago and Northwestern, Baltimore and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson, persons on the Harriman payroll.

Georgia Central, Wheeling and Lake Erie and the Erie railroad. These systems comprise a total of $4,319 miles. Every hour that the sun shines upon the destinies of the railroads of America, from the eastern horizon until the Golden Gate, it glitters on miles upon miles of Harriman railway tracks. There are 80,000 stockholders interested in the Harriman lines, and the total value of the stock is $1,000,000,000.

A NEW DIVISION

To Aid Trade in Latin America

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Secretary of State Knox is giving special attention to the development of the commercial interests of the United States in Latin America, and to that end has created in the state department a new division to be known as the division of Latin American affairs, devoted exclusively to these matters. He has appointed Thomas C. Lawson of Iowa, U. S. minister to Chile, as chief of the new division and William T. S. Doyle as assistant chief.

The statement is made that the increasing investment of American capital in Latin America and the obligations resulting from closer political relations between this country and those of Central and South America impose upon the department of state one of its heaviest duties.

To deal with these opportunities, to foster and facilitate legitimate American enterprise and to protect American property and property rights in Central and South America, Secretary Knox has created this new division.

Mr. Dawson was appointed secretary of the U. S. legation at Rio de Janeiro June 28, 1897; minister resident and consul general at Santo Domingo April 23, 1904; minister to Colombia Jan. 10, 1907; and minister to Chile April 21, 1909. By reason of his long residence in South America Mr. Dawson is thoroughly familiar with Latin American affairs.

Mr. Doyle is a lawyer who has traveled extensively in South America and acted as private secretary to Mr. Root, while the latter was on his tour of South America. At present he is in Venezuela as special representative of the department for the collection of evidence.

SECRETARY MEYER

INSPECTED THE PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 14.—Secretary of the Navy George Von L. Meyer inspected the navy yard yesterday. He came at 10 in the morning and was received with the customary honors. The marine guard was paraded and a salute of 17 guns was fired, with a return salute of seven guns from the Dolphin.

Secretary Meyer was received by the officers of the station and ships in full dress uniform and inspected the yard in their company. The secretary visited the naval prison, and prison ships Southey and Topeka.

It is expected that his observations will have considerable bearing upon the convict labor system in use there. It may be changed.

Among those who accompanied Secretary Meyer were: Capt. Wilbur, commandant of the yard; Capt. Frank H. Bostwick, Chaplain Dickson, Lieutenant Commander A. B. Hoff, Capt. Zane, Civil Engineer White, Naval Constructor John G. Tawressey, Assistant Naval Constructor C. A. Harrington and Maj. Leonard U. S. M. C.

At noon he was taken in a launch to Little Harbor, where he lunched with a Templeman Cook, after which he finished the inspection. He returned on an afternoon train to his summer home at Hamilton.

CASE APPEALED

CHILDREN OF ALPHEUS BODWELL ENTER SUIT

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 14.—The will of Alpheus Bodwell, one of the poorest residents, who died in February in his 50th year, will be contested, as an appeal has been taken by several of his relatives. John C. Bickford is administrator. The relatives who object are Emma Bodwell, Sarah V. Bodwell and Fred L. Bodwell, children. Gen. John H. Andrews has been retained as counsel for the appellants.

The estate of Mr. Bodwell, it is said, is valued between $50,000 and $60,000. The appeal was filed in the superior court July 30. Mr. Bodwell, a native of Massachusetts, worked as a driver of an express team between Lawrence, Massachusetts and Boston when he was a mere boy. He came to Manchester at an early age, and by thrift and perseverance accumulated a fortune. Despite his advanced age he continued in fairly good health until the time of his last illness.

CHARGES ARE MADE

Against Head of the Methuen Fire Department

SECRETARY MEYER

INSPECTED THE PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 14.—Secretary of the Navy George Von L. Meyer inspected the navy yard yesterday. He came at 10 in the morning and was received with the customary honors. The marine guard was paraded and a salute of 17 guns was fired, with a return salute of seven guns from the Dolphin.

Secretary Meyer was received by the officers of the station and ships in full dress uniform and inspected the yard in their company. The secretary visited the naval prison, and prison ships Southey and Topeka.

It is expected that his observations will have considerable bearing upon the convict labor system in use there. It may be changed.

Among those who accompanied Secretary Meyer were: Capt. Wilbur, commandant of the yard; Capt. Frank H. Bostwick, Chaplain Dickson, Lieutenant Commander A. B. Hoff, Capt. Zane, Civil Engineer White, Naval Constructor John G. Tawressey, Assistant Naval Constructor C. A. Harrington and Maj. Leonard U. S. M. C.

At noon he was taken in a launch to Little Harbor, where he lunched with a Templeman Cook, after which he finished the inspection. He returned on an afternoon train to his summer home at Hamilton.

CASE APPEALED

CHILDREN OF ALPHEUS BODWELL ENTER SUIT

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 14.—The will of Alpheus Bodwell, one of the poorest residents, who died in February in his 50th year, will be contested, as an appeal has been taken by several of his relatives. John C. Bickford is administrator. The relatives who object are Emma Bodwell, Sarah V. Bodwell and Fred L. Bodwell, children. Gen. John H. Andrews has been retained as counsel for the appellants.

The estate of Mr. Bodwell, it is said, is valued between $50,000 and $60,000. The appeal was filed in the superior court July 30. Mr. Bodwell, a native of Massachusetts, worked as a driver of an express team between Lawrence, Massachusetts and Boston when he was a mere boy. He came to Manchester at an early age, and by thrift and perseverance accumulated a fortune. Despite his advanced age he continued in fairly good health until the time of his last illness.

METHUEN, Sept. 14.—Chief Peter F. Graham of the Methuen fire department was given a hearing last night before the selectmen on charges recently preferred by the board. It was charged that he had caused false alarms to be sounded at different times, had allowed thimble to behave in an unbecoming manner, had used improper and profane language, had ordered the chemical fire hose turned on citizens at a certain fire, had retained on the fire department payroll men not capable of serving, had allowed a quantity of beer to be consumed in an unbecoming manner, had allowed members to be overpaid and had not properly preserved the records of the department.

The witnesses included ex-Engineer William Taylor, Engineer John May, Fred Topping, William Lyons, Edward and James Crompton, Forrest Johnson, James Sherrett and Chas. E. Moreland, of the fire department. Officers Wm. J. Oliver and Robert Webb, and Thomas Yates, George Slater, John M. Goddard and others.

It was testified that false alarms had been sounded from boxes 54, 55, 56 and 57 without the chief consulting with the other engineers. Mr. Yates testified that he had sounded a false alarm because the latter had told him that the department could make a certain run within a certain time. Mr. Yates said he never asked the chief what time the department was to make that run.

Mr. Goddard testified that Chief Graham's record, which he had on the night of July 5, when he had protested at the order to turn the hose on a crowd and turn off two batteries. The chief said, "I'll not say a word in your favor, but I'll say a word for the department." Mr. Slater testified that he saw the fire alarm sounding in a false alarm at the corner of Broadway and Oakland avenue. He had called the chief's attention to the fact but had been told to "shut up."

The hearing was continued until next Monday night. There were more than 50 persons in the hall, every chair being taken and standing room was at a premium.

The report of the city auditor, in reply to an order of the board relative to the purchase, costs and maintenance of city automobiles during the past 20 months, was received and ordered printed. An order to refer the report to the finance commission for further investigation was passed and then reconsidered, final action, on the request of Alderman Whelan, being deferred to the next meeting of the aldermen.

According to the report of the city auditor, the city of Boston has paid out over $108,000 for automobiles, maintenance, repairs and chauffeur hire, of which the costs of the machines footed up $55,333.13 up to July 1 of 1900 and $52,666.87 since that date, $55,333.13 for chauffeur and repairs and $22,333.74 for chauffeur hire.

The mayor's automobile, for cost and maintenance up to July 1 cost $15,777.16, of which the maintenance and repairs amounted to $2,758. The city now owns and operates 29 machines, three of which have been purchased since July 1.

At the next meeting of the board on Sept. 27 the report will be discussed in detail and then referred to the finance commission.

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

TRIED SUICIDE

Women Saw Man Attempt to End His Life

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—In the women's waiting room on the Boston end of the Chelsea ferry, where a number of women were waiting the arrival of a boat, Camilla Cucinetta, aged 22, unmarried, of 24 Rose street, South End, tried to end his life yesterday afternoon by shooting himself in the left breast with a 32-caliber revolver. He fired only one shot and fell to the floor unconscious. The women in the room fled in haste. Some men on the other side of the dock rushed in and gave what assistance they could until the arrival of Patrolman McLaughlin of the Hancock street station.

Camilla was sent to the Relief hospital, and after examination it was found that the wound was not a fatal one. He will recover unless blood poisoning sets in. He was unable to tell the police why he had tried to kill himself. Last night at the hospital when he regained consciousness he said that he was out of work and had no money and felt that it was best to end his life.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Alderman Says He Was Offered $3000

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—There was a sensational incident yesterday before the Royal commission which is investigating civic affairs when Alderman Clerville swore to the witness and swore that he was offered $3000 by Mark Workman, one of the big stockholders in the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company, on condition that he vote for that company's bid for street lighting. Alderman Clerville said that he gave Workman a tongue lashing. Previously, A. S. Porcheron, another stockholder, had made him an offer of stock in the company for his vote. Alderman Clerville was most indignant because last Friday W. McLea Walbank, vice-president of the company, went on the stand and testified that the alderman came to him looking for graft, and that he refused to pay.

MAN KILLED

NINE OTHER PERSONS WERE SERIOUSLY INJURED

PITTSBURG, Sept. 13.—One man was killed, nine others seriously injured and several more suffered cuts and bruises yesterday, when the walls at the Black Transfer & Storage Company building were recently destroyed by fire, collapsed, demolishing two adjoining buildings and burying more than a dozen men in the ruins.

Dr. Hallock's ELVITA PILLS

60 YEARS OF CURES
$1 BOX FREE
A Great Nerve Remedy and Reconstructive Tonic for Man or Woman.

When you feel discouraged, confused, nervous, tired, worried, blue or depressed, you are in need of Elvita Pills. They will immediately brace you up, increase your energy, give you brain power and mental activity, they will restore vitality, refresh you when tired, worried or depressed. A single package proves their great energizing qualities. Makes you powerful, giving strength, courage and reserve nerve power. Sold at drug stores at $1 per box. A regular $1 box sent free for trial by mail only, not subject to 10 cents to pay postage.

Free expert advice on all women's complaints.

DR. HALLOCK CO.

114 Court St., Boston, Mass.

Established 1865

FOR THE BOYS

Racing Automobiles

All the well known speedy cues. Extra wheels for wagons and racers.

$3.00 to $16.50

See Our Window Display

Bartlett & Dow

216 Central Street.

Residence Tel. 1911. City Hall Garage Tel. 1302

The finest and best Automobile livery in the United States.

Mercier, "The Automobile Man"

Two 1910 Stevens-Duryea Seven Passenger Touring Cars, 54 H. P. Fully equipped with all modern accessories. Competent Chauffeurs. Reasonable Rates.

EDMOND H. MERCIER, 141 Cabot Street, LOWELL, MASS.

Obstinate Cases of Constipation

Quickly Yield to a Few Doses of

SURE-LAX

The Dependable Confection
Laxative and Cathartic

Without the irritating, griping, constipating after effects of the old time medications. Constipation, Torpid Liver, Mental Depression, Billousness, Sick Headache, and all allied complaints are quickly overcome by SURE-LAX. Acknowledged to be the ideal Children's Laxative—half a tablet being a dose, they are so made as to be easily divided.

For Sale at All Druggists or by Mail—10c, 25c, 50c

WHITMAN PHARMACAL CO., WHITMAN, MASS

ADMIRAL DEWEY SECRETARY BRIDGMAN BANKERS MEET CUT HIS THROAT

Believes That Both Cook and Peary Went to North Pole

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Admiral George Dewey's face glowed yesterday as he read the reports of the excellent work being done by the men of the navy in their record target and battle practice off the Virginia capes.

"See that record," said he, as he pointed to an unusual report which said that the battleship Louisiana had made 16 hits out of 16 shots at two targets. "That is a world beater."

"I feel great pride in the manner in which our men have acquitted themselves. Our ships are fine, too. Vice Admiral Dewey of the Japanese navy, who made a visit to this country last spring, told me that the Connecticut was the best all-around battleship he had ever seen. And he has visited some of the finest ships in the world, too," added the admiral in a voice which indicated how deeply he was interested in the ships and personnel of the American navy.

The admiral was in his office for the first time yesterday since his return to Washington from his vacation, spent at Hot Springs, Va. He appeared to be in the best of health, with a good color and his eyes flashed with enthusiasm as he discussed the work of the fleet.

The general board of the navy, of which Admiral Dewey is president, will assemble soon for the season's work, an important feature of which will be the submission to see Meyer of a naval program for the next session of the congress.

Admiral Dewey is a man of many parts, but he is for the development of the navy along broad lines.

"More ships? Of course, we need more ships," declared Admiral Dewey emphatically. "We need to keep our naval establishment up to the highest state of efficiency."

The admiral referred to the opinion held by some authorities that the U. S. government should keep a strong battleship fleet on both the Atlantic and

Pacific coasts. That, he pointed out, did not mean that these vessels all should be in commission at the same time, but that some should be held in reserve and where they would not suffer deterioration, he explained.

Very much to his regret, Admiral Dewey will not be able to attend the festivities incident to the Hudson-Fulton celebration at New York, he said. Although his health is good, it behooves him to be careful of himself. For this reason he feels that he is compelled to deny himself participation in events in which he otherwise would gladly join. Particularly does this apply to this celebration, where so many of his fellow officers will be assembled.

Admiral Dewey warmly admires Sir Edward H. Seymour, the English admiral, who will be the ranking officer in the naval parade and whom he would like to meet. He thought it regrettable that the American navy did not have flag officers equal in rank to those of foreign navies, and he hoped the coming occasion would forcibly call the matter to the attention of congress.

"There is Admiral Schreeder at the head of the great American fleet, who will be outanked by a number of the foreigners, and this, when he will have under his command more ships than all the other nations combined," said the admiral, with some show of feeling.

The admiral declined to express an opinion regarding the possibility of the advent of the flying machine as an auxiliary to battleships in naval warfare, evading a direct answer by a jocular remark to a friend standing nearby.

Admiral Dewey has previously expressed himself as believing that both Dr. Cook and Commander Peary reached the North pole. He is awaiting with much interest the publication of the records of the explorers. He said he thought it regrettable that any controversy should have arisen between them.

post mortem, or by a blunt instrument before death.

Attorney Van Dyke said the autopsy disclosed that the bullet hole was made by a bullet from a 38-calibre revolver. A 28-calibre revolver was found beside the body.

The hole was clean cut and there were no cracks running from it. Mr. Van Dyke said that after consultation with experts in gunshot wounds, he was convinced that if the shot had been fired at close range, the bullet would have cracked the skull and gone clean through the head.

After the autopsy had been completed, the body was placed in a new coffin provided by the government, and was re-interred in the same grave after the ground had been consecrated by Rev. Father Alonzo Ollis of St. Augustine's Catholic church, this city.

GENERAL ALARM

FOR FIRE IN A FOUNDRY IN SALEM

SALEM, Sept. 14.—A general alarm was sounded last evening for a fire in the Eagle iron foundry on Canal street. The fire started near the boiler to which is connected a huge pot for melting iron. The water was well heated from the day's work, and when the firemen arrived the eastern end of the building was a mass of flames.

Alonso Smith, the proprietor, did not know if any loss occurred to his patterns, many of which are considered quite valuable. The loss is estimated at $4000.

LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—The American lawn tennis team having won the right to challenge Australia for the Dwight F. Davis cup, interest in the remaining matches with the British team today was not so great, and only a small crowd is expected to witness the closing contests on the courts of the Germantown Cricket club. In today's play W. A. Larned, the American champion, will meet J. C. Parke and W. J. Clothier will play against C. P. Dixon of England.

COLLEGE BOYS

LOWELL YOUNG MEN RETURN TO THEIR BOOKS

The following Lowell young men have gone to Holy Cross college to pursue their studies, Messrs. Joseph D. Pyne, Patrick J. Reynolds, Frederic Quirbach, Cornelius O'Neil, Leo King, Thomas F. Markham, Frederick Brady and John Conley.

Mr. John J. Starr has returned to St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, Md., where he will resume his studies in the seminary connected with the college.

Mr. Frank Curry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curry of Highland avenue, North Chelmsford, and for the past several years a bright student at Holy Angels college, Buffalo, N. Y., left last evening for Ottawa university where he will complete his academic course.

WORRY MERCHANTS

RATS RAISE RUCTIONS WITH WORCESTER BUSINESS MEN

WORCESTER, Sept. 14.—A feature of the business regime in Worcester is complained of by the merchants in the centre of the city, who are reporting the loss of large amounts of property by the depredations of rats. The proprietors of the big department stores declare that until recently their places of business were signally free from the rats, but lately their stores have become overrun with the pests that eat everything that they can bite. The reason for the invasion is said to be the absence of the nearly 100 saloons which gave the rats a fat living in the days and nights they were open. The demolition of the old buildings at Washington square to make room for the new union station, is also held partly responsible for the new trouble of the merchants.

The rats have also got into the theatres around Harrington corner, and it is not an unusual thing to see a big gray fellow walk up or down an aisle during a performance.

J. R. BRADLEY, WHO BACKED COOK, AND THEIR SHIP IN ARCTIC ICE

Says That Peary Did Not Use Dr. Cook's Stores

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Development in the North pole controversy for 1905 and 1909, declares that Peary's people took Dr. Cook's stores at Etah and Anaktuvuk and that he did not know whether or not their removal was by arrangement with Rudolph Franke, Cook's steward, who had been left in charge of the supplies.

Mr. Bridgman's statement wired from Sydney, N. S., where he is awaiting the arrival of Peary on the Roosevelt asserts that instead of appropriating his rival's stores Peary only "saved" them after they had been abandoned by Franke. Mr. Bridgman says that Franke was picked up by Peary's men at North Star Bay, between Cape York and Etah while he was trying to return to civilization from the post where Cook had left him. Franke, says Mr. Bridgman, said that he was physically unfit to remain longer in the extreme north and after Peary's surgeon had confirmed this statement Franke was given money by Peary to take him home.

The attitude of Cook's supporters here on hearing that Peary had only taken Etah to confirm his statement regarding his thirty-six hours stop at the pole is expressed by Frederick Debenham, an explorer and officer of the American Geographical society. Mr. Debenham is quoted today as follows:

"It would not seem that the preponderance of Etah is in favor of Dr. Cook. There evidently was no scientist present in either case to verify the observations. Perhaps two Eskimos are better than one. (Dr. Cook says two Eskimos were with him at the pole but I do not know that it makes any great difference.)"

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the

Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the supporters of the Brooklyn physician have been quick to seize upon the information that only one Eskimo stood by the naval officer's side when he reached the American flag at the extreme top of the earth. The backers of Commander Peary point out that with Allan Whitton, the boatswain of the Peary Arctic club, with plausible ground for refutation. On the other hand, the

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1908 was 15,956

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1909. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

TO ELIMINATE SCHOOL FADS.

With the opening of the schools it may be well to remember that a great movement has set in for the elimination of fads and the waste of time on non essentials. Not all have a clear idea as to what constitutes a fad in school work. A teacher may make a fad of an important subject such as writing or arithmetic by devoting more time to it than it is worth at the sacrifice or neglect of equally important branches. But this is not the general understanding of "fads" in the school curriculum. Fads as usually understood comprise the less important branches that are put into the curriculum by the school board or superintendent and by which much time is wasted that should be given to more important branches.

The state board of education is now entrusted with the work of introducing industrial education, and although the change will be made slowly, the idea is to establish industrial schools wherever possible, so that eventually the boy who does not want to go to the High school can enter an industrial school for any period he pleases in order to master the fundamental principles of some trade. Hence it devolves upon school boards, school superintendents and the state board of education to cooperate in driving out the authorized fads in order to prepare the way for the new order of things in which boys who do not intend to go to college will not be imposed upon by taking a course that will fit them for college rather than for the work of every-day life. The course best adapted to the ordinary school is one that can be dropped with advantage at any time, not the course that must be finished to be of any real use to the student. We have had too many curriculums of this kind. They cause pupils to waste years upon branches that will never be of any practical use to them in the activities of life. Of course they have a certain cultural value, resulting from the mental development they produce, but beyond that they are valueless.

We are moving towards the elimination of fads, more thoroughness and more practical courses of study, courses calculated to aid the student in the work of making a living, rather than in preparing for a college course he may never be able to pursue. The needs of the boy who goes to college must be provided for as well as the needs of the boy who will not go to college.

THE POLE AND POLAR EXPLORATION.

Judging from the bitterness of the controversy between Peary and Cook on their rival claims in regard to the discovery of the North pole, it is quite probable that the claims of both will be discounted by scientists and that more authentic and complete data will be awaited.

It will be quite easy to reach the pole if, on the next expedition fitted out for Arctic exploration, the flying machine and wireless telegraphy are utilized. By these new agencies communication can be kept up with the base stations on land, and when a point is reached within a hundred or even two hundred miles of the pole, this distance can be covered in a few hours by the perfected flying machine, assuming that it will work as well in cold as in hot weather.

It is very plain, judging from the progress already made, that the world has little to gain by the complete exploration of the pole. There may be some difficulty in locating the precise northerly point by our instruments that measure latitude and longitude with so much accuracy in other parts of the earth. The polar star is not the celestial pole and, therefore, not quite vertical over the terrestrial pole, varying about one and a half degrees to one side. There is a telescopic star, however, of low magnitude that is so nearly vertical over the pole that for all practical purposes it may be taken as the celestial pole.

The exploration of the Arctic regions will open up no new territory, will benefit neither commerce nor industry, while the scientific and geographical benefits to be derived therefrom are exceedingly trifling when compared with the magnificent result accruing to mankind from the discovery of America by Columbus and the work of subsequent explorers of the western hemisphere, or even the work of Stanley in Central Africa. Yet it is astonishing to find what a sacrifice of human life has resulted from futile attempts to reach the North pole.

Originally there was a double purpose in the efforts to discover the pole. One was to find the northwest passage, supposed to be the short cut to India. Only four years ago this was found by Amundsen, but as might be expected was so blocked by perpetual ice as to be useless.

Thirty-seven relief expeditions were sent out to find Sir John Franklin at an expense of about $5,000,000, but the Franklin expedition lost every life, 138 officers and men.

For half a century past nearly every year has had its polar expedition and nearly every single one paid its tribute of human life to the quest for the pole.

Yet for what purpose? It is true that a few whaling fields have been discovered and made available, while some mineral deposits that may prove of value have been found, but it would cost countless lives to develop mines in the extreme north.

What then is the incentive or the object of the polar research? It is man's unwillingness to stand idle in face of the unknown. Man is inspired with a spirit of adventure, with a desire to unveil the unknown in land and sea and even to go farther and explore the planets and to establish communication with the inhabitants of the planet Mars.

In this light the victory will be a moral one more than one from which we may expect tangible material results. The farther man goes, the farther he wants to go. When the North pole shall have been amply explored or even before, then we may expect similar results in regard to the South pole, as this is the age when such movements may be expected to move quickly, on account of the new agencies of travel and communication placed at the command of those who need them.

SEEN AND HEARD

If you want to be popular, before giving advice when you are asked for it, always talk around and find out the kind of advice the applicant wants to get.

When the man who weighs three hundred pounds buys only a single share of stock in any corporation, can he count himself among the heavy stockholders?

A woman with young children seldom has much time to play with, because she is kept so constantly busy saying "If it were only so."

If it were absolutely sure that there is gold at the south pole, no doubt that, too, would be discovered right away.

Modern humorists have good reason to feel unpleasant toward Joe Miller. It was certainly contemptible of him to use all their jokes.

Not infrequently the widow who insists on having the widest border of black on her stationery is the one who gets married first.

The books on business etiquette don't say whether when the lightning calculator makes a mistake in simple addition it is proper for him to say "Thunder!"

It is better to throw confetti than rice at weddings, if it is necessary to be foolish. In the first place, it costs less, and in the second place it doesn't spoil the pudding.

Once in a while a man is bold enough to declare at home that in his opinion imitation cut glass is just as good for practical use as the real article, and that considering the difference in cost he prefers plated cut buttons to real ones, but if a woman folks of his family always look at him in such a pitying way that he promptly changes the subject without trying to support his views by argument.

When a woman has a shoe that fits her she always thinks the number must be wrong.

Theoretically, a married man doesn't have any leisure. Practically, his wife doesn't have any.

When Dolly telephoned to Cholly that she must have an automobile, Cholly hung up the receiver and then went out to the nearest pawnbroker's and hung up his watch.

Some men feel that they have set their account when they have given a six months' note for the amount.

At least one visitor to Tynessboro fared very well last Monday. Labor day. He came to Tynessboro in a big automobile and accompanied by five or six other men. Evidently the man in question or some of his companions had heard of "Dave" Kimball and his estimable wife and their hospitality. Mr. and Mrs. David Kimball own and occupy a fine cottage at what is known as Kimball's corner. They have several acres of land and keep a great many hens. Their chicken dinners and chicken suppers are known for miles around and that is just what the visitors were after. They ordered dinner and when they had finished one of them discovered that he had lost his roll amounting to $2500. Between times Mrs. Kimball had taken a stroll out toward the barn where the automobile was temporarily parked and on the ground near the back door to the barn she found a pocketbook containing a number of bills. She went back to the house and to her own room. There she counted the money and found that it amounted to $2500. When she made her appearance again in the dining-room the visitor was deplored his loss. He felt very badly about it and allowed that some of the sick fingered gentry had grabbed it.

After Mrs. Kimball had inquired as to the amount she told the visitor that she hadn't lost his money, at least not for keeps, and she handed it to him. He made her a present of $50 and went away feeling almost too good for utterance.

JUST DON'T.

Do you feel you'd like to quit? Don't. Get to feeling you don't fit? Don't. Do you want to yell, "All in?" "Cause your wind's a little thin?" And you think you'll never win? Don't.

There's a kick you want to make? Don't. There's a head you want to break? Don't. Do you feel you want to whine? Like a genuine canine, And send blue streaks down the line? Well, don't.

When you see a chance to duck, don't! When you want to chuck your buck, don't! Keep right on without a stop And you'll sure show up on top. If when you want to flap, You don't.

RATES

The New York Sun has the following able discussion of "rats":

It quickens the pulse to see the dear, familiar name of Clinton Hart Merriam, chief of the Biological Survey and our singular good friend. For many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

Many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

Many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

Many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

Many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

Many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

Many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

Many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

"The general ratproofing of buildings is the most important step in limiting the food supply of rats."

"However valuable cats may be as mousers, few of them learn to catch rats."

"The organization of rat clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats is recommended."

For our own part we hope to live to see a rat bureau or internal commission at Washington and a rat day in the public schools. In that good hope we take our leave, for the present, humbly and thankfully, of the Hon. James Wilson and Dr. Clinton Hart Merriam.

Many years he has been famous as the Master of the Geomysidae. With the loyal help of the Sun he has filed the world with the name of the Pocket Gopher, and the "Revision of American Shrews" is as well known in Upsala as in Medford, Mass. Farmers' Bulletin 362, "How to Destroy Rats" was recommended for publication by Dr. Merriam. It has, therefore, an especial appeal to all Gopherites, Shrewites and other lovers of science, literature and art.

The brown rat, introduced into America in 1775, has "poorly exterminated" his little black brother. He is "practically omnivorous," and so intelligent and cautious that not even the department of agriculture has exterminated him. In short, though our author is too discreet to say so, there may be reason to fear that some day the rats will form a union and cut up man in general, just as the mice devoured that unpopulist wicked bishop whose tower and end still instruct the traveler at Bangor. But let us gather rat facts while we may.

My-But It Looks Good

baked in a

Glenwood

"Makes Cooking Easy"

M. F. Gookin Company,
35 Market St., Lowell.

SEC. REYNOLDS

May Not Accept the Tariff Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Friends in Washington of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Reynolds are urging him not to accept the appointment of President Taft to the new tariff board.

The appointment, it is said, is not entirely satisfactory to Mr. Reynolds, and it is thought that he may decline the place. If he accepts, it will be because he feels himself under obligation to serve the president in this capacity.

Secretary Reynolds is now in New York. At a late hour yesterday afternoon he had not accepted the position, and was doubtful what his course would be.

Secretary Reynolds' friends are inclined to resent the fact that he was not named for the chairmanship of the tariff board. They say that the place would mean much hard work and very little recognition for him, while the uncertain character of the job is given as another objection to it.

Although the salary of the tariff board members is not fixed by law, $7500 annually is the probable salary which would be received. Secretary Reynolds now receives, as assistant secretary of the treasury $5000 a year, and his present position gives him greater official rank than would membership on the tariff board.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

According to department gossip, Mr. Reynolds is not fixed by law as collector of the customs, and has been one of the recognized customs experts of the country.

Reynolds' friends fear that in a year or so the tariff board might be quickly abolished by the simple method of congressional failure to provide appropriation for the expenses.

DARING BURGLAR

Threatened to Shoot Police Officers in Newton

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—With a revolver in each hand, James W. Cunningham, 17 years old, of 188 River street, Waltham, defied the Newton police to arrest him yesterday afternoon, when he was caught in the home of the late W. M. Bush, Temple street, West Newton, where a large amount of valuables and silverware had been packed up ready to be taken from the house.

Patrolman Martin Neagle and Chief of Police Michael of the Newton force rushed at the young man from different directions, followed by two other officers. The young fellow decided not to shoot and submitted to arrest. He was locked up, and the police say he confessed to two other robberies in Newton within a week.

Mr. Bush died last week, and all of the members of his family are away. Officer Neagle was passing the house when he heard an unusual racket inside. It sounded as if some one was opening and shutting bureau drawers hurriedly. Knowing that the family was away, he telephoned Chief Michael, who arrived on the scene shortly afterward with two other officers. They entered the house through a side window and they found the dining room in confusion. On the table was a lot of valuable silverware and small things ready to be taken out of the house. The officers hurried to the second floor and in the bedroom found everything in disorder.

It was not until they reached the third floor in their hurried search for the burglar that they came upon Cunningham standing in the corner of a bedroom with a revolver in each hand. He shouted a warning to the officers that he would shoot if they attempted to capture him.

Chief Mitchell and Officer Neagle rushed into the room at the same time. Cunningham had the revolvers leveled directly at them as they entered, but did not shoot. The revolvers were found to be loaded, and around the young man's waist was a cartridge belt filled with ammunition.

Cunningham first gave his name as Benson and said he came from Albany, N. Y. He was recognized at the station house by an officer and later admitted his identity and confessed, as the police say, that he entered two houses in Auburndale last week, the home of W. Kline Corey, 1530 Commonwealth avenue, and Harry Greenleaf, 2282 Commonwealth avenue. At the Corey home he secured $35 in cash, and at the Greenleaf home he took $11 in cash.

Cunningham admitted to the police that he entered the Bush home at 9 o'clock and had been ransacking the home for valuables up to the time of his capture at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

TO LET
ROOM TENEMENT to let to man and wife. Thoroughly clean, near the mills. Price $2 per week. No. 27 Fulton street, Centralville. References. Apply 275 Westford street.

TO LET

4 ROOM TENEMENT to let to man and wife. Thoroughly clean, near the mills. Rent $2.50 a week. No. 27 Fulton street. Centralist References. Apply 275 Westford street.

4 ROOM TENEMENT to let. Inquire at 24 C St., 4 to 6, 7 to 8 & 9.

2 ROOM to let. No. 80 Twelfth st. Board if desired.

TENEMENT OF SIX LARGE ROOMS to let. Superior bath and tub and hot and cold water. 137 Cumberland road, off Lilling ave.

UP-TO-DATE TENEMENT of 7 rooms on 1st floor, at 15 Lombard st. to let. Rent $10.00. Inquire at 15 Lombard. Apply 281 and 283 ave. or E. Thorndike st.

TWO FURNISHED TENEMENTS for light housekeeping to let. Apply 337 Central st.

ROOM TO LET in bank building. Inquire Lowell Institution for Savings, 200 Park st.

FURNISHED FRONT ROOM and unfurnished rooms, 36 lot on Church st.

UP-TO-DATE TENEMENT of 7 rooms on 2nd floor, at 19 Lombard st. to let. Bath, porch, hot and cold water. Apply 25 Second ave, or 2 Thurncliffe st.

TWO TENEMENTS of 8 rooms, at 21 and 22 Stackpole st., to let. Rent $13 each. No basement. Apply 25 Adams st. Tel 1495.

MODERN HOUSE of 8 rooms to let with every up-to-date convenience. Large yard, fruit and shade trees, and small barn. Inquire 325 Rogers st.

MIDDLE TENEMENT of 6 sunny rooms to let, with all modern improvements. 49 Wabasha st.

TEMENT OF 7 ROOMS, to let; up stairs, front flat, bath, set tubs, newly painted and papered. Apply 8 Washington st.

APARTMENT OF 6 ROOMS with modern improvements, to let. The corner, 197 Stockpole st. C. A. Roberts.

NEWLY FURNISHED ROOMS to let. Gentlemen preferred. Next to the Windsor Hotel, 259 Worthen st. Meigs.

5 ROOM TENEMENT at 42 Barclay st. to let Rent $3 a month. Apply Phillips & Schurz Furniture Co., 353 Milwaukee st.

M ERN TENEMENT 5 rooms to

STORY OF 7 ROOMS, in Oaklands, to let, modern, 6 improvements. Apply 478 Rogers st.

STORE TO LET with tenement of 1 rooms connecting, at 34 North st. Rent reasonable. Apply at 32 North st.

TWO SMALL STORES to let, Nos. 334 and 336 North st. Rent $100.00 per week. Rent $7 each per month. WILL let them up to suit tenant. Inquire at 937 Gorham st.

TWO STORY HOUSE with store, in first class location to let with auto shed addition if wanted. Also new house & dorms, modern conveniences. Inquire 1231 Lincoln st.

TWO 4 AND 5 ROOM FLATS to let on Franklin st. Rent $37 per month. Inquire Joe Flynn, 50 Elm st. or Flynn's market.

FURNISHED or UNFURNISHED rooms to let for light housekeeping.
Steam heat, electric light. 75 East Merckmain St.

STORE TO LET on Broadway and Willie St. Inquire O'Brien's drug store.

---

WANTED

OLD FEATHER BEDS wanted. Guarantee to pay double the amount of any other dealer. Also old-fashioned furniture. Send orders to L. David, Gen.
Delivery, Lowell.

TWO or THREE FURNISHED
ROOMS with bath wanted. In good location. Suitable for light housekeeping. Call or write, J. P. Witham, 35
Riverside St.

I WANT THE HIGHEST PRICE in cash for any kind of second hand furniture.
Call or send postal, W. Fox, 636 Middle-

OLD FEATHER BEDS wanted. Guarantees to pay double the amount of any other dealer. Also old fashioned furniture. Send orders to L. David, Gen. Delivery, Lowell.

FOR SALE

WHEELER & WILSON SEWING MACHINE for sale, cheap; in good running order. Inquire 4 Tyler st.

RESK CHINA for sale, good, for sale. Also Knight's of Malta full regalia. Inquire 14 Somerset st.

WHITE SPEARMAN for sale, guaranteed to be in perfect condition. Will demonstrate. Inquire J. T. Adams, 44 Everett st. Telephone 530.

EIGHTH PIANO for sale. Fine make. Good tone. Reasonable. F. H. B. 55 Fifth st., city.

HAILEY & DAVIS SQUARE PIANO, for sale. Six octaves. Inquire at 206 Pleasant st.

LIVING ROOM for sale. Good chance for a bargain. Must be sold at once.

Address E. L. P. Star Office.

LOST AND FOUND

IF THE PERSON who took the hand-bag from train Saturday morning, and was at Hood Farm with the lady who telephoned Hood Farm, I will call and get same. W. J. Fletcher.

POCKETBOOK FOUND this noon in Mackinac st. near Central st. Lost by J. J. Smith. Inquire at Star Office, prove property and pay for adv.

11 PHOTOGRAPH POSTALS lost on Mackinac St. near Central st. Lost by Mrs. J. J. Smith. Inquire at Star Office, prove property and pay for adv.

RETURN to Miss Amy Ryan, St. Patrick's House, Crocus st.

SHALL SUM OF MONEY found on Moore st. If owner can have same by proving property and paying for adv. at 33 St. James st.

CHILD'S LIVEN COAT lost Wednesday. Middlesex st. car or on Pontoon Bridge. Reward at 44 Barclay st.

WILL THE PERSON who found the lady's open-face watch at Lakewood St. call at 33 St. James st.

ROBARY BEADS OF AMBER lost between Pay State Dive house and Broadway. Return to 1145 Broadway for reward.

GENTLEMAN'S SHINER LEPT. WATCH on gold chain lost Sept. 2 between Merrimack and Middlesex sts. Reward by inquiring at Sun Office.

SPECIAL NOTICES

THE TAILOR'S RILE made easy for dressmakers. Taught by M. J. Greaves, Merrimack and Lowell. Dress Cutting school, Parkview house, 181 East Merrimack at all kinds of repairing. Day or evening classes. Paris fashions out and in.

ROOMS PAPERED, $1.75. We will paper your room with neat, up-to-date wall paper for $1.75. Send postal for samples. H. J. McCarthy, 641 Broadway.

I WISH TO INFORM THE PUBLIC I do not do scalp dressinging. Ladies' hair cut and dressed at low prices. Mrs. E. Reams, 115 Chelmsford st.

A PERFECT SCALP CLEANER. One application works wonders. Dr. Kneasson's Hair Vigorizer, 25¢. Dime.

ACQUITTANCE YESTERDAY, A. Mulholland and J. Graham vs. Davis 52.

WE'LL PAY THE HIGHEST PRICES for all fashioned furniture and feather-beds. Send postal to D. P. Wolner Co. Gen. Deliv., P. O. Lowell, Mass.

KATHERINE P. McKEOWN, manicurist and hair dresser and massaging. 114 East Merrimack.

FISHBOWEN take notice, fresh picked worms for sale at Harry Goss' sales, 128 Gorham st. Telephone 952-1.

THE SUN IN HOSTON—The Sun is a new and powerful force. Now—Send postal to the Union Station in Boston for a free trial.

